MISS SELLS TESTIFIES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Miss Marjorie Sells, who today took the stand in behalf of her relative Mrs. Katherine Clement Gould, told of frequent visits with Mrs. Gould and several journeys, including one to the home of Thomas W. Lawson in Massachusetts and never saw Mrs. Gould under the influence of liquor or heard her use blasphemous language or act other than a woman should.

Her testimony tended to upset the contention of Howard Gould that his wife, on frequent occasions, drank to excess and conducted herself in an unseemly manner.

Sells and his daughter, who are distantly related to Mrs. Gould, gave their evidence to a referee, before whom the case came to trial, as they are about to leave for Europe.

Miss Sells also said the return trip from Boston after the visit to Mr. Lawson's home, was made by automobile. They stopped at Hartford, where Dustin Farnum the actor, was playing. She and her maid went to see the play but Mrs. Gould stayed at home.

She told of a visit later to Philadelphia while Farnum was playing there and of several meetings between Farnum and Mrs. Gould. Always, she said, there was some other person present at the time of these meetings. On one occasion Mr. and Mrs. Gould, Miss Shackford, Miss Eleanor Robson and Mr. Farnum motored to Atlantic City on Sunday while Farnum was playing in Philadelphia.

Miss Sells said she next met Farnum in Washington that same fall. She was there with Mrs. Gould and Farnum lunched with them the day they got there. After the performance that night they had supper with Farnum. Miss Sells said he and Mrs. Gould occupied adjoining rooms that night.

When Mr. Nicoll began his cross-examination Miss Sells developed a bad memory on details. However, she remembered that when she and Mrs. Gould met Farnum in Hartford Mrs. Gould had luncheon with him alone, while the witness took a drive around the town.

Mr. Sells said he had frequently visited Mrs. Gould and she had also been a guest at his home. He had never seen her under the influence of liquor nor had he ever seen her otherwise than in a ladylike way. Mrs. Gould never drank more than one cocktail, a single pint of wine and two cordials at dinner, he said.

WOMAN WRONGED.

He had heard that Mr. Gould charged that during the month of June Mrs. Gould was drunk and helpless at Castle Gould, he said, while as a matter of fact, she was at his home at North Castle driving horses and tandems and leading an outdoor life. He said he believed Mrs. Gould was a grievously wronged woman and he wanted to do all in his power to aid her and put her right before the public.

HITCHCOCK GIVES OFFICIAL FORECAST.

Taft's Majority of Electoral Votes Is Sure to Be Over Sixty-Nine.

New York, Ohio and Indiana Lead the Republican Column and Are Considered Absolutely Safe—Maryland, Montana and Nevada Are Claimed, but Allowance Is Made for Doubt.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—In his forecast of the composition of the electoral college, which will choose the next President and Vice-President of the United States, made public at Republican headquarters tonight, National Chairman Hitchcock claims 225 Republicans, or 83 more than will be required to elect.

For the Republican ticket, Mr. Hitchcock is sure of New York, Ohio and Indiana. He also includes in the Republican column Nebraska, Montana, Maryland and Nevada.

In explaining his list, Mr. Hitchcock said that he believed the chances were even in Kentucky and Missouri, with their thirteen and eighteen votes, respectively.

If, by chance, any of the States claimed should go Democratic, he said, they would be Maryland, Montana and Nevada, with a total of fourteen votes. This would leave a Republican margin of sixty-nine, and of this advantage he expressed himself as perfectly confident.

The national chairman does not include Tennessee and Oklahoma in his list, and concedes that the chances in these States are against the Republicans.

His forecast, Mr. Hitchcock said, was based upon information received by him up to tonight from party leaders throughout the United States.

The States claimed for Taft and Sherman, with their electoral votes, follow: California, 10; Colorado, 5; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Idaho, 3; Illinois, 27; Indiana, 15; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 6; Maryland, 8; Massachusetts, 16; Michigan, 14; Minnesota, 11; Montana, 3; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 13; New York, 39; North Dakota, 4; Ohio, 23; Oregon, 4; Pennsylvania, 34; Rhode Island, 4; South Dakota, 4; Utah, 3; Vermont, 4; Washington, 5; West Virginia, 7; Wisconsin, 13; Wyoming, 3; total, 325.

TOM LAWSON AWAY.

MRS. GOULD VISITED DREAMWOLD ON PASS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—In regard to the visit of Mrs. Howard Gould and Miss Marjorie Sells to the home of Thomas W. Lawson, spoken of by the young lady in her testimony given in the Gould divorce trial, Gen. Jos. P. McDonough, Mr. Lawson's private secretary, said today that Mrs. Gould asked permission a few years ago to visit Dreamwold, the country residence of Mr. Lawson at Egypt, Mass. A card of admission was sent to her, which she used, spending about an hour at Dreamwold. Mr. Lawson was in New York at the time and did not see Mrs. Gould.

MRS. CHOATE GETS DIVORCE.

Wife of Los Angeles Attorney Given Decree and the Custody of Daughter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Just before adjournment this evening, Judge Jesse Miller announced that he would grant Mrs. Ione Choate a decree of divorce and the custody of her child, but would allow no alimony. The formal entry will be made later.

Mrs. Choate stated on the witness stand this morning that her husband tried to get into her room at the Victoria Hotel last night. She agreed that he could take his five-year-old daughter out for dinner. She said that he brought her back and rapped at the door.

"I told him to go away, and I would open the door, but he said he would not," she said. "I finally opened it to let Mary in, and he tried to push open the door. I resisted and he walked away."

Mr. Choate admitted that he made out a petition for divorce and read part of it to his wife. In referring to one night, when he visited a place where his wife was staying, and attempted to get possession of some letters, Mr. Choate requested his attorney to be more delicate in his questioning.

The weather has been fine throughout the entire trip from Japan and the ships have been occupied with squadron evolutions and careful preparations for target practice. Otherwise the journey has been uneventful.

Wireless communication will be maintained with Manila, while the fleet

Grandmother of Orphan Child Will Forsake Baptist Church to Adopt Little Girl.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In order to take over her grandchild, Arvila Martini, whose mother, now dead, said was the illegitimate child of T. M. Barnsdall, the Pittsburgh oil millionaire, Mrs. Sarah Holton, No. 1548 Clay street, San Francisco, godmother of the child, will renounce the Baptist faith and become a Catholic. Mrs. Holton will come to Denver for the child, whose wayward mother was a Catholic. Pending her arrival, the church will look after the little one. The parentage of the child has not been proved, although the mother said she was the millionaire's wife, in her last statement.

Immediately after the mother's death a fight was started by her stepfather, M. Martini, once a resident of Los Angeles, but a Catholic priest frustrated his plans. Under Pennsylvania laws, if Barnsdall is proved the girl's father, she will share equally with other children in his fortune.

STEP BACKWARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Another step backward was taken today in the trial of Abraham Ruef for bribery, when P. R. Hunt, who was passed by both sides yesterday was dismissed, leaving but ten men in the jury box.

The prosecution discovered today, after having occupied almost all of yesterday in accepting Hunt, that his name was not on the assessment roll and he therefore was excused.

The work of getting a jury to try Ruef is now in its third month, and over 1250 men have so far been summoned for examination. At the end of last week there were eleven men in the box, but the dismissal of G. A. Cross last night and Hunt today leaves the jury where it was two weeks ago. Of a special venire of forty men summoned for today, only seventeen were

CHILD-WIFE ASKS DIVORCE.

Girl of Thirteen Seeks Law's Aid to Loose Her Bonds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHERIDAN (Wyo.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bertha Filmore, aged 12, has filed suit for divorce here, following a secret marriage in Memphis, Tenn., on May 22, 1908. According to the child-wife's complaint, the attentions paid to her last spring by Louis Filmore were objected to by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Curtis, and they sent her to visit relatives in Ryna, Iowa. Filmore is alleged to have boarded a train and followed the girl, whom he persuaded to go to Tennessee, where her age was given as 16. It is charged that upon their return Filmore abused his bride, used vile language toward her, and otherwise treated her cruelly, and finally, on July 4, lorked her out of their home. There will be a sharp fight over alimony, as Filmore is well-to-do.

CONFESSIONS OF AN EMPEROR.

MUZZLE KAISER, PRESS DEMANDS.

ROYAL INTERVIEW WITH ENGLISHMAN RAISES ROW.

Leading Berlin Journal Says Such Conversations Must Be Made Impossible by Reichstag—Latest Indiscretion Heavy Blow at Germany's Foreign Policy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "We consider," says the Tageliche Rundschau, "the latest indiscretion of the Kaiser a most serious one, since it comes at a time when we seemed to be gaining ground in the Balkans. We are of the opinion that such indiscretion must be made impossible in the future, and that the Reichstag, immediately after convening, must demand consistency in conduct that German policies may be better safeguarded than heretofore."

This expression from a leading journal, which usually is in accord with official sentiment, and is known as the paper which the Kaiser himself reads, is a mild reflection of the storm of criticism which followed the publication of the Kaiser's interview with an anonymous Englishman in the London Daily Telegraph.

GERMANY ISOLATED.

FRENCH VIEW OF INCIDENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The confessions of an Emperor," as the Kaiser's revelation of his feelings toward England are called here, form the theme of every conversation. France rejoices, though at first there was great indignation over the Kaiser's assertion that France played the leading role in trying to form a coalition of the powers against Great Britain during the Boer War.

Every Frenchman sees that William's conduct only proves the entire isolation of Germany, which has been the object of a certain number of European politicians for some time. Proof of this isolation is the fact that the Kaiser's "confessions" show he cannot flatter a single first-class power without ruffling the susceptibilities of another.

ENGLAND IS CAUSTIC.

ASKS CHARITY FOR KAISER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Flattering for Britain but unpleasant for her friends." This sums up the average feeling in England over what the Daily Graphic this morning calls "immeasurably the most foolish of all the indiscreet things the Kaiser has done."

"May the world be charitable to him," concludes the paper, "just because of its foolishness, and forget it."

W. T. Stead breaks out in an entire column in this morning's Daily Mail, sarcastically thanking the Kaiser for standing between England and the irate Teuton legion bent on her destruction.

TROOPS FOR PHILIPPINES.

Four Companies of Coast Artillery Will Be Sent to the Islands Next Spring.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Four companies of Coast Artillery from the Atlantic Coast will be sent to the Philippines about March 1 next, making the journey from New York via the Suez Canal. This order is in accordance with the plan adopted for improvements of the fortifications of the Philippines.

One gun company will be located at Fort Wint, Grand Island, at the entrance of Subig Bay and two companies and one mine company will be located at Fort Mills, on Corregidor Island at the mouth of Manila Bay.

About December 1 two mine planters will be sent to the Philippines.

There are at this time only two companies of coast artillery in the Philippines.

FALSE ISSUE IN RIVERSIDE.

MOST EXCITING LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN IN STATE.

Attempt to Elect Methodist Pastor to Assembly on a No-saloon Cry, When There Are no Saloons in County—Miguel Estudillo Pretty Sure to Be Senator.

BY S. FRED HOGUE.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 30.—The orange groves are deserted in Riverside county and the magnolias are blooming alone; half the male population is gathered in Riverside and Corona and the opulent valley is in the throes less leader. There is hardly a campaign in the last ten years in which Gill hasn't been defeated for something. He has run on both Democratic and Republican tickets, and has lost impartially. But this time he has real hopes, because the Lincoln-Roosevelt organizations in Orange county have deserted the ticket they pledged themselves, before the primaries, to support and have gone over to him in a body.

CLARK'S TREACHERY.

A furid glow [illegible] over the [illegible] Clark, acting [illegible] has come out this week for Woertendyke after keeping Collier's name at the head of his editorial column until the regular Republican organization had handed him all the county printing.

Clark's desertion is a high misdemeanor. Before the primaries he rallied with the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. When the Taft Republicans won the county by about 4 to 1 he relented and promised to be good, provided he got the political printing. Now the ballots are out, and Woertendyke's name has replaced Collier's in the Press.

All this is set forth to the voters of the county in black face, double-leaded type by the Riverside Enterprise, the morning paper. Straight Republicans, Prohibitionists, Democrats and Luncheon Leaguers all look alike to the editors of the Enterprise. This paper is Republican on the citrus tariff issue. Saloons are not an issue, say the editors. There are no saloons in Riverside county and the State isn't likely to attempt to put any there. But a Republican Congress is going to take up tariff revision right after the new President is inaugurated. If Riverside is to preserve that cent-a-pound duty she must see to it that there are no blemishes on her straight Republican record.

"It is a short shrift that our oranges would receive before the Republican Congress committees," cries the Enterprise, "if the orange growers themselves should be foolish enough to elect a Prohibitionist to one branch of the State Assembly, and a Democrat to the other."

This argument it is not easy for the opposition to refute. "Slats" Clark tries to stand it off by nominally supporting Estudillo for the State Senate and running a daily statement to the effect that Pastor Woertendyke is pledged to vote for a Republican Senator in case he is elected to the Assembly.

The town of Riverside and the beautiful valley at its feet are torn by political dissension to a degree that was not approached during the Hayes régime. The country folks throng the towns daily and meetings of the rival factions are held every afternoon and evening.

ONE MILLION FOR DUKE AT MARRIAGE.

Rumor Says Abruzzi Will Receive that Sum on His Wedding Day. Gift May Do Much to Remove the Queen's Objections to the Match.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELKINS (W. Va.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Anticipating that the objections of Queen Margherita will eventually be overcome, preparations for the wedding of Miss Katherine Elkins to the Duke of the Abruzzi are now being made. Unless there is an unlooked-for change in present plans, the wedding will take place in Washington before January 1.

The winter home of Senator Elkins has been decided upon in preference to the county estate because of the limited facilities to be found there.

As in the case of all marriages between nobleman and American the Senator's intimate friends that $1,000,000 in cash will be placed to the credit of the royal explorer in some Italian banking house on the day the marriage takes place. The Duke is cognizant of the generous intention of his father-in-law-to-be and it is believed that this will prove to be the most effective argument in eventually winning the consent of the Queen mother. The Duke's income is only $24,000 a year.

A significant remark made recently by former Senator Henry Gassaway Davis is causing considerable comment. The old Senator is known to Travels from Mourmelon to Rheims in Aeroplane in Twenty Minutes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MOURMELON (France) Oct. 30.—Henri ...arman today, for the first time, gave a practical demonstration of the possibilities of the aeroplane by flying direct from this place to Rheims—a distance of twenty miles—without mishap.

He ascended at 4 o'clock p.m., and, after encircling the field once, turned his machine in the direction of Rheims. Soaring over the tops of trees, the aeroplane rapidly disappeared from view. An hour later a telegram was received from Farman, announcing his safe arrival at Rheims.

The time of the flight was twenty minutes, and the height reached was between 120 and 130 feet. The course was literally as the crow flies, over trees, fields and streams.

An equal chance for rich and poor, is that new? Is the party that elected Lincoln, a man so poor he borrowed money to get to Washington, a party that panders to the rich? Honesty in private and public life. Is that new?

"Mr. Bryan's chief service to the country had been in three times keeping the Presidential nomination from some other Democrat who might possibly have been elected. His views are startling, but not new. They are too old to take anybody unawares and too many of them have been tried, and with results too fatal to recommend their continuance.

"We do not need further excitement; we need rest. There are millions of people and hundreds of interests that have not had a long breath in sev- [illegible]

UP AND DOWN THE VALLEY.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new low temperature record for the fall was made today when the mercury fell a fraction below 37 degrees. A high wind whistled through the streets, causing discomfort to thousands of persons who went to work early. As soon as the mercury had made its record tumble it began bobbing upward again. The fall since Thursday was 16 degrees. Fair weather is expected to continue until Saturday and probably longer, but northerly winds will keep the temperature down until Sunday. Today's maximum temperature was 47 and the minimum 37 degrees.

SAYS PASTOR BROKE PROMISE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WATERLOO (Ind.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Ella Fisher today filed suit against the Rev. Samuel P. Klotz, alleging breach of promise to marry her and demanding damages to the amount of $5000. She is 40 years old and the object of her suit is 70. On August 17, Mr. Klotz was married in Bowling Green, O., to Mrs. E. W. Klotz, who for sixteen years had been the widow of the minister's youngest brother. They came to Waterloo and established themselves in housekeeping. Reports were soon heard that a breach of promise suit would be filed. The United Brethren Church, with which he is connected, is much shocked. Mr. Klotz is considered wealthy.

MAGNANIMOUS HUSBAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAD AXE (Mich.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I am opening the door of this cell so that you may go out into the world again. You may do what you please," said Joseph Smith to his wife, as he unlocked the door that kept her in the County Jail.

"I am glad to go out," said Mrs. Smith, "but I love Charley, and I will go with him."

Smith walked to another part of the jail and his wife followed. He looked through the bars at his brother Charles.

"I am going to let you go," he said. Charles came out, Mrs. Smith joined him and they walked away together.

Several years ago the brothers both loved the same girl. She preferred Charles, but he married another girl, while Joseph married her. The brothers got along nicely until Mrs. Charles died. Then the old love between Charles and his brother's wife sprung up and finally they eloped. Joseph told the Sheriff of his intention to drop all prosecution. He then was given the keys and the release came.

MISSOURI BELLE ASKS DIVORCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Sally Meisenburg Thomas, once a famous belle in St. Louis, is in Sioux Falls, S. D., to obtain a divorce from Morris St. Palais Thomas, a prominent attorney of this city. That is the charge her husband has made in a cross bill filed yesterday in the Superior Court, in answer to Mrs. Thomas's suit. Mrs. Thomas is a daughter of Otto Meisenburg, who died seven years ago in Aime, Cal., leaving an estate valued at more than $2,000,000, which was distributed in equal parts among his four children.

"A good performer is not necessarily a good provider. We have learned that, and the curtain to end the entertainment falls now on many unresponsive ears that formerly were eager. Sentiment is at times delightful. But good has not altogether lost its charm. That is why so many who have already fasted long enough will not vote to prolong it under Mr. Bryan."

PRINCE GEORGE REBUKED.

Russian Ruler Declines to See Young Potentate Save in Unofficial Character.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The audience of Prince George, the Crown Prince of Servia, with Emperor Nicholas today, was purely private and of unofficial character, Russia having insisted upon this as a preliminary condition to the Prince's visit. As emphasizing this, King Peter's letter to Emperor Nicholas will be presented by M. Pasics, the Servian Premier, at a later date. M. Pasics did not accompany Prince George on his visit to the Emperor today.

It is understood Emperor Nicholas, in a long conversation with Prince George, dilated upon the necessity of abandoning bellicose tactics which, he said, would find no support in Russia.

The general attitude of Russia toward the Servian Crown Prince is one of rebuke for his recent utterances at Belgrade.

HAINS CASE STIRS GEN. CORBIN.

He Tells of Trouble "One Fool Woman" Can Make at an Army Post.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "One fool woman can make more trouble at an army post than all the officers and men," said Gen. H. C. Corbin, former Adjutant-General of the United States army, this afternoon, in discussing the Hains murder case.

"Such things described as occurring in Fort Hamilton never were known in my time in the army and I left it only a year and a half ago. It seems incredible that such things could happen, particularly at Fort Hamilton, right under the eyes of the Inspector-General.

"We control the officers and men, but we cannot control the women. There were several such cases in my time, and we had to get rid of the officers to get rid of the women.

"I had one such case out in the Philippines and I had to pursue the only course left open to me. 'It is my wife's fault,' said the officer before me.

"'No doubt,' I replied, 'but we can't control her, and you can't control her, but we can control you.' He resigned.

"This Hains case is distressing. I understand the marriage was unhappy all the way through. But those letters—they don't seem natural for a wife to write to her husband. They look more like letters manufactured for the purpose of creating sympathy, or perhaps furnishing a possible incentive for insanity."

RAILROAD RECORD.

ROADS FIGHT RECENT RULING

Assert Order Beyond Power of Commission.

War Over Last Reduction of Through Rates.

Lines Ask for Suspension of the Decision.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish the principle that through freight rates shall be less than the sums of the local rates between the same points was attacked before the United States Circuit Court today by the attorneys for eleven railroads operating between Chicago and the Missouri River. The roads have applied for an interlocutory order suspending the order of the commission reducing the rates between the Mississippi and the Missouri River by 9 cents a hundred pounds, when applied to through transportation from the Atlantic seaboard.

The application for the injunction was heard by Judges Grosscup, Seaman and Baker, who will decide tomorrow whether to issue the preliminary injunction or take the case under advisement.

W. D. McHugh of Omaha, who presented the case of the railroads, contended that the order was beyond the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in that it deprived the railroads of the right to make a reasonable rate for the service. He proceeded to show that while in the case of a single road long-distance transportation may cost less than local business, because the heavy terminal expense is distributed over more mileage, in the case of two roads, one ending and one beginning at Chicago, the expense to the road of transferring freight from one car to another or from one train to another is actually greater. The reason for this is the necessity of double switching service and reloading.

Luther M. Walter, attorney for the Interstate Commerce Commission, said:

"The principle which the railroads are attacking in this case is exactly the same as the one that they have themselves applied in the rates from New York to St. Paul. The local from New York to Chicago is 75 cents, and from Chicago to St. Paul it is 60 cents, yet the Chicago-St. Paul lines have combined with the Chicago-New York lines, and have established a point through rate from New York to St. Paul of $1.15, or 20 cents less than the sum of the locals."

HARRIMAN EARNINGS GROW.

Slash in Operating Expenses Shows Results in Pacifics' September Statements.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Union Pacific increased its net earnings for September 35.6 per cent., while Southern Pacific turned a gross decrease of $453,000 into a net increase of $1,062,629. The slash in operating expense shows clearly the policy of the Harriman management to pare down such costs of repairs and maintenance as can be cut down without seriously injuring the physical condition of the roads.

The earning statement appeared today, a week in advance of the regular time. The statement, which appears about noon, showed an increase for Union Pacific of $464,380 in gross and a gain of $1,416,011 in net, the best showing made by any road in a year. Moreover, the figures compare with a month of 1907, when new high records in both gross and net were made. The Southern Pacific statement for September, issued at the same time, showed a decrease of $453,429 in gross but an increase of $1,062,629 in net.

NEW RATES.

FRUITS GO UP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Railroad lines in California have made announcement of the expected change in rates, which will probably be put into effect on January 1, next.

It is said there will be no increase of commodity rates exceeding 10 per cent., while there will be a reduction in class rates. The tariff on wine remains unchanged.

An average raise of 10 per cent. is to be made in the tariffs on dried fruits, canned goods, beans, hides and leather, wool and mustard seed. In some cases the increases apply to exports as well as State tariffs.

Three Million Dollars Given to Ambassador's Wife by Father Interests London.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, wife of the American Ambassador, is receiving the congratulations of many friends at the $3,000,000 present given her and her brother, Ogden Mills, by her father, D. O. Mills.

Great interest in the gift is being shown here, as few instances of the kind are on record. It is the largest ever known in the United States, or England either, so far as can be ascertained.

Mrs. Reid has been informed of the gift deed, which transfers the Mills building in San Francisco to her and her brother. The document sets forth that D. O. Mills took the action for "the better maintenance, support, protection and livelihood" of his children.

BLAZING SHIP SAFE IN PORT.

VESSEL STEAMS FOR FOUR DAYS WITH HOLD AFIRE.

S. V. Luckenbach Arrives in San Juan, Porto Rico, With Her Passengers and Crew All Well After a Hair Raising Voyage from New York City.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Oct. 30.—The steamer S. V. Luckenbach from New York and San Juan arrived here last night with fire in her hold, still burning. All her passengers and crew, thirty-one, in number, are well.

The fire was discovered at 4 o'clock in the morning, October 28, after the vessel was 580 miles south of Sandy Hook. The passengers were at once awakened and the small boats were brought out, provisioned and made ready to lower in case it should become necessary to abandon the steamer.

At 6 o'clock, on the morning of the 26th, the steamer Philadelphia of the Red D line, was sighted and the plight of the Luckenbach was signalled to her. The Philadelphia answered:

"I am coming alongside."

She drew near and acted as a convoy until the Luckenbach reached here. The vessels came into port together. The heat and smoke from the fire forced the passengers to withdraw from their cabins and temporary cots and eating tables were placed on the promenade deck for them. The cause of the fire is not known.

It was impossilbe to gain access to the hold. The officers did not dare to open the hatches to combat the fire for fear that the draft thus created would fan the flames. Holes were bored in the deck and all the steam it was possible to spare from the engines was forced through them into the hold. Water was pumped below. Several members of the crew were overcome by the fumes during the work of putting these fire extinguishing plans into operation, but they were promptly revived.

HUNT MONKEYS IN BAY STATE.

Massachusetts Sportsmen Take Shots at Runaway Property of Organ Grinders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TAUNTON (Mass.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Let's go monkey hunting; there ought to be good sport today," is heard now among sportsmen of this section, who heretofore limited their shooting to quail, squirrels, ducks and rabbits, for monkeys have been found in abundance in the woods of Seekonk, just this side of the Rhode Island line.

Although the temperature is by no means warm in the town the monks appeared to be as happy as if they were among the trees of the tropics. It is supposed that the strange denizens of the Seekonk woods are monkeys brought to town by organ grinders, many of whom live there at certain seasons of the year; and the monks, tired of capacity and work, ran away and took up their abode in the thick woods, where they and their offspring are now dodging the hunters.

WAR JUNK IS MISSING.

Whan Ho, of Chinese Navy, Is Now Long Overdue.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Nothing has been heard of the Chinese war junk Whan Ho, which sailed from this port for New York, since March 6, when the queer vessel sailed from Papeete, Tahiti, for Galveston, Tex.

The junk is on the overdue list 124 days out, and reinsurance is quoted at 2 per cent.

The craft has passed through many perils since it sailed from Yokohama for this port. The trip across the Pacific was accomplished without serious mishap, but after sailing from San Francisco for New York direct, January 5, it was discovered the steering gear was unable to control the junk properly and it was headed for Papeete, where the crew deserted in a body and returned here.

Another crew was found, however, and the voyage was resumed. It is feared the junk has finally brought up in the Port of Missing Ships.

PLAN LARGELY FOR TOURISTS.

DELEGATES FROM STATE WILL ATTEND CONVENTION.

California Promotion Committee Is Preparing to Handle Big Crowds of Interested Persons—Will Give Facts and Figures of the Enormous Growth of the State.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—As time approaches for the event, interest increases in the tenth semi-annual meeting of the Counties' Committee of the California Promotion Committee, to be held in Los Angeles November 14 next.

Returns from all parts of the State indicate a greater attendance than at any previous meeting. There seems to be a general desire to discuss the theme, "The Tourist in California," and many plans for his allurement and entertainment will be formulated.

A special train will be run from San Diego on the night of November 13, arriving in Los Angeles early in the morning of the 14th, to accommodate the hundred or more delegates from that county and vicinity.

Pasadena, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Hollywood and Monrovia will run special electric trains from the several localities, and Riverside, Redlands and San Bernardino will be well represented.

Throughout the Coast county delegates will join the special train from San Francisco, which train also will be augmented by large delegations from the Sacramento Valley counties, San Joaquin Valley counties, north-of-bay counties and north coast counties.

Contra Costa county will send ten delegates, Alameda county will send thirty or forty delegates, arrangements having been made for special Pullman cars to go through from Oakland on the morning of the 13th, then join the special train from San Francisco at San José.

At least fifteen or twenty will be in the party from the north-of-bay counties.

Fresno county advised that the entire board of directors of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce will attend.

Careful estimates made by the California Promotion Committee show that San Francisco now contains upward of 507,000 inhabitants. That this increase is synchronous wiht a similar increase all over the State is shown by reports received from the bay cities and from Los Angeles and all interior points, where the increase in population has been a steady and healthy growth during the past two and a half years.

While reports of the State Bank Commission show a decrease in savings-bank deposits, reports from all cities where such decrease is noted show a heavy increase in home building, the bank decrease going into permanent improvements.

In addition to this home building in cities and towns, there is noted a quickening demand for small farms in all parts of the State, and much of the money that formerly went into savings banks is now being invested in agricultural property.

Financial conditions throughout California are good, and considerable outside money is reported as coming in for investment in various industries.

First shipments of oranges are reported from the Sacramento Valley, and indications are that the coming season will be noted for a heavy crop in all parts of the State, the fruit having an especially fine appearance.

Family of Business Man Escapes, Though Sleeping in Home Mysteriously Wrecked.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 30.—Shortly before midnight the residence of Ivan P. Lee, No. 2009 Nye Place, two miles from the business section, was wrecked by an explosion of dynamite.

The property was badly damaged, but no one was injured, although Mr. and Mrs. Lee and their six children were sleeping upstairs.

Lee is a reputable business man. He says he cannot ascribe a motive for the crime, although he has been involved in litigation of late and his neighbors had protested against the construction of a stable on his property. Four revolver shots were heard immediately after the explosion.

The report of the explosion was heard in the business section of Seattle. Residences occupied by members of the police department in the vicinity of the Lee home were slightly

COMPLAIN OF FREIGHT RATES.

Phoenix Merchants Charge Discrimination.

Arizona Seeking Colonists for Reclaimed Land.

Begin Work on Building Submerged Dam.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 29.—A sixth complaint on railroad rates just made to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Maricopa County Commercial Club deals with comparison of discriminative rates between Los Angeles and Phoenix.

On shipments either to Denver or New York, says the complaint, Los Angeles pays 75 cents per 100 pounds, on coffee, canned fruit, or soap, while Phoenix pays, from Los Angeles, 96 cents, $1 and $1.08 on the same articles, though the distance is so much greater.

The Phoenix rates are materially less than those to most of the other railroad points in Arizona. It is shown also in the complaint that cattle can be shipped to Los Angeles from Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Montana, and northern California at much lower rates than prevail from Phoenix.

The last report of Bank Comptroller Sims Ely shows that Arizona now has thirty-one Territorial banks, with balanced resources and liabilities set at $9,833,511.11, and thirteen national banks, with a total of $7,654,085.54. There are five $1,000,000 banks.

READY FOR FAIR.

A special effort is to be made to attract visitors from Southern California to the Territorial Fair, which begins in Phoenix, November 9. This will be assisted by a railroad rate just established of $19.85 from Los Angeles and Southern California, effective from November 7 to 16.

Roy Knabenshue the aëronaut, arrived yesterday from Los Angeles and will remain here for the next two weeks, under contract with the Fair Commission. He will celebrate the opening of the fair by a flight from the grounds to, and over Phoenix, on the morning of the 9th. He expects to achieve especially good results in the flight of his airship here, because of the lack of wind movement.

W. G. Durfee, the Los Angeles trainer, is among the horsemen who have arrived on the fair grounds lately with strings of horses. Already more than 100 racers are in stable here. Durfee has come direct from Lexington, Ky., with twelve track horses, including Bon Voyage, the 3-year-old trotting stallion, 2:13¼, the property of W. A. Clark.

SEEKING FARMERS.

George H. Maxwell, father of the national irrigation movement, has been in Phoenix for several weeks, looking after personal investments. Now that this valley has been brought under the fullest benefit that may accrue from the Reclamation Act, he is becoming interested in the problem of how to fill the irrigated district with farmers who will, by the raising of the more valuable products, produce as much value from a twenty-acre tract as a grain farmer now does from 160 acres. On this subject he has addressed a gathering of local business men.

Keen interest is being taken in the subject, for the day will soon be here when all the larger tracts under the Salt River reclamation project must be subdivided and must be occupied by their owners. Mr. Maxwell also addressed the Maricopa County Medical Society upon the subject of whether the immigration of consumptives should be encouraged. It was agreed that it would be needlessly cruel to shut out cases where cure was possible, but that persons with the disease should not establish themselves near the larger towns, the proper place for them being the higher and dryer land nearer the hills.

BUILDING BIG DAM.

Two miles southeast of Harrisburg, in northern Yuma county, the Harqua Hala Development Company has commenced construction of a great submerged dam across Centennial Wash, the drain of an immense area of mountainous country. The dam is to be of concrete, 645 feet long. The deepest point to bedrock is forty-two feet and the wall will rise sixteen feet above the ordinary bed of the stream. Water will be taken from the dam in a ten-foot pressure tube, generating 400 horsepower at a point several miles below. This power will find ready sale at very high prices in the near-by mines. It is expected that a steady flow of 5000 miners' inches of water can be secured the year round, on completion of the work, and that this supply will be ample for the irrigation of 35,000 acres of excellent land, now available. One of the plans is the construction and operation of an electric railroad through the new farming country between the dam and the railroad station of Salome, twelve miles distant, on the Arizona and California Railroad.

FARMERS PLEDGE AID.

About 3000 acres of land have been pledged already by individual farmers for the growing of sugar beets this season for the Glendale factory, in addition to 1000 acres which will be planted by the sugar company. Work has been begun on the new water supply scheme from the Agua Fria River, to include the town of Glendale, as well as the factory.

Sumi T. Sumee, a Japanese, is in jail here, held for a charge of embezzlement of $100 from a San Francisco firm. But it is said that Sumee, on leaving San Francisco, took with him the wife of a friend, Kiyoshi Nakamura. The injured husband followed the pair here, found them in a hotel and had the man arrested. Then he took his wife, whom he said was "a very good woman," and left with her for Los Angeles.

RESCUED BY TRAIN.

Like an act of a melodrama, was the rescue of a Mexican, Luis Ramirez, from two Yaqui robbers a few days ago near Gila Bend. The Yaquis had attacked the man to rob him of money known to be in his possession, when a circus train opportunely happened along on the Southern Pacific track. The engineer grasped the situation in a glance, blew his whistle and slowed down, yelling to Ramirez, as the engine swept by, that he should board the train. The Mexican escaped and succeeded in securing the arrest of his assailants, who are now in the County Jail here.

CASE TAKES NEW TURN.

DUNHAM SUSPECT IN CLOSE CONFINEMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff Langford has taken a decided turn in his attitude toward "William Hatfield," the Dunham suspect, who is confined in the County Jail here. Previous to this, Hatfield has had the liberty of the big tank and often was taken into the jail yard for exhibition. Today he was placed in solitary confinement and no one visited him the entire day.

Sheriff Langford resurrected an old circular this afternoon, which was issued by Sheriff Lyndon at the time of the murder, twelve years ago. From a close description covering the same points as the Dunham circular, it has been found that Hatfield more closely resembles the murderer than ever before.

There has been a general supposition that Dunham's hair and mustache were black, but the description sent out by Sheriff Lyndon speaks to the contrary and says that the murderer had brown hair and that his mustache was a shade or two lighter.

The most startling bit of information furnished today was the fact that Thomas Monohan, Hatfield's guard and jailor at the County Jail, is of the opinion that the prisoner is none other than James Dunham, the murderer. Monohan never knew Dunham, but bases his belief upon the actions of the suspect.

Monohan said tonight: "I'm almost convinced that the prisoner is the murderer. I have studied him closely during the past week and in my spare moments I took occasion to look carefully over all the descriptions sent out concerning Dunham. I have come to the conclusion that we have the right man in jail."

This is the most startling news which has reached the public since the arrival of Hatfield in this city. Every deputy of the Sheriff's office up to this time has sworn that the prisoner is not the murderer.

of the fire department, destroyed the warehouse of the American Can Company at Harrison street and Treat avenue, badly damaged the plant itself, and caused a loss of $100,000.

Firemen Charles Dougherty and Joseph Quinlan were badly cut by falling tin, and George Spellman was painfully injured by a fall from the building. The three firemen were taken to the Central Emergency Hospital.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

OUT ON BAIL.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars Fixed as Bond for Tomalty—Treasurer Sued by State.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—James C. Tomalty, the book-keeper in the office of the City and County Treasurer, who is charged with altering the accounts in connection with the $60,000 shortage recently reported by experts, was today released on furnishing $15,000 bail. His bail originally was fixed at twice that amount, but in consideration of the fact that he is suffering from a nervous break-down, which threatens the impairment of his reason, Dist.-Atty. Langdon today consented to reduction, which was granted by Police Judge Cabaniss.

The sureties on the bond are friends and relatives of Tomalty.

TREASURER SUED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—The State of California, through State Comptroller A. B. Nye, today filed a suit in the County Clerk's office against Bantel of San Francisco and his bondsmen, the Aetna Indemnity Company, for the recovery of the $14,162.96 in taxes, which it is alleged was looted by Bantel's clerk, James C. Tomalty. The papers in the action were filed this morning by Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb.

No allusion is made to Tomalty in the complaint, the allegations merely stating that the State has demanded the sum and has been refused it by City Treasurer John E. McDougald, who claims he was never given the money when he succeeded Bantel in office last January. The $14,162.96 is the State's share of the $37,572.79 in taxes collected from the United Railroads property, and was paid over to Bantel when he succeeded McDougald in office in January, 1906.

COMPANY FOR BRIBERS.

FOURTH ACCUSED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—A fourth name has been added to the trio accused yesterday in the confession of E. A. S. Blake, the convicted jury briber, who declared that he had been offered $10,000 and a pension of $100 a month for his wife, to serve a term in the penitentiary without revealing the identity of his alleged confederates.

According to the statements made by Blake to District Attorney Langdon, supplementing the dramatic confession he made in the open courtroom, Martin Stevens, an attorney, was made the custodian of the notes for $10,000, alleged to have been executed by Ruef, now on trial for bribery.

Stevens, when asked to explain Blake's accusation, refused to make any statement except under oath. Stevens was attorney for Blake when the latter was first accused of having offered $1000 to John M. Kelly, a venireman, in order that Kelly should attempt to qualify on the Ruef jury and vote for acquittal.

NO SLAUGHTER OF YAQUIS.

Yellow Telegrams from El Paso Telling of Fight Found to Be Baseless.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Oct. 30.—After thorough investigation of telegrams from El Paso and Bisbee reporting the killing of forty Yaquis and Chief Bule in an encounter at Hermosillo, it may be said authoritatively that there is no foundation for the reports.

There has been no encounter with Yaquis since the battle of August 13 at Rancho Carrizo, between the Indians under Bule and the soldiers, in which eighteen Indians were killed or wounded.

A conference is now being held at Arenas between representatives of the Yaquis and Mexican officials looking to signing a treaty guaranteeing permanent peace. Bule is present at the conference.

Gov. Torres has just returned from one year's trip to Europe, and he expresses the opinion that the peace treaty will be signed in a few days.

NO BLAME ON HERRERA.

Death of Man With Whom Ex-Prize Fighter Was Hunting Declared Accidental.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 30.—A Coroner's jury this afternoon decided that James Wills, who died late last night from a gunshot wound, was killed accidentally. He was riding in a buggy hunting with Aurelio Herrera, the ex-prize fighter, when Herrera's gun, which was between the two, was suddenly discharged by a jar in passing through a ditch. The charge took effect in Wills's right shoulder. He had relatives in Norwich, Kan.

EXAMINING JURORS.

CASE HANGS FIRE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—In Judge Murasky's department of the Superior Court today, the examination of grand jurors for bias was continued by the attorneys for Frank J. Murphy and A. through E. A. S. Blake, convicted of the crime, who yesterday confessed his guilt and further accused the defendants in this case, which is up on a motion to quash the indictment. Slow progress was made today, the questions asked of the grand jurors being confined by order of the judge, to matters of alleged bias, the counsel for Murphy and Newburgh not being allowed to go into what transpired in the jury room. All the jurors examined denied having any bias against the accused men.

A. C. McFarland, foreman of the grand jury, flatly declined to answer several pointed questions put by Attorney Schlessinger and was sustained by the court.

HELD ON SUSPICION.

Oxnard Police Arrest Three Young Men Who Have Extraordinary Number of Cigars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OXNARD, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Marshal Kelley this evening arrested two young men, who had just disposed of twenty-nine boxes of cigars at a low figure. The men gave the names of William Green and James Wilson, and said they had purchased the goods of John Logan, No. 31 South Spring street, Los Angeles. The local officers were unable to find the name and address of any such dealer.

The two men were first arrested on general suspicious appearance, and because they had in their possession an unopened box of cigars. Upon further investigation it was found that they had delivered twenty-nine boxes of goods to a dealer and had promised to furnish him with the other one.

Thomas Larsen, who had been seen with the other two on the previous day, was also locked up on suspicion. Marshall Kelley is holding the three pending advices from Los Angeles.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Veteran Killed by Train.

ALBANY, Oct. 30.—Charles Goehinger, an old soldier, was instantly killed at Lebanon last night by being struck by a switching train. He had alighted from a train and was walking down the track when the rear end of the switching train struck him, throwing him thirty feet. Deafness prevented him hearing the train.

Believes Wife Dead.

OAKLAND (Cal.) Oct. 30.—Alfred Bullfinch, whose wife so mysteriously disappeared a week ago, told the Oakland police this morning, over the telephone he had given up hope of finding her alive and expected to find her body floating in the bay near their old home in Point Richmond. When taxed to be more explicit, the man said it was only his opinion. The police are looking for the woman.

Hearing for Hatfield.

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Oct. 30.—For the first time, the District Attorney's office today, formally announced that Hatfield, the Dunham suspect, soon will be taken before a local justice's court for a hearing. There were no further developments during the day. Hatfield had no visitors today, the public curiosity in regard to him evidently having run its course.

NIGHT RIDERS ARE BETRAYED.

NAMES OF MEN WHO MURDERED CAPT. RANKIN KNOWN.

Confessions of Three Prisoners, Gov. Patterson Says, Will Furnish Sufficient Evidence to Convict Members of Gang—Ten Saw Hanging of Victim, Others Guarded.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CAMP NEMO (Reelfoot Lake, Tenn.) Oct. 30.—"We know who fired the shot and who put the rope around Rankin's neck," said Gov. Patterson, in a statement this afternoon, just before his departure for Union City, where a special grand jury is investigating the night rider depredations in this section, which culminated recently in the murder of Capt. Quentin Rankin.

The Governor in his statement, said: "The proof which has thus far developed, is positive as to the guilt of some of the men under arrest and implicates others. This will all be presented to the court at the proper time and a long step has been taken toward discovering and suppressing lawlessness in this region. We know who fired the shot and who put the rope around Rankin's neck. The number of men actually at the killing was probably not more than ten, while some stood guard and others held the horses. The whole number engaged in the undertaking did not exceed thirty-five.

"The inquiry will be further prosecuted and the State will have ample evidence to convict."

It is learned that Frank Ferriner's confession was full and complete; that he said he was with the men who took Rankin and Taylor to the banks of the slough; that he gave the names of the men who pulled the rope, lifting Rankin into the air, and the man who fired the first shot into Rankin's body.

The confessions of Hogg and Morris also are said to be complete. Hogg, it is believed, was one of the four men who guarded the horses while Morris stood guard around the house when the leaders went in after Rankin and Taylor. The confession of Ferriner, Hogg and Morris substantiates, it is said, that of "Red" Burton.

HOT SHOT.

TAFT SCORES SAM GOMPERS.

Drives Sledge-like Blows at So-called Leader.

Has Sold His Manhood for Political Life.

Decent Labor Leaders Are Deserting Pretender.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Oct. 30.—Sledge hammer blows at the Gompers-Bryan labor legislation plans were delivered here tonight by William H. Taft before two immense audiences.

Mr. Taft gave the names of many labor leaders high in the council of the American Federation of Labor who, he said, were leaving Mr. Gompers.

"The attempt of Mr. Gompers, he declared, with great emphasis, "to deliver the labor vote of the county is as audacious an act of political effrontery as ever has occurred in the history of politics. It is most reassuring to note that the men associated with Mr. Gompers in the executive councils of the Federation of Labor are falling away from him in the effort of his to make the federation a political factor.

"The men who decline to follow him are John Mitchell, James Duncan, first vice-president of the American Federation of Labor; Daniel Keefe, head of the Longshoremen's Union; T. D. Ryan, secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers; A. L. Fassett, president of the window glass workers of America; Claude Worth, secretary and treasurer of the International Dredge Workers; Charles McCarthy, grand president of Tug Firemen and Linemen's Association; W. T. Miller, elevator employes; T. J. Dolan, international Steam Shovel and Dredgemen, and many other high officials of labor organizations.

"It is a struggle for political existence on the part of Mr. Gompers and he is willing to resort to every extreme method possible to secure success."

After asserting that the protective system was decidedly the most important consideration of the American workman, Mr. Taft added:

SACRIFICES DECENCY.

"Mr. Gompers, however, is so committed himself on one subject with reference to labor that he is willing to sacrifice every other consideration, however important and material to the welfare of wage-earners. He is willing to have a return of the conditions five as existed in 1896, so eloquently defects as by him at that time, only the der legislation concerning injuncamendme He proposes to abolish injunc- ever, wi industrial disputes, where the construction is issued to protect person whose business is injured by the lawless acts of workingmen, as this by statute. He also proposes legalize the secondary boycott, though many trades unions have directly renounced its use as an instrumentality in industrial disputes, which is un-Republican and un-American, and which is certain to react upon the users as a boomerang with distrous effect.

"President Roosevelt, in a letter to Mr. Bryan, has inquired of him whether the Democratic platform is to be taken as favoring this plan of Mr. Gompers, which Mr. Gompers asserts to be the fact, saying that it was agreed between Mr. Gompers and Mr. Bryan that what the labor interests had been demanding from Congress should be a part of the Democratic platform. Mr. Bryan has failed to answer Mr. Roosevelt's questions, and therefore we may take it his committed to Mr. Gompers's programme."

After expressing the belief that the legislation which Mr. Gompers proposed would be unconstitutional, Judge Taft concluded:

"The charge that I ever sentenced a man without a full hearing made an order affecting his wages without a full hearing is altogether unfounded and false.

WILL AID LABOR.

"I wish here to say that no matter what labor may do under the pernicious influence of Samuel Gompers and those associated with him in this campaign, if I am successful the political opposition of labor organizations will not deter me in the slightest from doing what I can to aid proper labor legislation in the future and will not in any way diminish my constant interest in the securing to those who earn their livelihood by the sweat of their brow as near an equal opportunity for progress toward better things as human society can afford them.

"I am confident that many of the wage-earning class will support the Republican ticket, because I know their intelligence and I am sure they are able to determine their real interests and will not be led astray by the fustian and buncombe of such appeals as those which Mr. Gompers is now making to his supposed followers."

The meeting at Utica today between Taft and James S. Sherman and the magnitude and enthusiasm of the reception of the Republican Presidential candidate received in this city tonight were features of the campaign Judge Taft is making in Northern New York.

SPEAKS IN SNOWSTORM.

At Batavia late this afternoon he left his car in a driving snowstorm to speak to many thousands of people.

Buffalo has two enormous meeting places, Convention Hall and the Broadway Arsenal. Two hours before the time set for the meetings these two places were filled and on the outside enough were clamoring for admittance to fill the speaking places a second time.

At convention hall Mr. Taft took up the Standard Oil subject. "Mr. Bryan is greatly troubled," said he, "about my attitude toward the trusts and even more so by the announcement that Mr. Rockefeller is for me. If the Standard Oil Company were anxious to bring about my election, I should take it the last thing that would be done would be to advertise its support. Therefore this publication which Mr. Bryan is now making so much of, if it seems to me, has but little significance in attempting to show the Standard Oil or any other trust, because it hopes for immunity, is supporting me. That is not the way things are done.

NO AID FROM TRUST.

"There is a gentleman from your city with a very lively imagination—growing even more lively as the responsibility of the campaign grows upon him. He has conceived the idea that the Standard Oil Company contributes a large amount to the Republican campaign fund. I am in a position to state with great emphasis that in trusts proposed by the Democratic party, with Republican policies, Judge Taft said:

"The administration is prosecuting the Standard Oil Company and it intends to continue the prosecution until that part which may be evil is stamped out."

INDORSEMENT OF TAFT TRICK TO AID "COMMONER."

Republicans from All Over the Country Boldly Resent Rockefeller's Announcement and Assert That It Is a Campaign Plot Aimed at Their Party's Candidate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Republicans in Chicago resent John D. Rockefeller's indorsement of Taft, and assert it is a part of the Democratic campaign policy. There are no headquarters officials here today, but around State headquarters and in the hotels and other places where politicians assemble, free comment is made upon the highly suspicious nature of the Rockefeller pronunciamento, coming at this stage of the campaign. While no one cared to be quoted, the consensus of opinion may be summarized as follows:

"John D. Rockefeller knows his indorsement would be a millstone around the neck of any candidate; hence if he really desired the election of Mr. Taft he would have indorsed Mr. Bryan. The suspicion that Standard Oil is furnishing the Democratic campaign funds and is working for the election of Bryan is borne out by this indorsement of Taft by Rockefeller in the last days of the campaign. It will not make the slightest difference with any voter who is familiar with the methods employed in this campaign."

Politicians in Chicago say that Rockefeller's opinion could have been secured months ago; that it is generally known he has voted the Republican ticket, and that the exploitation of his preference at this stage of the campaign is such a palpably transparent campaign trick that it will have no effect whatever, unless it be to anger the Republicans.

WHITE HOUSE IS "MERELY AMUSED."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The following official statement was issued from the White House tonight:

"At the White House the announcement of Mr. Rockefeller through the press agent of the Standard Oil Company was regarded with some amusement in view of what the administration has done to the Standard Oil Company and of the bitter hatred borne by the Standard Oil Company to the administration. It is a perfectly palpable and obvious trick on the part of the Standard Oil people to try to damage Taft; a trick so palpable that it can deceive no one."

BRANDS MACK LIAR.

MACK AMUSED ALSO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—After reading tonight the statement of Norman E. Mack, in which the Democratic national chairman charged that the Republican organization had received a contribution from the Standard Oil Company, Chairman Hitchcock, of the Republican National Committee, dictated the following:

"The statement that the Republican National Committee has received financial assistance from the Standard Oil Company is absolutely false. The committee has not received directly or indirectly from that organization, or any of its officers a single dollar."

Democratic National Chairman Mack after reading the statement issued tonight at the White House, where it was said some amusement was caused by the announcement of Mr. Rockefeller in view of what the administration had done to the Standard Oil Company, said:

"The White House statement is its own answer. The bargain was made between Taft's managers and Rockefeller and concerns the possible future administration of Mr. Taft and not what the present administration has or has not done to the Standard Oil Company."

Replying to another printed article in which it was charged that Mr. Rockefeller had been persuaded to indorse Taft by Secretary Root, Mack said:

"Mr. Root has been in Europe for months and has had no opportunity to discuss politics with Mr. Rockefeller. The statement is absurd on the face of it, and has already been sufficiently answered by me."

THEIR CHOICE.

ALLIANCES INDORSE SOME CANDIDATES.

AT A SOCIAL gathering of the German-American Alliance of Los Angeles and the Liberal Alliance of Southern California, held last evening at Turner Hall, a playette, "A Yellow Peril," was presented by a cast of characters so modest that no names were mentioned on the programme. "Bumskowski," in charge of the militia of Los Angeles, with the help of Emperor Wilhelm and the presidents of the German-American and the Liberal Alliance, defeated the Jap and British invasion at Long Beach, and 137,000 prisoners were taken. It was an impossible burlesque under the personal direction of Frank Dorner, assisted by members of the Alt-Deutsche Vergnuegungs Zunft.

There were about two hundred members present. Beer was served at the tables. Dr. Joseph Kurtz made a brief address calling on members to stand fast for personal liberty. C. J. Rohde added a few words, and on behalf of members of the German-American and Liberal alliances, read the names of the candidates indorsed by those organizations in the present political campaign, as follows:

Superior judges—Albert Lee Stephens (Dem.,) Frank R. Willis (Rep.,) Nathaniel P. Conrey (Rep.) and Charles Monroe (Rep.)

Supervisors—Second District, H. D. McCabe (Rep.;) Fourth District, Frank D. Haddock (Dem.;) Fifth District, Anthony Schwamm (Dem.)

KERN TICKLED.

RAPS ADMINISTRATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie were made the target for shafts of ridicule by John W. Kern in a speech here tonight.

"A precious pair of disinterested patriots," he called them for their championship of the Republican Presidential candidate.

"Like good generals," he said, "the Republican party leaders have been holding the flower of their army in reserve for the crucial moment when the issue of battle is in doubt.

"Carnegie makes an appeal to the people, the very people whom he has been plundering for more than a quarter of a century, to stand with him for Taft to the end that the plundering may continue through the generations of the future.

"Rockefeller and Carnegie—what a precious pair of disinterested patriots are these two men."

Mr. Kern left the city at 11:30 o'clock tonight to be on hand for the opening of his last day of campaigning in Indiana, tomorrow at Princeton.

SAYS IT'S "A DEAL."

MACK MAKES CHARGES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Charges were made today by Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that the declaration of John D. Rockefeller for Taft for President was the result of a deal between the Republican National Committee and the Standard Oil interests whereby National Chairman Hitchcock received large campaign contributions and Mr. Rockefeller the promises.

Mr. Mack asserted that the $29,000,000 fine of the Standard Oil Company would be fixed up in the event of Mr. Taft's election as a part of the bargain. He said:

"Mr. Rockefeller held back for a bargain, and got what he wanted. His declaration for Taft is good for at least 100,000 votes in the doubtful States. I cannot speculate on the exact amount the National Republican Committee received from Mr. Rockefeller, but one can rest assured that they both received their price, Hitchcock getting the money and Rockefeller the promises.

"We now have an oil trust and the steel trust lined up side by side working for Mr. Taft's candidacy. Mr. Carnegie's statement yesterday on his arrival from Europe that the election of Mr. Bryan would be a national tragedy is not only shocking but should arouse the indignation of all fair-minded citizens of the country, regardless of party affiliation. Mr. Carnegie, I am reliably informed, is not even a voter in this country."

The national chairman said that $200,000 of the Republican campaign fund had been sent into Indiana, and that more than that sum had been sent into Ohio.

KNOX HITS GOMPERS.

BRYAN, TOO, IS ANSWERED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—United States Senator P. C. Knox, Lieut.-Robert S. Murphy and Congressman can campaign in Allegheny county.

Mr. Knox, in his address, said: "I do not know to what extent Gompers represents the organized labor of the United States, or by what authority he pretends to deliver its votes to the Democratic party, but we all know that he appeared at the national conventions of both parties and formulated demands upon both in the name of organized labor, and as a result of his views of the action of the two parties he has called upon organized labor to repudiate Mr. Taft and vote for Mr. Bryan.

"I believe," said Mr. Knox, "that the effect of what he asks American workmen to do is this: Vote for Bryan and he will destroy the protective tariff which secures to American workmen the fair wages and conditions they demand; and, as a substitute for fair wages and good conditions, Mr. Bryan will enact a measure outlawing American business, a thing no honest American workman wants.

"Mr. Bryan and Mr. Gompers indulge in ill-natured and irrelevant attacks upon the President and me, 49but what have they said about Mr. Bryan advocating outlawing the right to do business and legalizing the blacklist and the secondary boycott?

"The President and I are not asking for the votes of the people and therefore I refuse to follow Mr. Bryan and Mr. Gompers into the realm of irrelevant association. As I never was attorney for the steel trust or the Pennsylvania Railroad and never exchanged a syllable with Mr. Frick on the subject of legislation to which Mr. Bryan has referred, I will simply revert to the question in which the people are interested, and that is, did you, Mr. Bryan, promise Mr. Gompers to support the Pearre bill?

"Mr. Taft entertains no impossible theory of government, as Mr. Bryan does, to which the people's interests must be bent or fitted, or else shattered and destroyed. He will be better satisfied to achieve his policies than vociferously proclaiming them. His policies are not like those of Mr. Bryan, a matter of geography. He is not endeavoring to conceal in one section of the country what he is proclaiming in another. He is just a straightforward capable, stable and experienced statesman, the type that we love to point to as America's product."

GOMPERS CAMPAIGNS.

MORE TWADDLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Sam Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today announced that he was sending out for distribution among union-labor people throughout the country a special issue of the American Federationist containing articles defining labor's attitude in the present political campaign.

Mr. Gompers today also sent telegrams to practically every labor organization in the country urging his followers to "redoubled activity and to stand true to the great cause of human freedom involved in this campaign."

Check Fails to Hinder Him in Mad Rush Through Ohio—Candidate Ends Day by Big Meeting in Cleveland in Which He Attacks Administration.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 30.—After traveling up and down and across the State of Ohio today, W. J. Bryan arrived here at 8:30 o'clock tonight, and was the recipient of a great demonstration.

A dozen or more marching clubs escorted the Democratic candidate to the Central Armory, where he spoke to a large crowd.

Later he went to Gray's Armory and spoke to another crowd.

In his speech in the Armory tonight, Mr. Bryan discussed the Democratic platform, laying great stress on the planks relating to the guarantee of bank deposits, publicity of campaign contributions and the trusts. The latter two topics provided him with the theme for his attacks on the financiers, the President and Mr. Taft.

The Standard Oil Company and the steel trust, through Messrs. Rockefeller and Carnegie, were credited with supplying the funds for the Republican campaign.

Not content with his strictures upon those named, Mr. Bryan had something to say about Secretary Root, who is credited with having said that Mr. Bryan's election would be a menace to the country.

"I see Mr. Root has made an argument against the election of Senators by the people," he remarked. "I am not surprised. No man in public life has more reason to fear an election at which the people vote.

"He also thinks my election would be a menace to the country. That is not surprising. He began his legal career with a defense of Boss Tweed and has been so intimately associated with the big lawbreakers ever since that he would naturally resent the Democratic idea of enforcing the law impartially against offenders."

Beginning at Napoleon early this morning, Mr. Bryan began his attack on John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie. He had observed in the morning papers an authorized statement by the financiers that they were supporting Mr. Taft.

Today's journey through the State was but a repetition of the visit a week ago. Crowds turned out everywhere to greet Mr. Bryan.

Northern Indiana will claim Mr. Bryan's attention tomorrow, previous to his arrival at Chicago tomorrow night.

Mr. Bryan compared the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties on the tariff question, and laid great stress on the fact that the Democrats are demanding reduction, while the Republicans promise revision. This led to a hot dialogue between a man in the crowd, perched on the seat of a wagon, and the Democratic candidate.

PERTINENT QUESTION.

"How will reduction of tariff help the unemployed?" was asked.

"Are you a Republican?" Mr. Bryan inquired, "and what is your name?"

"Never mind that," answered the man; "answer the question."

"That," said Mr. Bryan, "gives you a fair sample of his ideas of justice. He knows who I am, but I have no right to know who he is."

"I made 127 speeches for you all over the United States. Will you answer my question?" said the man.

"Well, sir, you ought to be making speeches this year. Tell me who you are."

"Well, my friends," said the candidate, "if he is ashamed to tell you he ought not to be out making speeches. When a man goes to another man's meeting and asks a question he ought to be man enough to tell who he is."

"What's that got to do with it? You cannot answer. Why does not your platform answer the unemployed proposition?"

FRANKLY SOCIALISTIC.

"My friends, give me your attention," said Mr. Bryan. "He wants to know about the unemployed problem. I believe that the unemployed problem is due to the fact that there is an unfair distribution of the wealth created, and when we try to remedy the evil that man helps to elect a Republican to keep this unemployed problem before the country."

The crowd wildly cheered a burly man who tried to haul the disturber out of the crowd.

TAKES NEW TEXT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOWLING GREEN (O.) Oct. 30.—Keeping up his attacks on John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie, both of whom have announced publicly their support of Mr. Taft, William J. Bryan here today spoke to a big crowd.

"Do you understand now," he said, "why Mr. Taft is not willing that their contributions shall be published before election?

"For a generation the Standard Oil Company has been engaged in pinching business. It has been pinching off its rivals, and today has a tariff of about 120 per cent. against the chief rival.

"Mr. Rockefeller is supporting the Republican ticket because he expects to put his hands in the pockets of twenty millions of people and not be molested in the extortion in which he has taken part.

"My friends, can any American farmer be deceived now as to the attitude of the Republican party? Can any Republican be so blind, so as not to understand what a Republican victory means? We have told you where our money was coming from. We have taken you into our confidence because our money is coming from the people who are helping to fight this battle, because it is their battle.

A DEMOCRATIC FAKE.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My attention has just been called to a communication published in the Herald, addressed to the colored voters of Los Angeles county, purporting to be signed by G. W. Chivis and others, in which the statement is made that these people had called upon me and requested that I appoint a colored man on the Executive Committee, and that I refused to do so, and that I also stated that the Republican party, as represented by the Executive Committee of the County Central Committee, did not care for the colored vote in this election. These statements are absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue.

The men referred to called at my office yesterday and inquired of me what arrangements had been made for colored men to get out the colored vote on election day in certain of the precincts in this city. I informed them that this duty was in charge of the Election-day Committee of the Republican Executive Committee, and referred them to the chairman of that subcommittee, as I was not following up that detail personally. They made no request whatever for an appointment of colored men on the Executive Committee, nor did I refuse to make any such appointment, as I was not asked to pass upon that question.

The Executive Committee, which is limited to twenty members, was authorized by the county convention, and the appointments made to that before the commencement of the campaign.

They then asked me if there was any colored man a member of that committee, and I said "No." They then turned and walked out of the office and this was all that was said.

I think that the people of this county know me sufficiently well to know that I would not make the statements attributed to me.

VOTERS START UNIQUE RACE.

Bryan in Danger of Losing at Least One County in the "Solid South."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Probably the most unique race ever held in the Southwest, with two hundred votes for Bryan as the prize, commenced at Dalhart, in the Panhandle, today, when a special train bearing two hundred citizens, started for Dallas to attend the State fair.

The voters will try to reach Dallas, see the exhibits, and return to Dalhart in time to vote. The race covers nearly 900 miles, Dalhart being 440 miles distant from Dallas. In order to get the men home in time to cast their ballots, the special will have to make record-breaking time each way and the Denver railroad has arranged every detail for a record-smashing and spectacular run.

The citizens will not reach Dallas until Sunday. The train was chartered and arranged for several weeks ago, and could not be canceled except at great loss of money, consequently there was no alternative to the trip. The Republicans of that county, Dallam, recognize the "pschological moment" and hope to carry the county, although outnumbered three to one by the Democrats, Dallam county is not thickly settled and if it goes for Taft, it will be the only county in Texas that goes for the heavy weight candidate.

PAPER HELPS CAMPAIGN FUND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Col. Robert E. Wing, editor and publisher of the New Orleans States, delivered at Democratic national headquarters today a check for $2500 for the Democratic campaign fund. This brings the total collections raised by his paper to $22,000, which is said to be the record for popular newspaper collections.

Other contributions reported received today were: Arizona, A. F. O'Brien, $100; New Mexico, S. Lindauer, $100; California, J. H. McCarthy, $100; Oregon, Portland Democratic Special Committee, $100; A. S. Bennett, $150.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company yesterday let a contract for a four-million bushel elevator at Fort William. This is the first unit of what will be a forty-million bushels capacity storage plant at Fort William.

...New York ...received the ...through ...ming how ...election.

I knew the West was for Taft and was not surprised that in all the western cities I visited contracts were given with the understanding they would hold if Mr. Taft should win, and be void if Mr. Bryan were elected, but I did not expect to run up against this in the South. I did, however, and that is where my surprise came in.

"In Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and North Carolina the conservative business men made contracts with me on the same terms. I asked several why, if they were for Bryan, they made such contracts. One of them replied:

"'Many of us are not for Bryan, but we have to appear to be. We appreciate that the election of Taft will make better business, while the election of Bryan will only disturb things. Most of us are tiring of being a tail to the northern Democracy, and if it were not for the negro question the solid South would surely be broken.'

"This man said Louisiana would be Republican as soon as the negro question is settled. Kentucky may go Republican, and in another election or two Tennessee will become a debatable State."

Let Well Enough Alone.

Fads, fancies and isms may well be ignored by the electorate at the coming election. Well enough is always good, and upon its history and past record as the dominating platform of progressive principles the Republican party asks the suffrage of the American people for William H. Taft.—[Sacramento Union.

Taft's Presence Inspires Confidence.

Mr. Taft seems to be continually saying: If you want to know what I believe, read what I have said; if you want to know what kind of a fellow I am, study what I have done. His talk is full of such expressions as, I said so and so at such and such a time and I will show you that I was right; or, I did so and so at such a time, and if I had it to do over again I would do the same thing. He wants you to read his decisions, and to study his record.

One instinctively feels confidence in the man who is eager for you to consult his words and his deeds, and to find out for yourself what he has said and done. It seems to form a sort of self-evident and conclusive evidence that he is dependable and sincere. It is in painful contrast to the attitude of the Presidential candidate who pleads that anything against him not in this year's platform must not be brought into the discussion, and asks you to trust him on the ground that all he once professed he has now forsworn.—[Indianapolis Star.

Bryan a Trimmer.

The claim is so often made that the Democrats are working in complete harmony on all questions in this campaign that it may be interesting to note one difference, involving a vital principle, between the Denver platform and the platform of the New York Democracy.

The Bryan utterance promulgated at Denver demands "such enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission as may be necessary to compel the railroads to perform their duties as common carriers and prevent discrimination and extortion." But what does the New York platform say about "government by commission" in that State? Simply this:

"We denounce the system which has come into vogue under Republican rule of governing the State by commission, a system never contemplated by the Constitution."

Of course, the commission referred to by the New York Democracy is the State Commission, while the Denver platform refers to the national commission; but, viewing the question broadly, how can Mr. Bryan demand more power for the national commission, and at the same time join with New York Democrats in denouncing "the rule of governing the State by commission?"

"Governing the State by commission" is not different in principle from governing the nation by commission; but this little inconsistency doesn't worry Mr. Bryan; he wants to carry New York, and if Tammany had denounced his banking fad, or any other vagary espoused by him, it would not have disturbed his peace of mind in the least. For trimming, changing and compromising, the Nebraskan holds the world's record.—[Seattle Post Intelligencer.

Common Sense, not Coercion.

The "coercion" of which Mr. Bryan complains in the East seems to be quite general here in Portland. Scores of prominent business men in this city, publicly and privately, have stated in unmistakable terms their belief as to the harmful effects that would probably follow the election of Bryan. Among the interviews printed in yesterday's Oregonian were a number with real estate operators, in which they told of numerous large deals held up pending news of the election of Mr. Taft. Most of these transactions involved construction of new buildings, in addition to the transfer of the realty, and in the construction work quite naturally there would be a demand for labor. Reasoning from the Bryan theory, it is thus plain that the men who refuse to invest their money and thus provide employment to labor until they are assured of Taft's election are guilty of "coercing" the voters.—[Portland Oregonian.

Forming Wild Cat Banks.

The president of a national bank in Guthrie, Okla., has made a public statement to the effect that as an outcome of the bank guarantee law in that State men without either business or moral qualificatiaons are securing bank charters, opening banks and securing deposits. He gives one instance of a man who failed in business in Kansas in his own name, then started into business in his wife's name and failed again, beating his creditors out of $70,000, and not paying them a cent. He then came to Oklahoma when the old law was in force and tried to establish a banking business, but without success. Under the new law this man has started three banks, and boasts that he will start twelve more. In one of the three he has a deposit account of $100,000. That man will feel free to do as he pleases with those deposits, and the people who placed them there feel secure because of the guarantee fund. But with many such men in the business no fund is inexhaustible, and calamity comes in the end.

HAVE TONS OF BALLOTS.

Chicago Has Hers All Ready for Use Next Tuesday.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tuesday's election will cost Chicago $250,000, according to the estimates of Isaac N. Powell, chief clerk of the election commission. The official ballots were stacked up today at the board room, ready for distribution. There are 2,300,000 of them and they weigh forty-five tons. According to statistics prepared by Mr. Powell, if they were piled one on top of another they would form a stack 294 feet higher than the Montgomery Ward tower. If placed end to end they would stretch from the City Hall to Hutchinson, Kan. The ballots contain on an average 435 names.

With the tally sheets, registers and other election paraphernalia the board will have distributed 250 tons of material when the ballots have been sent out. This has required the use of sixty wagons daily for over a week.

AMBASSADOR TO BRAZIL MAY BE DENIED RIGHT.

Reaches San Diego Only to Learn That County Clerk Has Refused to Register His Name—Granite Monument to Memory of Father Ubach to Be Unveiled.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 30.—When Hon. Irving B. Dudley, Ambassador to Brazil, reached home today he was met by his attorney and lifelong friend, Eugene Deney. The latter informed him that apparently his long trip home is for naught, as it depends upon the action of the election judges of the precinct where he attempted to vote whether he can exercise that American privilege.

County Clerk Francis refused to register Mr. Dudley, although his home has been in this city for many years. A technicality is in the way. Former county clerks have overlooked this, but W. H. Francis has a sense of duty which he says he will exercise without fear or favor.

Controversy concerning the registration of Mr. Dudley developed as follows: On August 25 Attorney Eugene Daney presented to County Clerk Francis a document sworn to by Mr. Dudley before a deputy Consul-General in Brazil, intended as an affidavit of registration, asking that Mr. Dudley be registered. The County Clerk refused on the grounds the registration laws had not been complied with. Attorney Daney asserts that Ambassador Dudley, being a Federal officer engaged in foreign duty, is not governed by the same registration laws applying to persons residing in the State, and that so long as his legal residence is here, he may be registered legally upon the presentation of a registration affidavit. Clerk Francis maintains otherwise.

TO HONOR PRIEST'S MEMORY.

An imposing granite monument erected in honor of the memory of the late Father A. D. Ubach, will be unveiled in the Catholic Cemetery Monday. In connection there will be held the usual Catholic custom of commemorating all souls. The monument, which is to be set up at the head of Father Ubach's grave tomorrow, is in the form of a huge cross made of silver gray granite. It is six feet in height and rests on a base of granite which is three feet, making the monument nine feet in total height. Inscriptions on the cross are: "Father Ubach, 1835-1907; native of Spain; for over forty years a faithful and beloved pastor in San Diego."

LAST POMONA RALLY.

Valley Republican Club Winds up the Campaign With Rousing Meeting at Theater.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the Republicans of this locality have awakened from the apathy that had characterized the campaign, was well proven tonight, when the Fraternal Aid Theater was filled with a cheering, enthusiastic crowd, including many ladies, from all parts of the valley. The occasion was the last rally of the Pomona Valley Republican Club.

Lee R. Matthews, president of the club, introduced J. Albert Dole, chairman of the evening, who, after opening remarks, presented Prescott Cogswell, candidate for the Assembly; N. W. Thompson, candidate for State Senator, and Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, who gave a witty and patriotic talk.

Hon. Webster Davis spoke entertainingly upon the achievements that have been accomplished by the Republican party and earnestly urged voters to do their duty at the polls on Tuesday and thus swell the majority sure to be cast for a continuance of Roosevelt principles and prosperity. The meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers for Taft and Sherman.

The speakers were escorted to the theater from Hotel Palomares by the Seventh Regiment Band, which furnished the music for the evening.

CONGRESSMAN CHARGES LIBEL.

WISCONSIN CAMPAIGN SURPRISE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FOND DU LAC (Wis.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The biggest sensation of the local campaign was sprung tonight, when S. D. Boreham, campaign manager for George Spratt, Republican candidate for Congress, Sixth District, was made defendant in a criminal libel suit. Boreham is charged with publishing a handbill alleged to be a record of attendance of Congressman Charles H. Weisse, Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Congresses, intending to show that Weisse did not attend sessions, but neglected his duty. The complaint was sworn out before Justice Biewett, chairman of the County Democratic Committee, and an affidavit of prejudice was filed. The case was taken to Justice Fairbanks

FALSE ISSUE RAISED.

one of the leaders in the Collier camp. The First Methodists are rallying to the support of their pastor. This has subjected the First Church to sharp criticisms from the heathen and from other denominations. These say that the church has substituted politics for religion. Dr. Chapman of the Anti-Saloon League has been in Riverside county for a week, taking personal charge of the campaign against Collier. The one crime of which he is accused is that he voted for high license in Corona.

The Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers in Riverside have suddenly turned temperance and are supporting Woertendyke as a "good government" candidate. Their ante-election pledges to support the regular Republican ticket are disregarded; they admit tacitly that they were made for political purposes only, and they appear to be ready to join with the Orange County Lincoln-Roosevelters in bolting the ticket.

The Republican leaders of Riverside county are presenting a case for Collier that anywhere else but in a partisan prohibition community would elect him easily.

W. G. McVicar, a Corona Prohibitionist, served on the Board of Trustees with Collier when the latter voted for high license. McVicar is a descendant of the old Scotch Covenanters and he "Maun give my testimony" in this instance.

He says that Collier was sincere in his advocacy of high license as opposed to straight prohibition; that he proved to be a worthy counselor in all other matters and that he (McVicar) is prepared to support him for the State Assembly.

A. F. Call, the heaviest single owner of orange groves in the valley, is a staunch Collier supporter. He says he is supporting Collier because the latter has shown himself to be a man of high honor and strict integrity in all his business transactions.

The "organization" is for Collier. The Prohibitionists call this the machine and the "push;" but a roster of the organization Republicans in Riverside town and county does not seem to justify these epithets. From Frank Miller down, the leading organization supporters of Collier appear to be the men of affairs who have converted a poor sheep range into a veritable Garden of the Gods.

TARIFF THE ISSUE.

These men of affairs of Riverside are striving strenuously to elect a straight Republican ticket, national and State, in this county. They say it will be worth a great deal more to the orange growers than any mixed lobby that might be sent to Washington.

But Riverside county is the home of the white ribbon. There isn't a saloon in the county, and there isn't likely ever to be one. When the arguments on the tariff and the business records of the two candidates are all in, the Prohibitionists readjust their white cravats and reply: "But he voted for high license in Corona. We don't want any saloons in this county."

There are $40,000,000 of orange lands in Riverside county, and there are no saloons.

The Democrats of the county are bathed in tears and perspiration; they know they will run neither first nor second, and they must fight it out with the Socialists for third place.

ESTUDILLO A WINNER.

Estudillo's fight for the Senate looks to be won, despite the desertions of the Luncheon Leaguers. He is a native of the district, and as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the last State Assembly he made an enviable record. In a public address Gov. Gillett said recently that it is due probably more to Estudillo than to any other man in the State that the tax rate for State purposes is reduced this year to 40 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The only charge brought against Estudillo so far is that he is a Taft Republican; and in the Thirty-ninth Senatorial District the Lincoln-Roosevelt followers are openly bolting the ticket.

CANNON ANSWERS BISHOP.

BRANDS STORIES AS FALSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DANVILLE (Ill.) Oct. 30.—Speaker Cannon today, at the request of Rev. F. M. Bristol, Bishop of the M. E. Church of Indianapolis, addressed him an open letter in answer to the question put to the Speaker, "Did the Speaker prevent the House from taking a vote on the Littlefield bill?" Mr. Cannon's letter had this to say:

"I did not prevent the House from acting upon it, and I will add that I had no power, to prevent the House from doing so, for as Mr. Littlefield says in his letter to me, dated September 12, there are no rules, there is no Committee on Rules and there is no Speaker that can prevent a majority of the House taking up a measure and acting on it at any time.

"The Rev. A. Baker of Columbus, Ohio, is the general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. I have not the honor of his acquaintance and do not remember to have ever met or seen him. The Rev. Mr. S. L. Nicholson is the legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in Washington. I have met him. These two men seem to be responsible for the mis-statements that have been circulated.

"They both state that, as Speaker, I packed the Judiciary Committee to prevent the report of the Littlefield bill and specify particularly that I did not appoint in the Sixteenth Congress Representative Pearre of Maryland to the Committee on Judiciary for the reason that he favored the Littlefield bill. These, each and all, are false—deliberate falsehoods — which have been repeated in the face of denials from the Speaker, Mr. Littlefield, and Republican members of the Judiciary Committee."

"Rev. Mr. Nicholson, over his own signature, published a statement that the Littlefield bill was favorably reported to the House during the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress; that the Speaker promised Mr. Littlefield that if he would let it rest on the calendar until after the Congressional elections of 1906 he should have recognition to call it up at the beginning of the second session of that Congress.

"To show the utter untruthfulness of this statement, is only necessary to say, and I believe I have mentioned it above, that the Littlefield bill was not reported until the second session of the Fifty-ninth Congress; or, to be specific, January 24, 1907, within five weeks of the close of that Congress, and three months after the Congressional elections of 1906.

"The Rev. Mr. Nicholson is either a agent kho guesses at what he ought to know, or he deliberately lied.

"I have never courted a war with the Methodist church or its leaders. I know its power for good, and I have had some experience in this campaign with the power of misrepresentation when it finds lodgment in the minds of the bishops and is mistaken for truth.

CONDUCTORS FOR TAFT.

Colorado Railway Unionist Says Judge's Decisions Really Helped Organizations.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. A. Jameson, chairman of the board of adjustment for the Order of Railway Conductors on the Union Pacific, in an interview here, says that the so-called anti-injunction movement against Judge Taft does him a great injustice, as every decision rendered by Taft while on the bench favored union men, and every decision was in line with the best that can be demanded for them. The conductors are taking no stock in the fight, he says, and will be largely in line for the Republican candidate.

Mr. Jameson believed that injunctions are necessary in the interest of justice, and much prefers them to militarism or mob law. He says the decisions of Judge Taft are fair and just, and that, while they compelled some of the railroad orders to change their constitutions to conform to the law, they gave labor a basis upon which to stand and demand its rights.

Had he not done this before Tuesday, it is believed Bryan would have been sure of one electoral vote from this State.

WEIRD FINANCE.

MORSE DEFENDS HIS OWN ACTS.

ACCEPTS ALL RESPONSIBILITY FOR DUMMY LOANS.

In Making Them the Bank Officials Had but Acted at His Request. He Disclaims Any Intention of Keeping Secret Any of the Transactions.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—For more than six hours today Charles W. Morse sat in the witness chair in the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court endeavoring to defend his financial operations in connection with the National Bank of North America which resulted in the indictment of himself and Alfred H. Curtis, on charges of conspiracy and violation of the national banking laws.

All went smoothly during the morning session, but late in the day, when United States Dist.-Atty. Stimson took up the cross examination for the government, sharp, accusing questions were put to the financier.

Mr. Morse went to the witness stand to continue his testimony immediately after the trial was resumed, today. He said he accepted full responsibility for the so-called dummy loans, made in the name of Leslie B. Whiting, a 19-year-old office boy. The loans were made by Curtis and Wire, as officials of the National Bank of North America, said Mr. Morse, but in making them they had acted at his request and he considered himself responsible for the loans. If the loans were not reported to the Comptroller of the Currency, however, the omission was not due to any request made by him and the act of omission was without his knowledge.

Coming to the loan made by Wesley M. Oler, president of the American Ice Company, on 1000 shares of ice stock, Morse said he had been assured of lasting gratitude by Oler, because of his action in that instance. He said that when he informed Oler that he would permit him to make a loan on the stock, the president of the ice company appeared to be immensely pleased.

"He repeatedly thanked me," said Mr. Morse, "even to the extent of saying that his wife and children would remember me in their prayers. He told me I had put him on his feet and given him a chance no one else ever had given him."

Mr. Morse told of various properties the American Ice Company owns, of the water rights, permitting ice to be cut at various places and the actual investment in outfits, etc., the company owned in New York, Washington, Baltimore and other cities. He said he was thoroughly familiar with the ice company's property.

"What did you consider the stock of the ice company really and actually worth?" he was asked.

"I thought it worth fully par and its earning capacity easily 7 per cent.," he replied.

Morse contradicted the statement alleged to have been made to him by his co-defendant, Mr. Curtis, that he had "busted" the National Bank of North America.

Mr. Morse spent the larger part of the day in explaining his action in connection with the National Bank of North America and maintained that everything he did was done in the full light and in the bank's interest.

When Mr. Morse started to tell of a conversation he had in this city with Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely in October and November, 1907, counsel for Mr. Morse in arguing against the objection, that Comptroller Ridgely in those conversations not only absolved Mr. Morse from all responsibility regarding the affairs concerning the National Bank of North America but even accused going into the banking business with him."

THE CITRUS FRUIT TARIFF.

At Meetings in San Gabriel Valley Rush Mad Telling Points Against McLachlan.

At Azusa Dimas and Lordsburg last night, Ed Rush, Democratic candidate for Congress, made holes in the statements of the apologists for Congressman McLachlan to the effect that he, McLachlan, is the man who secured for growers the present protective tariff on fruit fruits. Mr. Rush pointed out the fact that McLachlan was not a member of Congress when the Dingley bill, which placed the tariff on citrus fruits, was passed, and that no legislation effecting the citrus fruits has been passed, or even proposed, since the passage of the Dingley bill in 1897.

During the afternoon Mr. Rush made a trip through the San Gabriel Valley, addressing meetings in the open air at all the towns, and winding up at Lordsburg and San Dimas in the evening. Tonight Mr. Rush will be one of the speakers at the Democratic rally in this city, when Congressman Hobson will be the principal address.

Six Entries Already Assured, With Others Coming.

Locomobile Makes Sixty Miles on Banked Curves.

Franklin Holds Favorite Place but Has no Cinch.

Locomobile — R. J. Leavitt, Murray Page, drivers.

Franklin—Guy Irwin, driver.

Pope-Hartford — William Reuss, driver.

Sunset—Frank Free, driver.

Chalmers-Detroit, "Bluebird" —Bert Dingley, driver.

Studebaker — Harry Lord, driver.

Six cars are entered in the twenty-four-hour automobile race at Ascot Park this afternoon. It is almost certain that seven will start, as an additional entry is to be made this morning. The entries are to close at 9 a.m.

Indications are that the race will be the best ever held in the West. That it will be a contest from the moment the starter sends the cars chugging off the first turn until time is called at 10 o'clock Sunday night, every one who knows is agreed. The spectators are promised many thrills during the long run around the course.

There is an element of danger which will add to the fascination of this night and day race. Only skilled drivers can take part and hope to escape serious accident. Both of the curves have been banked and made as safe as possible, but with even this precaution the danger of collision, or of a car being turned into a ditch, is great.

Some of the drivers will attempt to guide their cars throughout the entire contest. The race will be as severe a test on the men as on the cars.

Groomed into the pink of condition for the long grind the cars are ready for the test. Yesterday the spattering of the exhausts of the unfettered engines sounded like the attack of a battery of pom-poms. Some of the fastest cars in America are entered.

OUTCOME DOUBTFUL.

The addition of the Studebaker to the list of starters has made the outcome of the contest more doubtful. Harry Lord will drive at least part of the race, and H. Adams the remainder. The car has been skeletonized, every ounce of unnecessary weight being removed. The Lord Motor Car Company will enter the Studebaker and pin base high hopes on the car's ability to keep in the van.

Several fair-sized wagers were laid yesterday on the result. The Franklin still holds the field as favorite, Ralph Hamlin offered to bet $500 that his car will win. He had his money up last night but it was not covered.

Bert Dingley's "Bluebird" has many friends. The car was made ready last night and was given its trial run by electric light. The course is fast. Several others of the racing cars were sent over the track.

There is a probability that theree will be run with three two-hour sets taken at intervals of six hours each. Bert Dingley will endeavor to drive the entire race.

Never in local automobile history have so many fast cars been entered in a meet. The race at Ascot today will not only bring out good cars but will also contain good drivers.

The Locomobile, one of the fastest of the racers, was driven sixty miles an hour around the curves last night. The machine bounded over the track like a thing of life, and was roaring like a rocket in the glare of the arc-lights.

The crowd will have an excellent opportunity to watch the race on the mile track as each car will probably pass the grand stand from 800 to 1000 times during the contest. A candid view of the entire course can be had from the big grand stand.

Sullivan Beats Seager.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Kid Sullivan of Washington was given the decision over Larry Seager of this city tonight, after fifteen rounds of hard fighting before the Eureka Athletic Club. The men fought hard from the first tap of the bell, and both took a good beating. For five rounds the battle was a seven affair. After this the tide gradually turned to Sullivan's favor, and from the tenth to the finish it was a the Kid's. The terrific blows that Sullivan landed over Seager's kidneys did the business, taking all the steam and strength out of the local boy.

F. C. Fenner entered his "Black Bess" in the Los Angeles-Phoenix race yesterday. His $500 forfeit money was deposited with John H. Mitchell, manager of the Hollenbeck last night. The entry of the White assures at least three cars in the race.

Early yesterday morning A. J. Smith telegraphed his entry from Phoenix. The money was deposited by D. B. Rose at this end and Smith and his Elmore will start next Saturday night. When Fenner heard that Smith was in the race he at once put up his check.

Three cars are now entered in the Los Angeles-Phoenix race and possibly a fourth, the Locomobile, will start. This insures a spirited contest for the SAINTS AND MINERS.

The St. Vincent's College football team and Colorado School of Mines will meet at Fiesta Park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the first interstate game of the season.

The Colorado eleven probably is the strongest team that has played here since Stanford and Berkeley came south with their famous aggregations of 1905, and if the Saints are able to make good Coach Hempel's boast that they are 50 per cent. stronger than last year, the game should prove closely contested and exciting.

Interstate football games were practically unknown in this city previous to last year, when St. Vincent's brought the Oregon "Aggies" and Utah University here and played them at Fiesta Park. Hempel has arranged two big games for this season, one of which will be played otday and the other with the Utah "Aggies," November 14.

The showing the Saints make today against the Miners will determine in large measure the place of local teams in the western football realm. If the south is able to develop a team strong enough to compete with the best elevens of the West, larger out-of-town schedules probably will be arranged in future years.

The Miners indulged in a two-hour limbering-up practice at Occidental College yesterday afternoon, behind closed gates. Great secrecy was maintained regarding the place where the team was to practice, and their appearance at Occidental was a surprise to the students.

Coach Russell, a former Chicago University player, sent the men around the track for two laps, and then the team ran through signal drills. Six sisting chiefly of end runs, tackle bucks and line plunges.

THE REAL THING.

The Coloradans look like real football players. The men are not very heavy, but they are well developed and husky, and handle themselves well. The average age of the players seems to be considerably over twenty-one. The players are very accurate in catching punts and falling on the ball, and in these departments of the game yesterday gave an exhibition such as is seldom seen among the local teams.

General Athletic Director Will C. Bryan claims that every player on the squad is carrying a full course of study at the Colorado School of Mines and that the team meets in all respects the rigid requirements of the Colorado football conference. Only four members of last year's championship team returned to school this year, but the new players have filled the vacancies with only a slight loss of strength.

The visitors will slightly outweigh the Saints, the greatest difference occurring in the center of the line, where the five miners will overbalance their rivals ten pounds to the man. However, in the other positions the Saints will have an advantage or even break in weight.

Both teams are in excellent shape for the battle and they will fight hard for victory. A big rally was held at St. Vincent's last night, and the students, alumni, and friends of the college will support the team in large numbers. The Catholics have confidence in themselves to take the visitors into camp and every man has pledged himself to play the game of his life.

GOOD OFFICIALS.

"Bill" Traeger is to referee, Coach Warner will umpire, and Ralph Noble will act as field judge. Traeger probably is the best referee in the South, and as U.S.C. has no game this afternoon, the Methodist coach has consented to officiate.

The miners will return to Denver tomorrow over the Salt Lake Route. The team is to play Denver University next Saturday. The line-up:

OCCIDENTAL GAME.

The Occidental College football team is to meet the college department eleven of Throop Polytechnic Institute at Highland Park this morning at 10 o'clock. As the Pasadenans were easily beaten by Pomona College, the Presbyterians are not expecting a hard fight, and Coach Gorton will try out several second team men.

Capt. Wieman, Fred Thompson, Kellogg and Collins are suffering from minor injuries that have been aggravated by constant practice, and these men probably will be kept out of the game unless absolutely needed. The Presbyterians are beginning to prepare for the U.S.C. game next Saturday, and no chances for injuries to the regular players will be taken.

The Presbyterians are to line up as follows: Gordon, right end; Patterson, right tackle; Smart, right guard; Conrad, center; H. Thomson, left guard; Landreth, left tackle; Hopkins, left end; Thomas, quarterback; Fish, right halfback; Johnson, left halfback; Robertson, fullback.

The Harvard Military Academy football team will play Russ High School at San Diego this afternoon. Coach Boren took the cadets south yesterday morning, and they will return to this city tonight.

The San Diego team was badly beaten by Harvard two weeks ago on the Harvard grounds, but the southerners believe they can make a better showing on their own campus.

GAME AT POMONA.

one-sided victory over the Pomonans in this city two weeks ago, but the short-enders have improved greatly since that time, as evidenced by their victory over the Castaways last Saturday.

Rowell, the regular Poly halfback, who sustained a sprained ankle in the Redlands game, will be unable to play today, and Mead will take his place. Malone has recovered from his injuries, and will be in his regular position. Coach Thompson will accompany the team.

The mechanics will line up as follows: Forwards, Ahmstead, Price, Lehman, Kurrie, Kallmeyer, Miller, Porter, Hendrickson; halfbacks, Manning, Mead; three-quarters, Pierce, Hannan, Pratt, Newman, Franklin; fullback, Malone.

The Occidental Academy football team is to meet the Long Beach High School eleven at Long Beach this afternoon. After trying Rugby for two years, the beach town boys have readopted the American game, and have formed a fast team. The "preps" have yet to win a game this season, and as the players are in good condition and have been executing their open formations well in practice, they expect to score a victory.

PLAYERS WILL "BLOW."

MANY TO START EAST.

The long season of the Pacific Coast League will come to an end with the game tomorrow and within two days a bunch of the men on both the Portland and Los Angeles teams will permit the trains to take them east, while many will remain in this end of the State all winter.

Of the Champions, Dillon, Smith, Nagle and Gray will go for a long hunting trip to Laguna, which is down along the Orange county coast. Howard is to start Monday for his home in Kinney, Ill. Delmas, Brashear, Wheeler, Hogan, Phillips and Bernard will remain in this city. Easterly intends to play ball near Imperial; Thorsen and Koestner will leave Monday for their homes in Illinois; Hosp will go to his home at Oceanside; Briswalter to his home at Rivera, and later on Oakes will play winter ball in San Diego.

Of the Beavers, the bunch that will jump out Sunday night will consist of Jack Ryan, for Denver; Phil Cooney, for New York; Tom Madden, to his home in Boston; Jess Garrett, for Stephensville, Tex., and Bobby Groom for Belleville, Ill. Tom Raftery will start tonight for Boston. Ed Kinsella and wife left Thursday night for Bloomington, Ill. Jack Graney and Harold Dansig are to go with Mike Fisher's bunch of live ones on the All-Star trip to the Orient. Walter Frambes will stick around this city for a month or more and Pearl Casey, Walter McCreedie, Ote Johnson and Johnny Bassey will leave next week to pass the winter in Portland.

RACING FOR NEVADA.

Tom Williams Has Agents in the Sagebrush State, Figuring on a Very Long Charter.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENO, Oct. 30.—The Sparks Frum, the anti-gambling organ, is authority for the statement that emissaries of T. H. Williams, of the New California Jockey Club, are in this city.

They are to consult legislative candidates for the purpose of securing legislation by the next Legislature that will permit horse racing to be chartered in Nevada for a period of twenty-five years. It is the purpose, according to the foregoing authority, of the race track people to make Nevada a racing State not equaled by any in the union.

Baker and O'Toole.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry Baker of San Francisco and Tommy O'Toole of this city tonight fought a fierce six-round battle in the ring of the State Athletic Club, and at the finish honors were even between them. Baker had a slight advantage at the end of the fifth round, but O'Toole set a terrific pace in the sixth, and evened up matters.

Griffin Turns Tables.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charlie Griffin, the featherweight champion of Australia, tonight turned the tables on Bert Keyes, the local lightweight, by outpointing the lagter in their six-round fight at the National Athletic Club. Griffin evidently profited by his former experience with Keyes, for he fought in close and did not give the blonde lightweight a chance to set himself for a punch. When these two boys fought before Keyes won by a knockout in the fifth round.

Fullerton Is Winner.

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—A basketball game was played here this afternoon by the Fullerton and Anaheim High School teams. In the first half of the game Fullerton had the ball all

SLUG JOHNSON HARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With an off-day for both teams and with the fielders playing "near baseball," instead of the genuine article, the Seals gathered in another game from the Commuters, today.

Both sides totalled up five errors each but Browning scattered his hits, while the locals were slinging Johnson of Oakland for singles, doubles, a triple and a homer. Aside from the heavy slugging of the ball by the locals and some rattling good stops by McArdle on occasions, the game was lacking in features.

Johnson was pounded from the jump and to good effect. In the first inning, Melchoir was scored on his own single and Bodie's two-bagger. The second added three more runs to the San Francisco list.

Aided by errors by Johnson and young Smith, the catcher, backed up by a double and a single, with three sacrifice hits, two of which went wrong as far as Oakland was concerned, Beck, Berry and McArdle passed around the circuit of bases.

In the sixth Berry and McArdle bunched long singles, one scoring on a sacrifice fly and the other on a passed ball. Beck's home run in the seventh added two more and Mohler put the last run of the day over.

McCay scored in the sixth for Oakland on a hit and an error by Mohler, coming home when Heitmuller rapped a hard one to Zeider that was fumbled. In the eighth, McCay, who was safe on a fielder's choice, went to third in a two-bagger by Heitmuller and scored when McArdle juggled with a grounder from Lewis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is learned from a reliable source that the bout between Packy McFarland and Tommy Murphy, the Harlem fighter, will most likely be fought at the National Athletic Club of Philadelphia in a few weeks.

The meeting of the managers of both fighters, and Match Maker Jack McGuigan, the fight promoter of Philadelphia, will be held soon, and if Jim Buckley then informs them that he will be unable to bring off the bout at Sulzer's Harlem River Park on November 16, the match will be taken by Mc-

LOCALS TRIM NEW BUSHERS.

Beavers Try Local Heavers and Drop Game.

Three Passes Are Responsible for as Many Runs.

George Wheeler Pitches in His Old-time Form.

Los Angeles, 3; Portland, 1.

With the tail end of the season waiting to switch him in the face tomorrow afternoon, McCredie of the Beavers stuck in a lot of local bush leaguers to work for him yesterday, and to the surprise of even themselves the kids performed very acceptably in their début in Class A ball. The Champions beat them all right, and did not seem to play hard to do it, either, for they went at the game in an indifferent manner. With the steam turned off under both boilers there was nothing sensational in the performance.

If the new bushers had been a little more careful they might have trimmed the locals, for the three runs that were scored by Los Angeles, started with passes. Such things frequently do, but they are always noticed with more intenseness when a bush heaver works. However, the fans got more than they expected, and the game was really a very pretty one all the way.

Before the game was ended McCredie had his line-up patched like a crazy quilt. Shortstop Cooney was switched to third base; Busher McQuade was at short; Busher Ferraris pitched for six innings, while Busher Price was the catcher. After the first inning, Raftery left the game and Graney played center, and in the last two innings Busher Harkness pitched; Madden was behind the bat, and in the ninth inning Groom batted for McQuade.

George Wheeler tried his hand at heaving, and his work made the old-timers look back three or four years to the time when he was one of the bright stars of the league, and he certainly had the goods yesterday. The Beavers rapped him for three swats right off the reel, but after that he had them guessing, and in the last eight innings allowed but two scattered singles, and fanned seven men. This is going some for a "utility" player.

In the first inning, with one out, Cooney singled to right, and then Raftery tried to hit the ball over the left fence near the foul line, but was short about two inches, for the pill hit the board on top of the fence and bounded back into the yard. This put Cooney on third, and he easily scored on Dansig's await to left. In the fourth Graney walked and Dansig followed with a single. Ryan's out at first advanced both of these men a base, and then Wheeler filled the bags with a pass to Bassey. Runs looked sure at this time, but Wheeler killed them off by fanning out McQuade and Price in succession.

Ferraris got along through the first inning all right, but in the second walked Hosp and he scored on successive singles by Hogan and Wheeler. In the third Hosp walked again, ran to third on a passed ball and scored on Hogan's out. Then Ferraris escaped without a hit off him for the next two innings, and quit the game at the end of the sixth. A new busher named Harkness took his place, and Hosp was an easy out at first. Hogan was passed and when Harkness threw wildly, past first base, trying to catch Hogan, Happy ran to second and scored a moment later on Wheeler's doubles to left.

WRIGHT HAS ACCIDENT.

LEMANS, Oct. 30.—While Wilbur Wright, the American aeroplanist, was making a flight this morning, the motor of the machine exploded. Mr. Wright landed without injury and the aeroplane was not otherwise damaged. The accident was due to the crosshead having become worn out and giving way. Repairs were effected in a short time and Mr. Wright continued his demonstrations.

II.

"Deceives David by Assumed Piety." (Verses 7-9.)

"And it came to pass after four years, that Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go and pay my vow, which I have vowed unto the Lord, in Hebron.

"For they servant vowed a vow while I abode at Geshur in Syria, saying, If the Lord shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, then I will serve the Lord.

"And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron."

The time had come to launch the revolution, for he had spent four years preparing for it and all things were ready. Hebron is the very best place. There Absalom was born, and there he still had popularity; there he would find a lingering resentment against David for having taken the capital from them to Jerusalem; thither he could go under the pretext of a religious duty; thither he could most easily get David's consent that he go.

He had deceived David all along in a degree; he deceives him now. All of which shows the old king's weakness.

III.

"Proclaimed King." (Verses 10-12.)

But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, As soon as ye hear the sound of the trumpet, then ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.

"And with Absalom went 200 men out of Jerusalem, that were called; and they went in their simplicity, and they knew not anything.

"And Absalom sent for Ahithophel, the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city, even from Giloh, while he offered sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong; for the people increased continually with Absalom."

His plans were well formed. His organization of the conspiracy was perfect.

(1.) Spies were sent out to all parts of the country to have the people worked on ready to shout for the new king.

(2.) Trumpeters were stationed at regular intervals to send the news down the line. It was a telegraph system that sent the news over the whole nation in a few hours.

(3.) He had taken from Jerusalem 200 of the most influential men, who knew nothing of his designs. When the proclamation was made they would have to unite with him or be put in a very bad light.

(4.) He had the assistance of one of the greatest diplomats, Ahithophel, who had been a confidential counselor of David's but now wanted to get revenge for the way the latter had treated his grand-daughter, Bathsheba. Absalom is proclaimed King.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

"The Gate of the Lion," in Fez, Morocco, is a fine archway, under which the Governor holds his public court and deals out justice. "He sits cross-legged, attended by his secretaries, in a deep niche in the gateway, while in a semi-circle before him squat his dozens of white-robed and red-capped soldiers. Before him kneel the plaintiff and the defendant, both talking volubly at the same time, and each calling God to witness that the other is a liar." Middle-aged people tell me that they remember well when the gate of Joppa was also the courthouse, as the gate of Fez is now.—[Howie.

To worship in order to be respectable, to profess religion for the sake of trade, to utter pious phrases in order to win popular applause, are but the less repulsive forms of the very crime of Absalom. How abominable such persons must appear in the sight of the all-searching God.—[Chapman.

POINTS TO IMPRESS.

(1.) That "indulgence never awakens gratitude or love in the heart of a child."

(2.) That we must learn to look down into the motives.

(3.) That the victim of the flatterer is as contemptible as he is.

(4.) That a son is in duty bound to care for his father in old age or emergencies.

(5.) That the meanest thief is he who steals another's friend or fame.

(6.) That the noble-minded are usually slow to suspect others of being ignoble.

(7.) That evil-doers are doomed to final defeat.

Christian Endeavor.

THE SECRET OF PEACE.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies—Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union, Epworth League, etc.—for November 1. Topic: "Songs of the Heart. XI. The Sleepless Watcher."—[Ps. cxxi.

By William T. Ellis.

As the joyous hosts of Israel wended their pilgrim way up to the Feast of Jerusalem, they sang the songs of the heart which we have in the Book of Psalms under the sub-captions, "A Song of Ascents." These profound utterances, which used to ring to the bright Judean hearts of men nad women the world around. Especially dear and familiar is the Psalm which the young people's societies are to study this week:

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the mountains;
From whence shall my help come?
My help cometh from Jehovah,
Who made heaven and earth.

"He will not suffer thy foot to be moved;
He that keepeth thee will not slumber.
Behold, he that keepeth Israel will neither slumber nor sleep.
Jehovah is thy keeper;
Jehovah is thy shade upon thy right hand.

"The sun shall not smite thee by day,
Nor the moon by night.
Jehovah will keep thee from all evil;
He will keep thy soul.
Jehovah will keep thy going out and thy coming in,
From this time forth and for evermore."

It is not man's weakness, but man's strength, that, in all final issues, he is dependent upon a Higher Power than himself.

The old translation of this beautiful psalm made the singer look to the hills for help: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." The revision renders it better, for the heart's help comes from a higher source than the hills: "From whence cometh my help? My help cometh from Jehovah." Stronger than the mountains, loftier than the sources of their beneficent springs, is the help of the Lord Himself. The mountains are round about Jerusalem; but to the myriads of people who have never seen a mountain this figure does not appeal; they do know, however, the power and preciousness of the all-enfolding protection of the Almighty.

The best of earthly help fails. The strongest of men know what it is to feel their supports tottering beneath them. "Vain is the help of man!" at some time, or other, ...

WILL MEAN LESS MISERY HERE

GIVES PRESCRIPTION WHICH ANYONE CAN EASILY MIX AT HOME

Kidneys and Bladder Readily Relieved by This Simple Home-Made Mixture—Make Some and Try It—A Noted Authority Says There Will Be Less Disease Here If This Prescription Becomes Known.

Here is a prescription that anyone can mix at home. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients named at little cost; being composed of vegetable extracts, it is harmless and inexpensive. Best of all, it does its work well, relieving even the worst forms of bladder trouble, frequent urination, backache, kidney complaint, and by its direct action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, makes these most vital organs rid the blood and system of waste matter and uric acid which causes rheumatism.

Here it is; try it, if you suffer. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half oz.; Compound Kargon, one oz.; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ozs.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Former sufferers often state that one week's use shows curative results in nearly every instance, and such symptoms as lame back, frequent desire to urinate, pain in bladder and even chronic rheumatism are generally relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

learns that there is a Sleepless Watcher, an omnipotent Guardian and an unfailing Friend.

Life is perplexing. There are occasions when it baffles everybody. To many it is a lane between two rows of grinning sphinxes. All of us need assistance from without ourselves in mastering the mystery of life. Who so well able to help as He who planned our lives, and of whom the Psalmist cried, "My times are in thy hand?" For the child of God existence is not a mere surprising sequence of unrelated and fortuitous "happening;" it is a plan of a loving, divine Father, whose thoughts toward us are all merciful.

There is sweet sleep and rest for the believer in the assurance that the sleepless eye of the heavenly Father keeps watch over him.

The sentinel figure was in the Psalmist's mind when he penned the lines concerning the Guardian of Israel who never sleeps. Everybody is familiar with the work of the sentry, who watches the camp night and day, that no enemy may approach. The regiment and army give no thought to their own safety; they sleep in peace, because of the vigilance of the guards who are ever on post. So the peace of God sentinels the heart of the Christian. He should be free from care and fear, because of the unsleeping Watcher.

That God cares is the greatest remedy for man's cares.

Of His high attributes, beyond the most
...k my God for that omniscient
...e,
Beneath whose blaze no secret thing can lie
In His infinitude of being lost.
I bless my God and I am not wrecked and tossed
Upon a sea of doubt, with power to fly
And hide, somewhither in immensity,
One single sin out of His reckoning crossed.
For even there, self-conscious of its thrall,
Would spring the terror: "If He saw the whole
And tracked this skulking guilt out to its goal,
He could not pardon!" But or great or small,
He sees the inmost folding...s of my soul,
And, seeing utterly, forgives my all.
—[Anon.

The all-seeing Eye is a deterrent, as well as an incentive. It restrains from evil, and inspires to good.

A child delights to "show off" before his father. His greatest reward is the beholding approval of a pleasant and affectionate parent. So the consciousness that the unsleeping Shepherd of Israel both watches out for us, and watches us, is a deep source of comfort and strength. His is not the hostile eye of the jailer or the critic, but the tender, loving and gladdened eye of a Father whose highest happiness is the well-doing of His child.

He was the strongest man I knew,
Serene and self-secure;
Fashioned to mock at time and chance,
To suffer and endure.

I saw him poor, unknown, despised,
Hew out his gradual way;
I saw him battle mighty wrongs,
As if the war were play.

I saw him lift men up, and best,
When life went like a song
Of pleasant things, I saw him still Simple and pure and strong.

And, learning of his faith, I asked
How such a thing need be
In one so strong, and whence it came,
And thus he answered me:

"God lives, God reigns, God loves the world:
This much at least I know
With all my heart and soul, because—
Because I need Him so!"

TITLE, NOT MEAL, TICKET.

NOBLE SWEEPS CITY PRISON.

WORKING OUT BILL FOR DINNER HE WANTED CHARGED.

Armand Geron, Claiming to Be a Scion of Ducal Family, Says He Followed Sister's French Maid to America and Will Marry Her in Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Trouble between England and the United States is threatened by Armand Geron, scion of a British ducal family, if he is not released from the Harrison-street Police Station instanter.

For neglecting to pay a bill for a sumptuous dinner, secured at a Madison-street restaurant yesterday, Geron was arrested and sentenced to do janitor work around the city prison until he had worked out the amount of the bill.

His Grace admitted that Geron was a fictitious name, but insisted that he was a nobleman.

"My sister recently married an Italian count," he asserted. "Previous to this she had a French governess, named Marie la Zelle. My father learned that I was infatuated with Marie, and that I had announced my intention of marrying her. He gave her money and told her to leave the country. I followed her to France, then to this country, and after going through several States, located her in Los Angeles, Cal. She is living there now. I care not for title. I want my lady love. I will inherit a fortune from an estate by January 1, and then I will proceed to make Marie my wife."

GETS OFFERS OF JOBS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the road leading from popularity to obscurity and then back to popularity may be traveled quickly, after one has aired his story in a Police Court is demonstrated by the present acting as valet to Inspector Wheeler at the Harrison-street Police Station.

Three careers lie open for his lordship—theatrical, mechanical and clerical. Theaters of the vaudeville character want him, a fashionable woman wants him as chauffeur and several business houses want his hand to wield the pen.

"Really," said his lordship, "I am in a quandary. I can't think what 'profession' I would like to follow until I come into my titles."

ATLANTIC COASTERS DRIVEN IN.

Gale Sweeps New England Being Particularly Severe Off Cape Cod.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—The New England coast today was visited by a storm of wind and rain of greater severity than has been experienced since last winter.

The storm center was in the vicinity of Nantucket, and Cape Cod bore the brunt of the gale. Even the turbine steamer Cale, bound from New York to Boston, could not weather the storm and joined a fleet of coasters anchored under protection of Monomoy Point. Several minor marine accidents were reported.

The storm was well on its way to Cape Race at noon when the weather began to clear.

FOR NATIONAL HEALTH LAW.

President Will Recommend Action by Congress—Doctor Points Out Great Saving.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—That President Roosevelt has agreed to recommend to Congress in his next message, the passage of a law to conserve the health of the public, similar to the one proposed by the American Medical Association, was the statement made last night in an address at the New York Academy of Medicine by Charles A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, O., chairman of the Association Committee on national medical legislation.

In speaking of the campaign for national health laws, Dr. Reed said:

"On the heels of the various steps forward, I am gratified to be able to assure you that the President has authorized the statement that he ...

13,000 ...ctors in the United States, not only to ...ck the President in his work, but to ...nticipate those actions by a persist... campaign in behalf of this fundamental feature of the public welfare."

Over ...,000 persons die every year of cancer... said, and the death rate from ... cause is increasing by leaps and bounds.

If or... one-half of the persons who die or... incapicitated, as the result of tuberculosis and typhoid, were saved, Dr. Reed declared, it would mean saving in money sufficient to maint... a "national health bureau, pay for the army and navy, fortify our coasts, duplicate our armament on our seas, open our internal waterways and ... years would pay for the Panama Canal, and wipe out our national debt.

TURN YOUR WORK INTO PLAY AND MAKE MORE MONEY.

5 ACRES COSTS ONLY $1250,
$5 CASH AND $5 PER ACRE PER MONTH.

You can make more money on 5 acres at Monte Vista than on 40 acres at many other places. It's all in the productivity and usefulness of the soil and the abundance of the water. At Monte Vista the soil is among the best in the State for oranges, and the water is developed and piped. The water stock goes free with the land. Every modern facility is at hand. The railroads and the packing-houses are right there on the tract. There is no lost time; nor no lost effort. Every improvement made by your neighbors reacts on the rising value of your own property.

JUST TO PROVE THIS STATEMENT.

You will find upon investigation that improved orange groves surrounding Monte Vista are being sold at prices ranging from $1000 to $2000 an acre. Monte Vista has the same future. All it needs is your effort, and there is no farm industry wherein so little effort counts for so much as in orange-growing.

GO AND SEE MONTE VISTA AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Monte Vista lands are good for all farm products. They are true for fruits of all kinds, for olives, grapes and lemons. Grain, alfalfa, berries, melons, and all garden vegetables yield big profits. Crimson rhubarb is returning $60 to $70 net per acre a year in that district. The property is only 40 minutes from Los Angeles, ten minutes east of Pomona, and half a mile west of the postoffice at Ontario.

BUSINESS AND MAKE THE MONEY ON THE ADVANCING VALUE.
$250 FOR AN ACRE.
$20 DOWN, $10 A MONTH.

If you visit Somerset you will find just what you wish. If you like a high, sightly elevation you will find it there. If you like good soil, the best sandy loam is in Somerset. If you like plenty of pure water you will find it flowing there spontaneously. If you wish productive land, it is at Somerset, where everything grows in abundance.

THE PRICE IS FAR LESS THAN IT OUGHT TO BE.

Values all around it are steadily advancing. You can take up an acre there, be within 30 minutes of your business in the city, raise all your own vegetables and more, too. Keep your own chickens with profit, grow all their feed and make big money on the advancing values.

THE WATER DON'T COST A CENT.

It is piped in big steel mains direct to each acre. This is different from paying $20 a year for water and being limited as to quantity. This water flows without pumping. It is so pure and so good that it is being sold in the city by the bottle.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY STATION IS RIGHT THERE ON THE TRACT.

Fast transportation to and from the business section. You can live there and work in town and long before you have an acre paid for it will have doubled or even trebled in value. This great spreading city is fast increasing its area and Somerset is becoming a very important suburb of it.

M'CAREY MAY SIGN ATTELL.

FEATHER CHAMPION PREFERS A TEN-ROUND BOUT.

Welsh Is Willing to Meet Able at Any Old Distance and Has Given His Consent for a Match—Local Scrap Promoters Have New Rival in Club at Race Track Town.

The Attell-Welsh fight for this city is not much nearer a settlement this morning than it was yesterday morning and it need not surprise any of the fight bugs if the McCarey Club got the battle instead of the Jeffries Club. As a matter of fact, Attell has not yet decided in his own mind in which club he wants to fight but the chances are that he will take the McCarey pavilion because the bout cannot go more than ten rounds there, while the distance could be 100 rounds if necessary at the other club.

Attell was to have met Long yesterday for a conference but did not keep his appointment and last night he could not be found. He is not particularly anxious for Welsh over ten rounds and this makes the local sports think that he will take the McCarey proposition. Welsh has told McCarey to go ahead and make the match for ten rounds and it will probably be arranged today.

M'CAREY CARD READY.

BOXERS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Jim Flynn and Jim Barry put in a hard day's work yesterday. At the end they declared themselves in shape for the battle at McCarey's pavilion next Friday evening. Barry went on the road in the morning and worked for over an hour in the afternoon at his Vernon quarters. He ended up his day with four rounds of boxing with George Herberts.

Flynn did eight miles on the road early yesterday and in his afternoon workout he used up all of his sparring partners, but the fireman was fresh and willing to take on more when he was stopped.

The complete card for Friday is as follows:

Jim Flynn and Jim Barry, ten rounds.

Eddie Danaher and Willie Mack, six rounds.

Mike Dalton and Congo Coon, six rounds.

Young McGovern and Kid Brennan, six rounds.

The bout between McGovern and Kid Brennan is arousing interest, as it will be McGovern's first appearance in Los Angeles for nearly a year. For a time the fans were disgusted with the tincaning methods of the "dummy" but since his two battles north he has shown that he is willing to fight and Manager McCarey decided to give him one more chance to make good and he will be allowed to meet Brennan for six rounds. Brennan is a Chicago product and has come to the Coast to show the patrons of the game that he is capable of meeting Johnny Coulon for the championship and this will be his first appearance in the city. He will outweigh McGovern several pounds but this never has troubled the Los Angeles boy and he has agreed to go on with Brennan at 112 pounds.

ARCADIA CLUB.

FIRST CARD SUNDAY.

Local fight promoters will have to look to their laurels these days, for a new fight club has been organized at Arcadia to be known as the White City Club. It will present its first card tomorrow afternoon and this will consist of four fights of six rounds each, the first one to begin at 2 o'clock. The programme is as follows:

Jimmy Austin and Roy Rogers; Kid Adams and Benny Sibleton; "Red" Fitzsimmons and Joe Rogers; Kid Spencer and Jim Baxter. Three or four of these boys are well known in local preliminary circles and the show looks good enough on paper to be worth a visit.

Manitoban Writes Letter to Washington Insane Asylum Head, Demanding Woman's Release.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A. R. Exley, general manager of the Anglo-Canadian Land Company, has arrived here from Tacoma and states in a letter written to the daily papers that his wife is being illegally detained in an asylum for insane and is prevented from writing him. He says he has written a letter to Dr. Calhoun, State superintendent of the Western Hospital for Insane at Steilacoom, near Tacoma, giving him twenty-four hours to deliver his wife to him at Vancouver.

MOTHER SELLS DAUGHTERS.

Charged With Importing Them for Immorality.

Woman and Son Lived on Ill-gotten Earnings.

Four Girls Held for Trial of Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Alexander Swain was bound over today by the United States Commissioner at Fort Benton to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of importing her four daughters from Canada for immoral purposes.

The investigation of the immigration officials revealed one of the worst cases of moral depravity every encountered. The woman is the mother of four daughters and a son, and, assisted by him, she is alleged to have brought the girls, last fall, from Canada and lodged them in houses of ill fame at Havre. Then the mother and the son lived off their earnings. Mary and Agnes, two of the daughters, are held at Fort Benton to await a hearing for deportation. Addie and Martha, the other daughters, are confined in the Lewis and Clark County Jail on the same charge.

John Schlits was taken into custody at Sand Point, where he was living with one of the girls. He is also here awaiting trial.

Deputy Marshal Drum brought Mrs. Swain here today.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—That Mrs. Mabelle Dunphy, wife of a Boston physician, charged with stealing jewelry and negotiable paper, valued at $9000, from Charles E. Giles, a wealthy lender of Dorchester, Mass., had an accomplice, is now believed by the police. While the local authorities, acting on this theory, yesterday, were searching for a man named Cohen, Mrs. Dunphy's career in Boston was revealed by the police of that city.

Meanwhile, the woman's husband, Dr. John Dunphy, No. 114 Court street, has issued a statement, in which he declares her to be innocent of the charges preferred by Giles.

Mrs. Dunphy, Boston police say, was formerly known as Maybelle Sheppard, and appeared in burlesque at the "Old Howard" in Boston.

According to the police of that city, she and Giles met there and the two started together on a trip across the continent. On their return from San Francisco Giles and his companion stopped over in Chicago, registering at the Greater Northern Hotel.

Cohen described by the Chicago police as a gambler, who formerly knew Mrs. Dunphy in Boston, is said to have been seen in the hotel lobby shortly before the diamonds and the woman disappeared.

FINDS HUSBAND DEAD.

BODY FOUND BY SON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Paul N. Hanby, wife of a well-known West Oakland druggist, returned to her home late yesterday, and found her husband dead upon the floor. By his side was an empty bottle, with a poison label. He leaves a widow and a daughter. Despondency is supposed to have been the reason for the suicide.

Walter McPeek, a railroad man, was found dead in his room by his son yesterday, when the boy returned from school. McPeek had committed suicide by inhaling gas through a tube. The dead man was partially paralyzed and feared he would be unable to resume work.

NOVICE GETS GEMS.

MAKES WEARER REMOVE THEM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Gaining admission today to the home of Mrs. Eben Adams in New Rochelle, under the pretext that he wished to inspect it with a view to subsequent purchase, a sprucely-dressed young man, compelled Mrs. Adams, at the point of a revolver, to remove her diamond earrings and present them to him.

The nervousness of the burglar and the fact that he left without taking with him other booty than the earrings, which were of comparatively small value, is taken by the police as an indication that he was a novice.

No trace of him has as yet been found.

Local immigration inspectors made a clever capture at River Station yesterday of four contraband Chinamen, who admitted that they were on their way north. They gave the names of Jew Gah, Lay Fook, Sin Yend Jew Ah Fon. DEATH ENDS FUN.

BOY PERISHES UNDER WHEELS.

WHILE PLAYING WITH DOG, RUN OVER BY FREIGHT CARS.

Accident Happens at Rear of Mill on East Seventh Street and no One Witnesses It—Body Taken to the Morgue, Where Inquest Will Be Held Today.

John Fahrenkurg, 11 years old, was instantly killed, about 5 o'clock last night, while playing under a freight car in the rear of the Los Angeles Flour Mill, at No. 1615 East Seventh street. The body was discovered by George Clark, who is employed at the mill. Clark immediately notified the police, and the remains were taken to Pierce Bros.' morgue.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the lad went out to play with his dog in the street. He was seen, half an hour later, climbing in one of the box cars in the rear of the mill. An engine coupled onto the cars and pulled them to the main track. Nobody saw the accident. The mangled body lay about two feet outside of the rails. An inquest will be held today.

TWO WOMEN INJURED.

One Falls from Moving Car and Has Concussion of Brain—Other Nearly Run Over.

Mrs. Charles Hall of No. 1639 West Twenty-third street about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon fell from a West Jefferson-street car at Eighth and Olive streets and sustained a severe scalp wound and concussion of the brain. The car was not stopped, but Homer Laughlin, Jr., of No. 666 West Twenty-eighth street, took the woman home in an automobile. She was attended by Dr. H. B. B. Montgomery, who says that she will recover.

While attempting to board a Main-street car at Fourth and Main streets last night Mrs. L. J. Rose of No. 126 North Bunker Hill street, struck her head against the hand rail, fell backward and narrowly escaped being run over by a wagon. After treatment at the Receiving Hospital she was taken home.

PITCHFORK HER WEAPON.

Man Goes Home Intoxicated, Forces Door Open and Wife Punches Him—Wants Warrant.

When C. H. Bishop, a laborer, went home last night in an intoxicated condition, his wife refused to let him into the house. He forced open the door and Mrs. Bishop met him with a three-pronged fork, he says. After he had been jabbed with it several times he fled and went to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. His injuries consist of several small punctures in the breast and neck.

He applied for a warrant for the arrest of his wife, and says he intends to prosecute her.

WOMEN BEFORE GRAND JURY.

Fourteen witnesses, mostly women of the Tenderloin, were examined by the grand jury yesterday morning and afternoon. A number in attendance, who were not called, were instructed to report again Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Tommy Woolwine spent a half hour with the grand jurors in the morning.

ORANGE.

ORANGE, Oct. 30.—A sad accident occurred on the Plaza yesterday afternoon, just as the children were coming from school, in which Miss Floy Nichols was seriously hurt.

Mrs. A. C. Gearhart was driving around the Plaza in her surrey and met several little girls on wheels. As there was plenty of room on both sides to pass her she did not notice the children much, until Miss Nichols suddenly swerved, as if attempting to cross to the other side of the carriage, and fell, striking her head on the pavement. The family recently moved to town, that the girl might attend the High School.

DEMOCRATS ISSUE CALL FOR WORKERS AT POLLS TUESDAY.

The Los Angeles County Democratic Committee has no office-holders to assess and no corporation funds on which to draw in the conduct of this campaign and must depend on the volunteer services of those who from patriotic motives desire the election of W. J. Bryan.

The Supervisors of Los Angeles county have in many instances failed to heed the recommendation of the Democratic Committee in the appointment of election boards and have in many precincts either appointed known Republicans or unknown Democrats.

This condition of affairs renders it absolutely necessary that the polls be watched and watched carefully on election day and at night while the count is in progress.

As stated, the committee has no office-holders to assess and no corporation funds on which to draw to do this work, and it therefore appeals to all persons who desire the election of Mr. Bryan and who are willing to help in bringing about the result to come to the headquarters of the Campaign Committee at room 134 Coulter building, and tell what they can and will do from now until the ballots are counted and returns sealed up in the vaults of the County Clerk.

These rooms will be open every night till 10 o'clock.

Sample ballots will be kept on hand and the workers will be glad to answer any questions relative to registration or voting.

W. F. HARRIS,
Chairman Democratic Campaign Committee.

NEW PIONEERS RUSH FOR PROMISED LAND.

From a Thousand Eastern Stations Start Today Trainloads of Hopeful Colonists Bound for Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast.

INTO the Promised Land of California—principally Southern California—will be poured by the great trans-continental railroads during the next six days a horde of sturdy, well-to-do colonists, the bone and sinew and brains of the East and Middle West. Today is the last for the sale of the low-rate tickets, and all of the roads are gathering equipment to handle the crowds seeking the Southwest and Pacific Coast. The Santa Fé will bring 8420, over the Southern Pacific will come 7250, and by the Salt Lake line will arrive 4880 colonists, all within a week. The forerunners arrived yesterday.

According to estimates made by the passenger departments of the Santa Fé, Southern Pacific and Salt Lake roads, 23,300 colonists will arrive in California within six days. Most of them are already on the way, and the rest will start tonight, this being the last day of the ticket sale at colonist rates.

Of these colonists, 75 per cent. will come to Southern California, and fully half of these will be brought direct to Los Angeles.

Nine trainloads of colonists will arrive in Los Angeles today. Five over the Southern Pacific and two over each of the other roads. One of the trains coming over the Santa Fé will arrive in four sections at 8 o'clock this morning. The Salt Lake will have one train of fourteen coaches and one of nine.

The great rush of people who take advantage of today's closing sale of colonist tickets will not be felt on the western roads until Monday, as it will take two days to gather them up throughout the East and convey them to the transfer points.

The heaviest traffic will be over the Santa Fé and Salt Lake roads, as all of their passengers will have to be brought for a considerable distance over one line. The Southern Pacific has the advantage of three routes, via El Paso, Ogden and Portland. Many of the colonists who have chosen the latter route will not arrive in Southern California for two weeks.

WORTHY OF WELCOME.

According to information sent out by the eastern railroad agents, the class of people who have taken advantage of these rates is better than usual. There has not been a great rush at any one time during the season, but the steady business has been better than last year.

Last year there was the greatest rush for the last two days of the sale that was ever known in the annals of colonist travel. But the business for the last three weeks of this year exceeds that of the same time last year, although less than half the number of tickets were sold during the last two days.

About 2000 colonists arrived in this city yesterday. The traffic for the day was evenly divided between the three lines. On the Santa Fé and Salt Lake the largest crowds arrived by their morning trains, while at the Arcade depot the heaviest arrival was the noon train from El Paso and the 3 o'clock train from San Francisco.

For the most part the colonists who arrived yesterday were prosperous-looking individuals. There were whole families who looked as if they had sold out the farm back East and come West to invest the proceeds. There were big families, disciples of the anti-race-suicide doctrine. Then there was "pa and ma and the baby," none of who seemed to be very old—young couples who have come West to win a home.

ALL KINDS AND CONDITIONS.

Scattered among these family groups were single men, alone and in bunches. Some of the wore expressions of surprise that branded them as just off the farm. Others looked as though they had come West on a venture and had left the folks behind, to be sent for later.

There was also quite a sprinkling of young women, some of them mere girls. In most instances these "colonists" were met by mother, brother or sweetheart, but some of them were alone. These were taken care of by the City Deaconess and directed to their destination or sent to the Y.W.C.A., where they maintain an information bureau that looks after young ladies who are here alone.

in four sections this morning, are thirty-nine cars, including the entire equipment. All of the people on this train are not colonists, but the great majority are. This is the road's heaviest day thus far.

City Ticket Agent McGinnis of the Santa Fé, has been advised that sixty tourist cars, loaded with colonists, are headed this way over this road, and will arrive before next Wednesday evening.

MORE THE MERRIER.

"Allowing for forty passengers to the car this means that 2400 people are coming our way," said McGinnis yesterday. "Then we always count on carrying nearly as many by chair cars and day coaches as we do in the sleepers, so this makes at least 2000 more. About seventy colonists arrive on the California Limited each day during the sale. These will count up to 420 for the next six days."

The local agents of other roads which deliver their passengers to the Santa Fé have not been advised by their home offices as to how many tickets have been sold by them in the last few days. By comparison with the sales of last week and those of last year at the same time it has been estimated that at least 3600 ad-

BEAT WORLD TUNNELING

Los Angeles Aqueduct Forces Breaking Record for Swift Work.

The world's record for tunnel boring will be broken today at the south portal of Elizabeth Lake tunnel by the Los Angeles aqueduct forces, unless something unforeseen occurs; and such a contingency is unlikely.

Last night the work was already within touch of the record, according to a telephone message received by Gen. Chaffee of the Board of Public works from Assistant Chief Engineer Lippincott, who was at Mojave. And the workmen had twelve hours left to overreach the best mark ever set.

So enthusiastic are the gangs in the race to beat the world that they will scarcely take time to eat, and at their request Lippincott will go to the south portal today to assist them in measuring up the work so that accurate figures may be produced.

The bore is eleven by fourteen feet and has been driven over four hundred feet during October.

Gen. Chaffee says the Aqueduct Commission will provide a pennant for the victory, and make it a trophy that may be won by other crews during the progress of the work, should they again break records.

Forerunners of the Coming Horde.

These colonists reached Arcade Station yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and closely following them to California are twenty-three thousand more, who will arrive on the various railroads between this morning and Thursday. Seventy-five per cent. of that number will come to Southern California, and fifty per cent. to Los Angeles. The quizzical gentleman in the lower picture, who is admiring the tall palm at the Arcade, is a farmer from the Middle West, who intends to do things here.

ZERBE POISED READY TO FLY.

HIS MACHINE COMPLETE EXCEPT DRIVING ENGINE.

President of the California Aero Club Has Unique Device, of Which Inherent Stability is the Saving Principle—Expects Solution of Upper Navigation Problem.

Prof. J. S. Zerbe, president of the Aero Club of California, has almost completed his aëronef, at Bixnini Baths, and within a week expects to be navigating his machine.

The aëroplane is complete in construction, but lacks motive power. Prof. Zerbe expects to install his engine early this coming week and then will conduct a secret trial to see that the working parts are in order, and to become used to the manipulation of the parts.

The engine has just arrived from New York and will be put in place as soon as possible. With the engine as a six-foot propellor especially made for the Zerbe machine.

Prof. Zerbe claims for his machine inherent stability, whereas other aëroplanes have automatic equilibrium which becomes unstable when any of the mechanism is disarranged, as in the Wright accident at Fort Meyer.

To fly slow, instead of fast, is Prof. Zerbe's great object. He believes that this is the secret of airship control. He says that when a man is able to fly slow enough to barely keep going he will be able to manipulate his machine in any way he desires. The aëroplanes in operation up to the present time have been sent off to a running start and it has been necessary to continue at good speed so as to maintain enough momentum to take advantage of air currents.

Prof. Zerbe believes that he will be able to set his machinery going, lift his aëronef off the ground at whatever speed he desires, rise to any reasonable height, maneuver as he pleases, and come to the ground again at whatever speed and in whatever place he desires.

Scientists say that whoever accomplishes these things, which Prof. Zerbe is confident he can do, will have solved the problem of aërial navigation.

Zerbe's machine weighs, complete, but 400 pounds, whereas Wright's aëroplane is said to weigh 1400 pounds.

DOGS' SLAYER IS IN DANGER.

LOSERS OF PETS WOULD MOB HIM IF CAUGHT.

Unknown Miscreant Distributes Poisoned Meat in Cresta Del Arroyo Tract and Many Valuable Animals Have Been Killed—Neighbors Hope to Trap Poisoner.

Twenty-five heartless dog-killings within six months have aroused the residents of the Cresta Del Arroyo tract to such a pitch of indignation that spies are now being placed in the neighborhood of suspected houses in the hope of trapping the poisoners at their work.

Two dogs were poisoned yesterday. One was a great white bulldog, a canine of pedigree, and valued at several hundred dollars. It was the property of Robert L. Sawyer, who lives at No. 3629 Percy street. Sawyer's little boy loved the great dog, and appeared constantly with it. The dog did no harm, and was never known to even bark at people of the neighborhood.

Yesterday morning the animal went to the butcher shop on Sixth street to get a bone. The butcher and the dog were friendly, and the animal made a regular morning call. When it entered the shop yesterday morning it staggered to a little water pail and drank deeply. Then, taking the bone, it staggered out of the shop and back to the Sawyer residence. In the front yard the dog dropped and began to roll about in agony. Sawyer, in his attempts to administer antidotes, was bitten thirteen times about the hands and arms, and had to undergo the severe pain of cauterization of the wounds.

The dog died within a few moments, and an autopsy on the valuable animal showed that it had been given strychnine.

Thursday night, a valuable dog belonging to a family on Sabina street was given poisoned meat. The stuff was thrown over the back fence, so that the dog could get it, and the owners found the animal dead and the partly-devoured meat near by. Traces of strychnine were found.

Several weeks ago an entire family of Pomeranian dogs was poisoned in a night. The male and female and litter of eight pups, all pedigreed animals and being raised for market, were fed meat covered with strychnine. A resident of the neighborhood, who was unfortunate in stating that he hated dogs, was request...

TIT FOR TAT.

WERDIN SITS ON THE LID.

Grand-avenue Paving Has Voluntary Inspector.

Contractor's Fight Is Enforcing Specifications.

Inferior Material Is Ordered from the Work.

On Grand avenue, south of Seventeenth street, where a big gang of men is laying the concrete foundation for the new asphalt pavement that is to extend from Pico to Jefferson street, a determined man is sitting on the lid.

He is E. Werdin, manager of the Western Paving Company, and former Street Superintendent. He was there yesterday cocking the work just as he has been since it began days ago.

The work is being done by the Fairchild, Gilmore & Wilton Co., a competitor of the Western Paving Company, and Werdin has superimposed himself as chief inspector, critic and guardian of the city specifications.

Yesterday he said he intended to stay with the thing till ice covers Hades in his effort to see that the specifications are lived up to.

At present only the west side of the street is being improved, but the material for the concrete stretches down below Washington street. The work is progressing about 250 feet daily, and Werdin is viewing every inch of it and examining every load of broken stone and gravel that is dumped.

Joseph Smith, an experienced asphalt construction inspector, is representing the City Engineer's office in seeing that the specifications are adhered to. The concrete work is in charge of Foreman Joseph Winstow, a man of large experience in the East.

But nevertheless and notwithstanding Werdin will remain, Argus-eyed, on the job.

COMPLAINS TO BOARD.

Werdin has a complaint pending before the Board of Public Works that the broken stone in use is not according to the specifications, forbidding any particle to be small enough to pass through a screen with a mesh of one-quarter of an inch. He also alleges that for 300 feet a two-inch strip, four inches deep, has omitted by the contractor. That this is true is admitted, for the contractor has a force filling in this strip. It represented the space occupied by the retaining board that made a wall between the roadway and the depressed concrete for the granite-block gutters. It is not being repeated in the work now, for Werdin "bawled it out," according to popular phraseology.

And, according to D. K. Edwards, inspector of public works, the "bawling out" was justified. When Mr. Edwards and City Engineer Hamlin visited the work he says they found bad gravel and bad stone. Both were ordered out.

"The stone was too small and fine," said he, "and the gravel had too much soil in it. We jacked up the contractor for bringing such material on the work, and we jacked up the inspector for laxity in permitting its use.

"Werdin's complaint was all right. If any person sees inferior material going into the streets, we welcome complaint that will stop it. Werdin had real basis for complaint."

As to the broken stone and the relative value of stone smaller than the specified dimension in filling the interstices there are differences of opinion. Werdin stands for the letter of the specifications. The Engineer's office and the inspector say the presence of the small particles aids the compactness, solidity and durability of the concrete. While it may be technically forbidden by the letter of the specifications the concrete containing is regarded by engineers as the best ever laid in the city.

DIFFERENCE IN COST?

Werdin thinks differently and says the permission to use this stone means a saving of 4 cents a square foot to the Fairchild company, which is getting 17 8-10 cents for each foot.

"We all bid under the specifications," says Werdin, "and we are all entitled to the same treatment. The Engineer's office has forbidden the use of better stone on work I did. Why then, is such stone permitted on Grand avenue? It is just as it runs from the crusher without screening, and contains a large amount of mere dust. Others must use stone in strict compliance with the specification."

Property owners on the street, Werdin says, have been wide awake and there are many samples of the inferior stone packed in sacks in closets along the line of the improvement.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Mayor may veto the spiritualist ordinance this morning, and he may sign the one repealing the dance-hall ordinance, thus clearing the decks for new action by the Council Monday.

Mrs. Minnie Marquard was refused a divorce from Frederick Marquard after the trial of her suit by Judge Conrey yesterday.

James C. Drake, president of the Los Angeles Trust Company, gave testimony before Judge Bordwell in the Eugene Germain suit against the Supervisors to stop proceedings in the goods roads bonds matter.

Attorney A. D. Warner gave $1000 bail in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday, after his arrest on a new complaint of having uttered a worthless check, preferred by A. D. Myers.

John Murray was convicted of robbery yesterday afternoon in Judge Jamison's court, and will be sentenced Wednesday.

Charged with the murder of his nephew, Frank Abbott, who was exonerated by a Coroner's jury Thursday afternoon, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday, and placed under $10,000 bonds.

AT THE CITY HALL.

SPOOK LAW MAY MEET A VETO.

DANCE HALL QUESTION ALSO BEFORE THE MAYOR.

Council to Be Besieged Today by Advocates of Conflicting Measures Intended to Regulate Public Dance Halls—Spiritualist Ordinance Now Deemed Ill-fated.

A spook trouble has now been added to the Mayor's list of troubles, and he is expected to meet it surely this morning when he gets down to his office.

The spook trouble is in the anti-spiritualist ordinance, which forbids the advertisement of any kind of spooking—spiritualistic, palmistry, or other psychic or occult art by which the veil of the future is lifted. Aladdin's lamps delivered on the installment plan, gold mines located, divining rods made powerful, and the like. The Mayor is expected to veto this ordinance largely because he believe it is valid and also because it is so sweeping that it includes everything occult, good or bad. Ostensibly the purpose was to suppress the spiritualistic mediums. As the ordinance reached the Mayor only yesterday he has not made up his mind what to do with it.

The repeal of the dance-hall ordinance is also before him. If he vetoes the repeal as he is said to do it will put the question back to the Council and perhaps suspend the ordinance until the next general election fourteen months hence, during that time dance halls would be unrestricted. The Mayor has been urged to sign the ordinance by the opponents of dance halls and to veto by dance-hall interests.

It is believed he will sign it and thus clear the decks of dance-hall legislation and referendum petitions—for a day or two; anyway, if he signs it, F. H. Solomon, one of the dance-hall managers, will present an ordinance to the Council Monday, exactly like the one repealed, but omitting the provision forbidding Sunday dancing. He has the assurance of support from several Councilmen.

But Rev. W. F. Ireland, who represents the Church Federation and the Sunday Rest League, of those organizations will press the ordinance submitted at the last meeting which prohibits Sunday dancing, liquor and the attendance of persons under 18 years of age.

Barber Inspectorship.

The ordinance providing for the appointment of an inspector of barber shops at $125 a month is scheduled to come before the Council Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the ordinance slightly changed that was defeated several weeks ago. It has the support of a handful of inconsistent agitators, who want to use the office to get even with some bad barbers who do not submit to unionizing their business. There is little prospect of it passing.

New Receiving Hospital.

The Council will be asked Monday to appropriate $900 for the use of the new Receiving Hospital at the workhouse for the chain gang. Dr. Quint, assistant police surgeon, estimates that this sum will be needed for the dispensary articles needed for the usual treatment of inmates. The Council Supply Committee yesterday bought 250 pairs of heavy blankets for the workhouse at $5 a pair from the Coulter Dry Goods Company.

Cole to Retire.

Nathan Cole, Jr., a member of the Police Commission, but who seldom attends its meetings, was in consultation with Mayor Harper yesterday. After the consultation Mr. Cole said he would retire from the board just as soon as the accusations pending against it had been settled. He said he has been wanting to retire for some months because of the press of private business, but had decided to the Mayor's desire that he remain.

Hamlin on Advisory Board.

City Engineer Homer Hamlin, by unanimous vote of the advisory board of the aqueduct, has been elected a member of that board. He has long been on the consulting engineer's staff, but the board at its last meeting decided to give him full membership because of the value of his services.

Backus Is Back.

J. J. Backus, city building inspector, reached home yesterday after a six weeks' trip through the East investigating building ordinances. During his absence he visited St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and New Orleans.

CERTIFIED WILL REJECTED.

The failure of a clerk in the County Clerk's office to place the initials after the stroke of his pen on the numeral "9" has caused the rejection of a certified copy of a will in the English courts. A letter was received here, yesterday, from Hedges & Marshall, solicitors of Wallingford, England, requesting the proper official of the Superior Court to initial the "9" in the date "1906," in order that the copy of the will might be accepted. The estate of James Wilmer Allaway, who died some time ago in this city, is involved in the transaction. Mrs. Allaway, the widow, is living in England and wishes probate there of real estate owned by her late husband.

Constitutional Amendment No. 21.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THINKS HANGING DIVORCE CAUSE.

WIFE CUTS HUSBAND DOWN AND THEN SUES HIM.

Defendant's Act in Suspending Himself by Neck Extreme Cruelty to Her, Says Plaintiff—Judge Holds That Another Opinion Is Possible and Refuses Decree.

As evidence of extreme cruelty, entitling her to a divorce, Mrs. Minnie Marquard yesterday testified in Judge Conrey's court that Frederick Marquard, in October, hanged himself in his barn, after she told him that she would live with him no longer.

"He picked up a rope and started for the barn, saying that if I would not live with him any longer, he would hang himself," she said. "After a little while I went out and peeked through a crack, for the door was shut. I saw something hanging up, so I opened the door and went in. He was hanging there, and I rushed into the house and grabbed a knife, with which I cut him down. He was red in the face, and I think he would have strangled if I had not come in time. But he pushed me away without a word and went into the house.

"Just a few days before, he had a fight with a man, and came home and took out his rage on me, as he always did when things went wrong. He did not speak to me for several days before this happened. He often told me that he did not love me any more, and that I must support myself. Last March, when I left him, he threatened to kill me, and the previous January, when I called his attention to a spot on the table cloth, he swore at me and said he thought he could make spots just as much as I, and he pointed to a spot I had made. Then he slammed some of the dishes on the table and broke them.

"His cruelty to me began in 1900, nine years after we were married. One day I slapped our baby, and we quarreled. As I came up the back steps with a tubful of water for the washing, he kicked the tub, and the water flew all over me. Then he locked me out all day. The next time was at a party, in 1902, when he tipped me over and dragged me about the room by the feet before seven or twelve people. I was so humiliated that I went home.

"From that time until last October, we got along fairly well. He was not intemperate, though he did drink whisky sometimes. When he drank beer, he was all right."

Gerhardt Marquard, 10 years old, the son of the plaintiff, testified that he had seen his father break the dishes and had heard him swear. He said he had never seen his father cruel to his mother in other ways.

Judge Conrey said that he would subpoena Marquard, but was informed that the man had gone to San Francisco. Mrs. Marquard's counsel said that he had tried hard to get the defendant to appear.

The court hinted that Marquard's attempt to hang himself might possibly bear another construction than cruelty to his wife. Mrs. Marquard was refused a decree.

LAWYER'S TROUBLES.

NEW CHECK CHARGE MADE.

Attorney A. D. Warner was arrested again yesterday afternoon on a worthless check charge, and gave $1000 bail in Justice Summerfield's court for appearance at his arraignment on Monday. J. R. Metcalfe and Daniel Drake went on his bail bond, and Warner also furnished $1000 bail on a previous charge, examination on which was continued until November 16.

The complainant in the second case is A. D. Myers, who says that Warner about August 2, gave him a personal check, dated August 10, on the Security Savings Bank for $200, knowing that he had no funds in the bank to meet it.

Warner would say but little about Myers's charge. He intimated that he is a victim of political persecution, and stated that his check was given in the course of a business transaction.

"I know nothing about the matter," said Le Compte Davis, counsel for Warner, last evening, "and I have instructed Warner to say nothing at present."

Warner was examined this week in Justice Summerfield's court on a charge of having given his clerk, D. H. Robinson, a $25 check on the Security Savings Bank when he had no funds there. A teller of the bank testified that Warner's deposit was exhausted on June 1.

The defendant moved that his case be dismissed on technical grounds, and the court was to have given a decision yesterday morning.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DELAY GRANTED. On motion of Attorney Henry T. Gage, counsel for Mayor A. C. Harper, Judge Bordwell yesterday continued until November 6 the hearing of the citation to Harper to show cause why he shall not give his deposition before A. E. Bagley in the libel suit that he has filed against E. T. Earl and the Evening Express Company. Attorneys for the defendants protested vigorously against the delay, but the court decided that Mr. Gage must have the time he asked for preparation on the legal points involved.

COLLISION SEQUEL. W. H. Cooper yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against the Los Angeles-Pacific Company for $6850 damages, for injuries alleged to have been received by him on September 12 in a collision between his automobile and a street car at Western avenue and West Sixteenth street. He also asked $1525 for damage to the machine. Miss Lulu B. Cliff, who was Cooper's companion in the auto, also filed a suit against the traction corporation for $10,000 damages.

MAINTENANCE. Mrs. Harriet Williams, who says she married L. E. Williams in November, 1907, and was deserted by him without cause on May 16, yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against him for $35 monthly maintenance.

LAND DEAL. Mrs. Annie Goldfiam yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against J. A. Wildrick and S. H. Duncan to recover $135 that she says she paid Duncan for a deed from Wildrick, to a lot in Hazard's East Side addition on October 10. The plaintiff asserts that Wildrick and Duncan told her that the property was held in trust by Wildrick for Duncan, the real owner, and that she found the title was vested in neither.

FRAUD CHARGED. W. H. West yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against H. L. Miller & Company for $21,942 damages, alleged due for fraud in an exchange, last Feb-owned by the defendants in a northern county. The plaintiff says that his ranch is worth about $14,000 and that the defendants falsely represented that their land was worth $75 an acre, while it is worth no more than $16. He says that owing to his feeble condition, he was led to take their word about their property, and that he was falsely told that a crop of grain was growing on it, and that he could realize $6500 from its sale.

SAILOR'S FATE. Harry L. Nadolsky, who deserted from a battleship and was later arrested for entering his sweetheart's room and stealing her jewelry, was sentenced by Judge Wilbur, yesterday, to two years in Folsom.

FIFTEEN YEARS. O. T. Adamson was sentenced to fifteen years in Folsom by Judge Wilbur, yesterday, for having burglarized M. Livingston's store in March. The prisoner feigned sickness at the City Jail, soon after his arrest, was removed to the County Hospital, escaped from that institution by the aid of companions and was recaptured some months later. He had previously served a three-year term in Louisiana for burglary.

BURGLARY. José Lopez, who entered A. Horovitz's store and stole a quantity of shoes, was sentenced to three years in San Quentin by Judge Wilbur, yesterday.

WINE-MOCKED. Robert A. Wurtz, charged with forging Mrs. Hilda B. Jenkins's name to a $2500 note, informed Judge Wilbur, yesterday, at his examination for parole, that this and two other forgeries by which he realized $3000, were due to his mania for drink. He said that he has used liquor for twenty-seven years, has squandered thousands of dollars, and lacks the will power to abstain. His examination was continued one week.

REPEATING CHARGED. Robert Mitchell pleaded not guilty in Judge Jamison's court, yesterday, to a charge of having voted twice at the primary election in August, and his trial was set for November 19.

DENIES GUILT. John G. Steiner was committed to the County Jail by Justice Pierce, yesterday, in default of $500 bail for appearance at his examination on November 6 on a charge of having assaulted Mrs. Irene Ross of No. 1407 Central avenue with a monkey wrench on June 15. Steiner says he did not see the woman that day.

EMBEZZLEMENT. Justice Selph yesterday released M. S. Cox on his own recognizance for appearance for trial on November 13. He is charged with having embezzled $9 from S. C. Bryant on August 5.

WATER SUIT. Judge Hutton returned from San Bernardino, yesterday, to hear his law and motion calendar. He will not hold court here for fully two weeks during which time Judge Oster will sit for him. Judge Hutton has begun at San Bernardino the trial of the suit of the Yucaipe Land and Water Company against the South Water Company to determine the right to the percolating waters of the Yucaipe Valley. This is an action in which Judge Oster felt himself disqualified. It involves very important interests.

HAIR RAISING. In an effort to show a jury in Judge Jamison's court yesterday that it could not rely on the identification of John Murray as the man who held up W. A. McDonald and Miss Hope Foster on New Jersey street in June, Attorney Lucien Earle lost his toupee. He had jammed a hat down over his ears, and, in removing it, also removed the ornamental hair that usually covers the bare spot on his head. Judge, jury and spectators joined in the laugh that followed.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the County Clerk by the J. F. Hall-Martin Company of Alhambra, general contracting, capital stock, $75,000; Calnevar Shirt Company, capital stock $20,000; Bankers' Fire Insurance Company, capital stock $200,000. The White Garage Company gave notice of a decrease in capital stock from $1,000,000 to $100,000.

INFERIOR COURTS.

KILLING QUEEN'S SON CHARGED.

NEPHEW BELIEVED VICTIM OF UNCLE'S WRATH.

Frank Abbott Arraigned for Murder and Held Under Ten-Thousand-Dollar Bond—Sonoratown Interested—Justice Learns Defendant's Dead When License Case Is Called.

Charged with the murder of his nephew, W. E. Johnson, Frank Abbott was arraigned before Justice Rose in the Police Court, yesterday, and held under $10,000 bail, pending preliminary examination on November 5. Bail was furnished by Mrs. Frank Allender and his mother.

Members of the Abbott family have been concerned in fights and disturbances for years and have had more than their share of trouble. Last Wednesday, Abbott engaged in an argument with his nephew, W. E. Johnson, a son of Mrs. Salina Johnson-Ives-Avilla, known as the "Queen of Sonoratown."

Abbott struck his nephew, knocking him down. Johnson's head struck the curb and his skull was fractured. He died several hours later.

At the Coroner's inquest Thursday afternoon, the jury brought in a verdict exonerating Abbott, but as he was about to leave the room, he was arrested by detectives and locked up in the City Jail. The police assert that much of the evidence given at the inquest was perjured, and that they have a good case against the accused.

Yesterday many members of the Abbott family were in court, and the defendant looked as though he had spent many sleepless nights.

Justice Rose read the charge and then ordered that Abbott be placed under $20,000 bail. Attorney Allender, who appeared in behalf of the prisoner, asked for a reduction of bail. Justice Rose stated that the District Attorney could be lenient if he chose. Deputy G. W. Pearson agreed to reduce the bail to $10,000.

Death's Claim First.

"A. W. Clapper come into court," called the bailiff in Justice Rose's department yesterday morning, but there came no response. Clapper, against whom two complaints had been filed by Patrolman Pautz, last Friday, was buried Thursday afternoon.

As soon as the court learned this, the case was scratched from the blotter.

Clapper was charged with conducting a loan and collection agency without Mistake About Funds.

Charged with having passed a worthless check for $15, F. A. Daggett, an employe of the municipal water works, was arraigned before Justice Rose yesterday and placed under $1500 bonds. He stated that he was under the impression he had sufficient funds in the bank to cover the check when he issued it.

GATHERING EVIDENCE.

Complaint May Issue Today in Connection With Death of Boy in Bath-house.

Complaints may be issued today for the arrest of persons alleged to be responsible for the death of Victor Lamar, the fourteen-year-old newsboy, whose body was found in the tank of the Bimini Baths, last Saturday morning.

Attorneys representing the family of the dead boy and Chief Detective Brown of the District Attorney's office spent yesterday in securing evidence and last night stated that thew thought the facts in their possession would warrant a demand for a complaint today.

A careful examination of the body showed long scratches and lacerations about the loins, and bruises on the breast and back. Whether these bruises were made by assistants at the bath-house in their efforts to restore consciousness to the lad is not known.

A bruise on the nose that has not been explained and other evidence of a secret nature leads the officers to believe that Victor may have been murdered to hide some crime which had been perpetrated upon him at an earlier date.

BUDDING POLITICIANS.

Polytechnic High Boys Organize Parties and Give Points on Campaign Management.

Interest in the coming national election has been stirred to an unusual degree at the Polytechnic High School, where the budding politicians have adopted original methods of campaign management. Five national parties are represented at "Polly," the rallies for organization having been held on October 7. The Republican rally was attended by 145 students; the Democrats mustered only seventy-five, and the other parties not more than forty each.

Republican genius was shown in awarding a ticket to a Republican dance to every one who attended the rally. The dance was held in the gymnasium.

Barrett Hanawalt was appointed manager and Robert Whelan, speaker for the Republicans; John Beck, manager and speaker for the Democrats; Earl Miller, manager and speaker for the Independent party; Irving McDaniels, manager, and Edwin Bly, speaker for the Socialist party, and William Percival, manager and speaker for the Prohibitionists.

Yesterday, speeches were made before the school in the auditorium by Republican and Democratic representatives. Both were interesting. Robert Whelan ably presented the Republican platform and "brought down the house" by a clever method of enumerating the principles he advocated.

Taking each letter in the word, Republican, young Whelan showed what the platform stands for under each letter. As the speech progressed, he uncovered a blackboard decoration, one letter at a time, the whole forming the word, Republican, in blue letters on a golden ground, the Polytechnic colors. A bouquet was presented to each speaker.

John Beck accepted on behalf of William Jennings Bryan, and Robert Whelan made a final hit in thanking the students for a great bunch of golden chrysanthemums, on behalf of William Howard Taft, "the next President of the United States."

The regular autumn maneuvers of the Chinese army will be held this year in November. Preparations for the evolutions already are under way.

MINES AND MINING.

STOCK BROKERS ARE AGITATED.

Session to Call Unlisted Stocks Opposed.

The Nevada Exchange Votes to Continue Practice.

State's Mineral Products Need Protection.

As the culmination of excited argument and wrangling that has taken place among brokers of the Los Angeles-Nevada Stock Exchange for the past week, an informal meeting was held after the session yesterday afternoon, at which the question of calling stocks that have not been officially listed was thoroughly aired. It was the sense that an unmistakable majority was in favor of continuing the practice recently inaugurated.

Under the bylaws of the institution it is provided that all securities called must pay a listing fee, accompanied by a complete official statement of the financial and physical condition of the property at the time. It was found, however, that it was impossible to adhere unswervingly to this rule, and a large number of the stocks now regularly called have been placed on the list arbitrarily. Last week it was decided to add securities which are dealt in on this market, but which have neglected or refused to make payments to the exchange. The list includes Clara Consolidated, Orange Blossom Extension, Reed, Mt. Gaines, Lower Calico Dredging, Pick and Drill, and National Gold and Copper.

Action of the Listing Committee has caused a storm of protest from a coterie of brokers on the floor and from those connected with some of the stocks. Their argument says that the bylaws of the institution do not permit of such action, and that the posting of a board lot works a hardship upon those with legitimate stocks, who are endeavoring to dispose of treasury stock with which to make development work. In some cases the feeling is very bitter, and resort to the courts has been threatened.

The other side contends that a stock exchange's primary object is the protection of the public, upon which it must depend for its very existence, and that any innovation which will permit the acquisition of fake stocks, or stocks which are secretly sold at prices much in excess of intrinsic value, is a step toward the establishment of an increased feeling of confidence between the exchange and the investing public. It is also pointed out that the fake curbstone brokers flourish by subsisting upon the sale of worthless or worthless stocks, upon which as soon as publicity has been shed, the more comprehensive the report is the less material will be left with which such brokers can fool the public. The business of these men is now confined to securing options at a few cents or less per share upon strangers, who are induced to buy at prices 100 per cent more in excess.

"This is one that has been true of every mining stock exchange in the United States, with the exception of New York, where the business is secured by the unlisted market. In Salt Lake City, Goldfield and Cripple Creek the mining exchanges were met, with the result that each decided to call all stocks dealt in on the local market. It is a well-known fact that no fake stock will court the publicity invited by listing, and in very few cases do these and meritorious companies refuse it to their advantage. The need of publicity has been proved to several cases since the lists were added to the list. Take the case of a stock which had been sold to the public at $1.25 was afterward listed at 25 cents asked and bids no cents.

State's Mineral Products.

The Mining Committee on Minerals and Mining, of which Lewis E. Aubury, State Mineralogist, is chairman, submitted its report to the Committee on Tariff Revision, which was appointed by Gov. Gillett yesterday. It is comprehensive in character, and covers all mineral products of the State. Twenty-seven asphaltum companies are operating in the State, with a cash investment of approximately $2,000,000. They produce 100,000 tons annually. It is urged that the committee believes that the tariff be advanced from $2 per ton to $5 per ton. Much of the asphaltum produced in the United States comes entirely from California. Some years ago several cargoes were shipped to Eastern ports, but shipments ceased because of low freight rates by way of San Francisco to New York. Foreign producers have had practically the control of the United States market. Chrome deposits are found in Glenn, Tehama, Alameda, San Luis Obispo and Shasta counties. It is the positive duty is recognized to find out the foreign deposit at Owen's Lake is the largest in the world, and there are other deposits in the State where the mineral is found in large quantities. The imports of the United States from 1897, inclusive, amounted to 1,000 tons. The State production has decreased since 1901, and has practically ceased in 1907.

"The purest deposit of diatomaceous earth is in California, and it is stated that there is a ready market to take care of the entire demand for many years. The production, however, is very small, owing to the cheap foreign importation, which is from 12,000 to 15,000 tons.

"The commercially-used deposits of the United States are in California, though deposits are found in Alameda, Fresno, Sonoma and Stanislaus, and in other places too far from transportation to be profitable. Consumption is on the Pacific States, though coming from abroad amounting to 1897 tons between 1897 and 1907, an estimated value of $

"It is the committee will be directed effort to increase the use of the several materials by conducting an agitation of the needed protection and competition.

Mining Hotsetet.

Any one who is interested in the Coeur d'Alene mine of the Coeur d'Alene, and one of the owners of the mine, twelve miles from Wallace, eighteen miles east of Spokane, is referred from that property to preliminary to beginning continuous work. 400 feet of tunnel was exploded and an inclined shaft last week with a view of determining whether the blow-out showing on the surface near this shaft took a straight upshoot from the bottom of the shaft. The result of the blast was to destroy the shaft and expose the ground at the bottom for a distance thirty feet square. Some of the rock dislodged by the explosion weighed over 200 pounds, and examination after the discharge showed that the blow-out was perpendicular. A shaft will at once be sunk to reach the copper bed below.

YOUNG BOOSTERS, TOO.

Pupils of High School Join in Crusade for Prosperity Week. Art Show.

The Los Angeles High School is to hold a "Prosperity Day," for "home products," when President Stewart of the Chamber of Commerce will make an address on "Home Industry," and pupils will make five-minute speeches on various phases of manufacturing in Southern California.

Miss Lloy Galpin, teacher of history and civics in the High School, is in charge of this latest movement to extend the "buying and boosting of home products," which she announced yesterday after a conference with Secretary Wiggins.

There are 2000 young citizens in the big High School and Secretary Wiggins yesterday began receiving delegations of pupils who were bent on learning the best way to secure first-hand information regarding local industries for the big discussion, and he outlined a lengthy list of topics for the young orators.

The artistic side of Prosperity Week is growing and two new features were added yesterday by the Music and Art Committee, consisting of Walter Raymond, F. W. Blanchard, L. Behymer, William Lacy and W. N. Neiswender. In addition to the open-air band concert and instrumental and vocal solos by home talent, there is to be a big free art show by Southern California artists and an elaborate "home industry musicale" by the famous Symphony Orchestra of forty pieces.

Each day sees notable additions to Secretary Wiggins's long list of "buyers and boosters of home products." Yesterday the Young Women's Christian Association, where hundreds of girls dine, reside and study, became pledged to "home products only."

President W. A. Chess of the Monrovia Board of Trade, yesterday sent notice that the foothill town will hold a simultaneous "Prosperity Week" celebration at home, as planned by the Chamber of Commerce for the outside communities.

CURRICULUM ON WHEELS.

Southern Pacific Will Run Special Agricultural Lecture Train and School for Farmers.

Agricultural and horticultural schools on wheels will soon be a part of the itinerary of the Southern Pacific under the direction of its traffic department and the ranchers and others interested in the products and methods of working California farms and orchards will be able to get a practical idea of what this great State has in the way of resources in this line and the solution of problems continually arising. The University of California, Stanford University, Department of Agriculture and the State Horticultural Commission will co-operate to make the train a successful educational feature of the season.

The train will consist of a lecture car and living cars, and it will move from point to point, where lectures will be held, often several in one day, sometimes in the special lecture car and again in some hall in the towns visited. The lectures will be practical and the discussions to follow will be along the lines of greatest interest and the needs of the particular locality in which the meeting is held. All ranchers having problems to solve are invited to meet the train and get into the discussion.

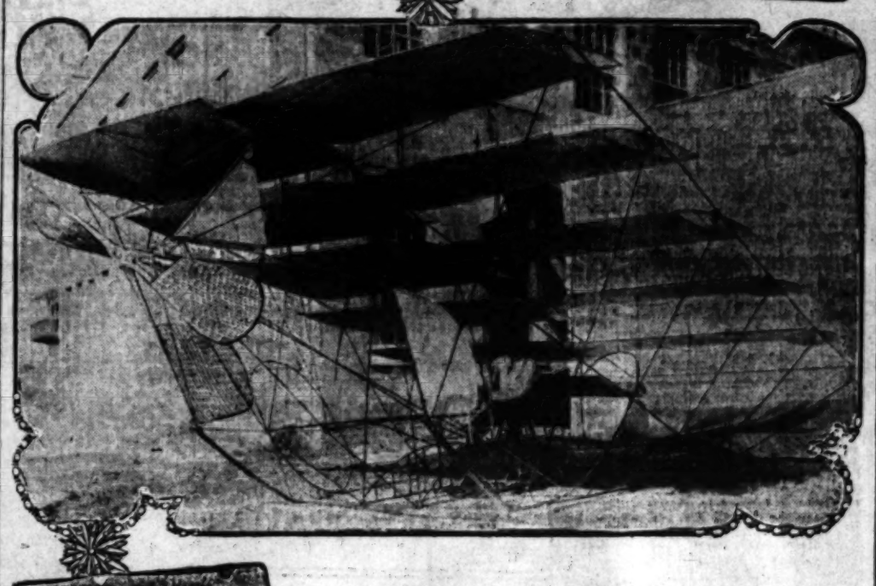
Boards of Trade, improvement clubs and other local organizations are invited to make recommendations as to the itinerary of the train by communicating with the local Southern Pacific agent in their locality or through the University of California.

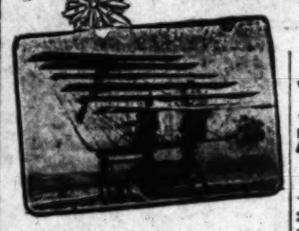
HE'LL TAKE A CHANCE.

Court Clerk's Mysterious Tree Is a Zapote and the Fruit Is Good to Eat.

Charles N. Williams, deputy clerk of the United States Circuit Court, has a tree upon his place in the northwest part of the city which bore fruit this year, much to the surprise of its owner. The neighbors were unable to inform him what kind of a tree it was and so specimens of the fruit and leaves were sent to the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, for inspection.

Secretary Wiggins turned the matter over to one of his experts and the sample was recognized as the fruit of the zapote tree. Having learned that it is considered delicious eating in tropical countries, Williams feels safe in eating some of the fruit. If any ill effects are felt, he will lay the blame on the Chamber of Commerce.





Prof. J. S. Zerbe and His Aeronef,

ZERBE READY TO FLY.

Zerbe says his machine has a lifting power of 1000 pounds and that he will be able to adjust weight up to this figure so as to make transportation practicable.

The manipulation of the machinery is very simple. A steering wheel is the only thing which Prof. Zerbe needs to handle in operating the aëroplane, except in emergencies, when levers permit quicker adjustment.

Whenever the operator desires to tip the planes he turns the steering wheel one way or the other. Whenever he desires to throw one set of planes up and the other down, he pushes the wheel to the right or to the left. In a sudden guest of wind, levers can accomplish the same object much quicker.

There are twelve planes (called so for convenience,) which are in pairs. These planes can be tipped backward or forward, the set of six on the right working together and those on the left acting similarly. While the right-hand planes are tipped one way those on the left may be tipped the other. The "planes" are concave to catch the air.

By the manipulation of the planes Prof. Zerbe asserts he will be able to rise at any aagle (the machine maintaining a level keel) or descend at any angle. He also claims to be able to descend backward.

Capt. A. E. Mueller and Horace B. Wild, the renowned balloonists who are to make the flight eastward over the mountains November 15, examined the aëroplane yesterday, and, while they differed with the inventor in several respects, they were enthusiastic in praise of the general principles.

WHAT'S DOING IN SAN FRANCISCO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The scandal in the City Treasurer's office grows apace and the dragnet of the prosecution has enmeshed more than one in an attempt to make easy money. Cumulative evidence piled up so fast that one of the accused men said plaintively: "Pretty soon they will be saying that I took the coin away in express wagons."

Troubles never come singly, as Former Treasurer Bantel can vouch. Close on the heels of the State suing him for a shortage came an explosion in his bakery which badly scalded his face. After his discharge from the Receiving Hospital he nervously asked if there were any newspaper artists about as he did not care to figure in the public prints as a bandaged financier.

Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" and a socialist in good standing, has been telling us that Debs will get a million votes for the Presidency, but he does not think that it will interfere with Taft being elected. Novelist Sinclair is tired of muckraking and as a change proposes to take a horseback ride to Los Angeles.

All of us shivered and the gooseflesh formed on the body politic when Lincoln Steffens told us how bad we were and what drastic steps would have to be taken in order to be purified. It is a splendid thing to forgive and forget, but some of us must be pardoned for reading with a certain amount of complacency that the W.C.T.U. of Boston adopted a resolution, the gist of which is: "Lincoln Steffens is only a momentary and soon-to-be-forgotten splash in the puddle of reform."

The good people of the city who oppose the granting of permits to sell liquor for twenty-four hours seem to have merit on their side as even an habitual toper cannot drink in his sleep.

Gambling on the slot machines became so open and notorious that the police were forced to take some action, and as a result, a number of dealers and players were arrested. One police judge dismissed twenty cases in his court as not being proven and on the same evidence another judge convicted and heavily fined several defendants. The tobacco interests wish the gambling stopped for fear it may lead up to the abolition of the machines.

Charlie Heggarty, the office boy of Abe Ruef, who, in the palmy days of the little boss, used to separate the wheat from the chaff in the anteroom, got tired this week of obscurity. From a safe vantage point he succeeded in angering Frank Heney and then hastened to tell the reporters what Heney said, much of which was unfit for publication.

There may be considerable uncertainty as to the success of many candidates at the polls next Tuesday; but there is no uncertainty as to what the electorate will do with the question of granting a railway franchise over 244 miles of streets to J. J. Egan, a mysterious gentleman, who claims to be backed by millions, but refuses to say just where they are. PLUTO.

LIGHT THROWN ON BOND SALE.

AFFIDAVITS OF PROMINENT MEN ACCUSING IN CHARACTER.

Graves Says Terms of Projected Public Disposal of Roads Securities Constitute Fraud on Public. History of Private Deal Aired—May Be Stricken From Records.

J. C. Drake, president of the Los Angeles Trust Company, was called to the stand in Judge Bordwell's court yesterday and began his statement of what he knows of the transactions between J. H. Adams & Co., the Los Angeles Trust Company, the W. P. Jeffries Company and the Supervisors in relation to the sale of the good-roads bonds and the contract for engraving them. He will conclude his testimony at a resumption of the hearing this morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Drake was called to the stand by Attorney Works, counsel for the plaintiffs in the Eugene Germain injunction suit against the Supervisors. Mr. Works occupied almost the entire day in reading affidavits from persons opposed to the action taken by the Supervisors, and when he concluded, Attorneys Lawler and Meserve moved that all of the affidavits be stricken from the record, asserting that they were full of improper, unjustified and legally inadmissible charges of fraud and wrongdoing that were entirely the conclusion of the affiants.

The court said that he would defer action on the motion until later, when he might grant it.

Mr. Drake, speaking for himself alone, absolutely denied any knowledge of or part in any wrongdoing in connection with the private sale of the good-roads bonds, or in the letting of the engraving contract to the W. P. Jeffries Company.

He said that up to a certain point Mr. Martin had, as agent for the private purchasers, had entire charge of the negotiations with the county officials. The Los Angeles Trust Company and J. H. Adams & Co. had acted in conjunction with certain eastern parties in buying the bond issue. As to the contract for engraving the bonds, the witness said that nothing had been done in that matter until two or three days after the sale had been made and then there had not been a suspicion of any political motive in letting the contract.

Mr. Drake stated that his eastern associates had advised, as a matter of convenience, that the Los Angeles concern be got to contract for the engraving of the bonds, provided that the Western Bank Note Company engraved borders be used in the work; that these borders were bought by the Los Angeles Trust Company for the W. P. Jeffries Company, as his associates believed that the bonds would be marketed more easily if engraved with the specified borders.

As soon as Mr. Drake had finished his testimony, counsel for the Supervisors called attention to the fact that bids were to be opened for the bonds at the board's meeting Monday afternoon, and urged that the presentation of testimony should be completed without unnecessary delay. They also urged that the bond on the Jeffries engraving contract should be increased to protect the county, as the company is not made a defendant in the suit.

"If we investigate this matter at all, gentlemen," said Judge Bordwell, "we must investigate it thoroughly. A thorough investigation is to the advantage of all concerned. I think that we are all agreed on that. I can't see why the time for dealing with the bids should not be extended. As Mr. Lawler suggests, the acceptance of any bids now would raise a moot question of the legality of such action, and we must avoid any such problem."

"If the bids were opened," said Attorney Meserve, "the Supervisors would have a right to accept them. They are tied up now by the restraining order."

"Yes, and they might also have a right to reject them," said the court. "The county may be made a defendant in this suit, if it is necessary to protect its interests."

Every phase of the past history of the bond issue was touched upon in affidavits read to the court.

S. A. Butler, chairman of the Good Roads Association, said that he had always been lead to understand by the Supervisors that the Advisory Committee would be consulted and considered in every step taken in disposing of the bonds. He thinks these should bring not less than $30,000 premium.

Supervisor C. D. Manning said that he had been led to believe that the bonds would be sold publicly, that he was surprised when different action was taken, against his protest, and that on September 5, at a conference between himself, Mr. Drake and Mr. Martin in J. H. Adams and Company's office, the three had worked out and signed an offer which, he had been informed by Drake and Martin, they would make for the bonds at public sale. This offer, he said, would have insured the county $8000 more than was received.

J. A. Graves, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, as an expert on bonds, condemned the private sale and the terms of the projected public sale as an imposition and said that they are so detrimental to the county and taxpayers as to constitute a fraud on the public, while the provision as to a certified check insures a low price for the issue.

J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Savings Bank, said that the terms proposed are detrimental, that the bonds ought to be sold at once in a block, or in lots from time to time as money is needed and that the proposal to sell in a closed session is not to the advantage of the county.

Seward H. Force, representing the Securities Bank Note Company, said that at $1475 he bid for the bond engraving and would have furnished a job equally as good as that given by the Jeffries contract at $2500. He said that when the contract was let, it was agreed among all the bidders present that it was a put-up job, and that comments to this effect were

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

For President. For Vice-President.

Editorial Pro Points

The campaign is in its last gasp—that is if you can call such a quiet affair a gasp.

Count Leo Tolstoi hopes Bryan will be elected. So do a great many other Socialists.

The Japs are our friends just now, anyway, and it doesn't pay to worry about the future.

We are slowly forced to the conclusion that the American people take their politics as a joke.

You may jolt, you may ginger the campaign as you will, the picture of apathy hangs 'round it still.

Think of Mr. Bryan's throat on next summer's chautauqua circuit after all the exercise it has had.

Blamed if we don't believe that if a man were to make a real holler in this campaign he'd be arrested.

Long after the election is over, Mr. Bryan will be thinking of Senator Clark's generous donation of $1000.

Why does a chicken cross the road instead of remaining at home and attending to business when eggs are 60 cents a dozen?

The non-committal voter never had such a chance in his life as he has this year. All he need say is: "I'm goin' to vote for Bill."

A man in a Mississippi town called Bobo raffled his cow to help Bryan. As yet there are those who say that patriotism is dead.

The New England newspapers are still quoting Hosea Biglow in reference to politics. We don't suppose they will ever get over it.

A Buffalo man advertises that he desired "to meet a lady or widow" with a view to matrimony. No widows answered the advertisement.

You needn't take any stock in people who say the world is not changing. Why, they had seven months of dry weather in Oregon this year.

"What is a man of libel habits?" asks the New York Sun. The best answer could probably be obtained by interviewing the man's wife.

It is feared that Clackamas county in Oregon will give Bryan a majority of its votes. We shouldn't wonder; its very name sounds like that.

Notwithstanding Sam Gompers's persistent attacks on the United States Supreme Court, it seems to be doing business at the old location.

As a Christian gentleman, the Democratic candidate for the Presidency cannot afford to swear, no matter how much he may feel like doing so.

The gloomiest feature of the campaign, as far as we can see, is the assurance that Hobson and "Red" Hayes will both be elected to Congress.

In China a young man does not see his prospective bride until after he marries her. Marriage seems to be as much a lottery in China as it is in this country.

There was a time when President of the United States could not be elected without a million yards of oil cloth and as many torch lights, but "them times has went."

If the Chinese get excited and wave flags and cheer over our navy during its visit to their country, then our ships are magic ships and that's all there is about it.

Iowa has raised $150,000,000 worth of corn this year. Iowa uses things like that to serve as answers to people who are inclined to think she doesn't amount to much.

Next time let the Republican party propose to run against all the other parties put together. Then there might be something resembling what might be called a battle.

There is such uncertainty as to whether Katherine Elkins and the Duke of Abruzzi will be married that we should think John W. Gates would bet a million on it with somebody.

The Mikado may not be the son of the morning star and first cousin to the comet of 1846, as he is said to be, but the American sailors are convinced that he is a pretty nice man.

"The scientific world is on the point of giving full recognition to a new, strange and deep-rooted law," says an English scientist. What's the use? In a year or two they will change it again.

The Kaiser recently ate a bunch of grapes to please an old Alsatian peasant woman. It probably happened at a time when he was just wishing that he had a few nice grapes to eat, anyway.

"Bryan is altogether a different sort of candidate to Alton B. Parker," says the Boston Transcript. No, no; next Tuesday night they will look so much alike that nobody will be able to tell them apart.

Can't the committees or somebody arrange to tear things loose just for one day before the fight ends? It is nothing short of a shame that everything has got to end like this. Start in and rip her up, somebody, won't you?

The English are doubtless thinking up something in the form of repartee to fling at the Kaiser for saying they are as made as March hares. The thing will doubtless be a stinger and ought to be ready to

INCIPIENT PUBLIC OWNERSHIP FAILS.

Some years ago a small-caliber reformer, not a taxpayer or property-owner in Los Angeles, went out armed cap-a-pie like Don Quixote to save the people from the piracy of street railway owners. The city was being robbed, as this philosopher saw it, by granting long franchises to street railway builders. His crusade worked too well. The life-time of these franchises was cut to twenty-one years.

Pasadena had a reformer who had a big appetite for limelight, and that city also cut short the life of street railway franchises.

The railroad builders warned the people that this reform could not be made to work by reversing the legal trolley, to retroactively affect franchises already in existence. Of course not. The old franchises covered the densely inhabited portions of the city, while the new ones were for lines into additions. In these new tracts population would be sparse for years, and during that time the lines would not pay operating expenses. "We will make no further extensions under the twenty-one-year limit," said the railroad owners.

But the philosopher assured the people that this was all poppycock, a bluff on the part of the railroad builders.

Now time has worked out the facts. The railroad managers have kept their word in Los Angeles, also in Pasadena. This was not because those men would cut off the nose to spite the face. If roads built under a twenty-one-years' franchise were likely to pay for the period taken as a whole they would have been built. They were not likely to pay and were not built.

Residents of the new districts were not better walkers than the common run of men. They wanted street-car service, in fact had to have it. They had to build roads and present them to the street-railway people, who operate them at a loss for a time, but make this up later, as the tracks cost them little.

Pasadena is tired of its reform philosophy and is now proposing to extend the life of street railway franchises. Los Angeles is thinking hard in the same direction.

A good thing to do with these small-fry reformers who make a living from agitation is to instruct them to wipe their noses, go home and mind their own business, if they have any that can be found.

THE UNKNOWN QUANTITIES.

Political managers, newspaper publishers, sporting men and some others who take much interest in campaigns, gather statistics and feel the public pulse for change of sentiment, then make up estimates as to the probable vote. Sometimes these facts and their bearings are made public; sometimes other figures are published and the truth is concealed. This concealment is resorted to because politicians have learned that the general expectation that a candidate will win gains him votes and a certainty of defeat loses votes. This is all foolishness, perhaps, but human nature is persistent in this attitude. One class of prognosticators always conceal their knowledge from all but their allies, but act in a way which clearly betrays the expectations they build up on the information they receive. These are the bettors who take money on elections.

Yet there must always remain many unknown quantities, which no manipulation of the terms of the equation can eliminate until the counting of the votes solves the problem. These unknown quantities are not all the same nor are they of constant value.

The most persistent and most nearly constant unknown element in the vote is the stay-at-home. But this varies a good deal. It is not often that 80 per cent. of the total number of voters cast their ballots. From 60 to 70 per cent. is about normal.

We speak of national campaigns. In some Presidential years like 1896 the voters have become thoroughly aroused and in most of the States voted near the total strength of the parties. In this national campaign, for some reason somewhat difficult to divine, the people are not electrified and in some States the stay-at-homes will probably be numerous, while in other States local issues are likely to call out a very full vote. The vote is full or scant as a rule in proportion to the evenness of party strength. In Texas or Pennsylvania there is not much cause for getting out the whole vote, for the reason that one party or the other has a hopeless cause. There are the States of New York, Ohio and Indiana where party dissensions or local issues will probably call out a heavy vote. The combined forces of evil will move the world to carry New York for the Democratic ticket.

Another unknown quantity in all elections is the vote that will scatter from the two leading parties and go into the numerous sideshows, the Populist, Socialist and Prohibition camps. In 1904 these sideshows polled about three-quarters of a million votes, or about one vote in every twenty. How large will this vote be next Tuesday? That is a puzzle. The President (it is reported) anticipates that Debs, the Socialist candidate, will get 1,500,000 votes. That is twice as many as all the sideshows polled four years ago. It would be about one in ten of the total vote. There are not wanting signs that Mr. Roosevelt is talking from pretty accurate information. Socialism is growing apace in this country. Many who hold socialistic notions will vote for Mr. Bryan. Most of them would do so if they thought their vote would elect him. The Republican party is known to be the great conservative force in our national affairs, and the enemies of society will vote in a way they think will do Republicans the greatest harm. Few of them think Mr. Bryan has any chance of winning, so they will vote their own ticket with the purpose of making the best showing for their cause. No one can tell how many voters hold socialistic views. We know the number is great. Nor can it be said how many will vote with the purpose of magnifying the Bryan strength as a stepping stone to pure socialism, and how many will regard that as throwing their ballot away and so vote to magnify their party importance. But all who have made much inquiry do know that the socialistic party is growing rapidly.

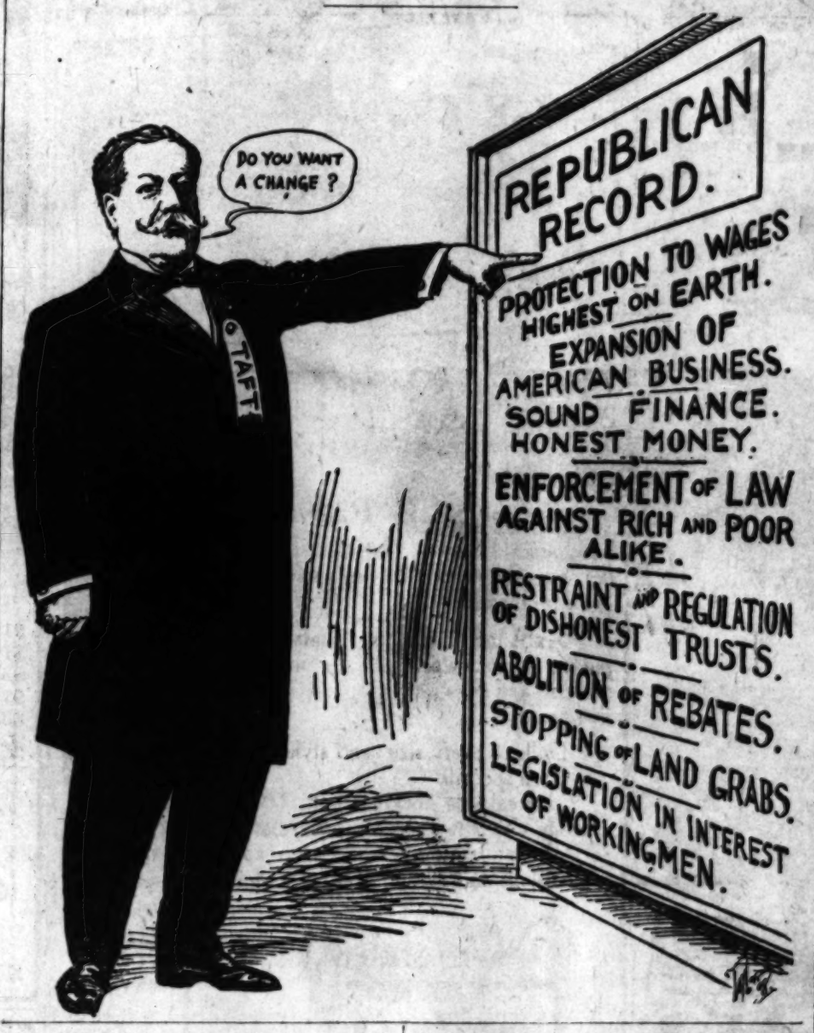
There is no denying the fact that socialism is spreading among working people. Many mechanics and other wage-earners are of this way of thinking. A large percentage of these are citizens of foreign birth. They come here with this virus in their minds. They are hostile to the government largely because the government in their native lands is not just, and they have not been long enough here to learn the different conditions in America. This vote is also for Bryan when it is not for Debs. In a few States, if the estimate attributed to the President is correct, this vote might hold the balance of power.

Here in Los Angeles in the mills and shops many industrious and sober workmen are avowed Socialists and will vote for Debs.

In the future (not far off) the political struggle will be directly drawn between these revolutionary forces and the conservative elements of society. Many will not be surprised to see them led by Mr. Bryan, whose attacks on wealthy men merely for being wealthy, and whose preaching of injustice done by society to laboring people, have had more to do with creating this sentiment than the teachings of any other person.

A third unknown quantity is the Prohibition party strength. This quantity has made much growth of late and is larger today than in any campaign. All who advocate prohibition do not vote the party ticket. Many highly conscientious and intelligent citizens who fight the "demon rum" do not believe in a Prohibition party. These are for the most part men of property, of large material interests in the country, and they are as a rule Republicans.

AN APPEAL TO REASON.



are for temperance, it is likely to get out a heavy vote, and prohibition adherents who vote the Prohibition ticket are not likely to determine the result. How they can support the party of Tom Taggart and his French Lick resort is a puzzle.

In New York moral considerations, with Charles E. Hughes as the exponent of all things good, are also strong terms in the equation. Here, if the church people are true to their principles at the polls, Taft and Hughes must win by heavy majorities over Tammany Hall and the race tracks up State.

We have not spoken of the Populist sideshow for the reason that W. J. Bryan is a Populist and usually controls most of that vote except in Georgia, where Mr. Watson lives. The Democrats and the Populists can usually make a coalition on satisfactory terms where Bryan's influence counts.

The impossible and fantastic Independence League, which depends on W. R. Hearst for every breath it breathes, is the last of the unknown quantities, of mere fractional value in about the tenth decimal place and not calling for more than the digit one in any case.

SHALL WOMEN SMOKE?

This Philadelphia doctor, Skidetsky, or Skiddoosky, or whatever the name is, who advises women to smoke cigarettes moderately, has raised an interesting question. Of course, as it is well known, large numbers of women are already addicted to the habit, but what Skidetsky says is that a cigarette or two, now and then, would not harm any lady.

That the staid sisters will rear up at this there can be no doubt. We do not hesitate to say that to a majority of American women the smoking of a cigarette would seem equivalent on their part to taking a straight jump into that place which the Revised Version designates as Sheol, but which is more familiarly known by another name.

And yet, although it may not be credited, there are a lot of fine women in this country who smoke not only cigarettes, but even take a pull at the pipe. Horace Greely's mother smoked a pipe, and she reared a fine son when she brought Horace up. In New England it was once not an uncommon sight to see the mothers of the kind of men who took Ticonderoga with Ethan Allen and who stormed Stony Point with Mad Anthony, enjoying themselves at the shrine of milady Nicotine. In the mountain districts of the South women even chew tobacco, though we should like to draw the line at that as about the most disgusting habit tolerated by the Constitution of the United States.

As far as the women of foreign lands, and especially of Latin countries are concerned, smoking is so prevalent as to be quite common. In our neighboring republic of Mexico, the female elite of the land are inveterate smokers. A Mexican young lady would not hesitate to smoke a cigarette in a street car if she felt like it, while in the homes of the cultured and wealthy the lady of the house does not hesitate to join her family or her guests in a smoke after dinner or at any other time.

That American women will never become generally addicted to cigarette smoking is our hope and belief. Just now it would not be advisable for a woman to let the neighbors in the same block see her at it, at any rate. Kissing a cigarette-smoking woman—Bah! And how can lovely woman even endure the embraces of a male cigarette fiend? Go to, Skiddoosky!

END IS NEAR.

The strangest Presidential campaign in our history, in many of its features, is practically closed. The Sabbath hours of quiet are sandwiched between today and Monday—and then the people vote.

The Times feels that it has done its duty to its readers, its party and its State and country. We were among the first Taft advocates, if not the very first. We were actually the first in this section, where our sphere of influence centers.

After the candidate we stood for the principles of our party at all moments and steadfastly refused to be led after any Populistic fads. We warned the party against going into any competition with our adversaries in sacrificing principle for the sake of bidding for the votes of those bent on mischief through unjust legislation. We were naturally gratified when the party constructed a platform out of sound Republican timber spiked together with flawless American principles.

Pending the dawn of election day, we have labored incessantly to set before the people the importance of electing the party ticket and thus insuring the continued application of our principles in conducting the government, and the danger to our institutions and business of putting the revolutionary forces in power to apply their unsound experiments on us. Twice before the people have con-theory condemned by all students of statesmanship and of political economy. He comes before us at this third time on a new notion, not less generally condemned by all whose opinion is of value. It is an old device tried long ago and discarded because found unworkable. The guaranteeing of the immediate payment of every dollar of deposits in all the banks in the country by holding out of circulation one-eighth of one cent out of each dollar is as unphilosophical a theory as perpetual motion, as lifting oneself by one's boot-straps, as making a gill of water fill a hogshead, or stopping a break in a Holland dike 100 feet wide with a shovel full of mud. If the scheme were workable it would still be unjust and dishonest. If it were just and honest it would still be unworkable.

This and all other issues we have treated at length and at the same time have set forth all the news bearing on the campaign obtainable from day to day. We leave the verdict with the great jury of the people, whom we believe to be intelligent and sound of judgment. From all parts come to us gratifying assurance that the verdict will be strongly in favor of the cause we have pleaded. We have made elaborate arrangements to lay this verdict before the people just as fast as the jury is polled next Tuesday. Before midnight on election day we hope to spread the gratifying news that William Howard Taft will be our President for the next four years, and on Wednesday we will present to our readers full tabulated statements showing how the people have registered their sovereign will.

We have only one plea to make—one put forward often—to our 200,000 readers today. Vote in your precinct on Tuesday. Cast your ballot with the rest of the great jury.

THE EUCALYPTUS GROVE.

Oh, eucalyptus trees, how sweet to lie
At rest, enveloped in thy gray-green shade,—
To breathe thy piquant fragrance, feel the spell
By winds soft rustling thro' the branches made!
Here the abundant radiance of day
Is mellowed to a deep tranquillity
Like to the hallowed twilight that is felt
In some vast old cathedral's sanctity.

Oh, eucalyptus trees. I know thee well,—
The smooth-barked trunks, the length and strength of limb,
The pungent-scented gray of leaves that part
O'erhead to let the sunshine filter in.
And musing here alone, I sometimes think
From these gnarled roots to heav'n is but a span
And lo! my inner life has found at last
The unity of Nature, God, and Man.

REGINALD GRACE.

HOROSCOPE.

Saturday, October 31, 1908.

BY COZETTE.

Peer not behind the misty veil of chance.
Deceptive forms will mock the curious glance.

This 305th day, with the moon six days old, begins a period wherein hazard and all ventures based even remotely on chance are most ill-advised.

The evil aspect of Neptune threatens speculation, and there is a further indication that men will strive to affect the markets of the world with "confounding rumors."

The "occult period" is powerful in these twenty-four hours. Do not question the future or strive to peer behind the veil. Omens will be deceiving and mischievous save to the skilful.

Venus is in a square with Uranus, promising that the affairs of the heart should prosper despite all untoward circumstances or signs.

Venus in trine with the moon increases this influence. Courtships, avowals, engagements and weddings are under excellent aspects.

A good day to ask favors, especially in the evening.

Deal with dry goods merchants, milliners, dressmakers, drapers, painters, decorators, jewelers, perfumers and florists.

Engage servants. Give home entertainments.

Do anything connected with singing, music and dancing.

Take heed against disorderly crowds, especially during the latter part of the twenty-four-hour period.

Women with this birthdate should guard against injury from riding in recklessly driven vehicles during the twelve months. Good news is indicated as coming from a place and source now utterly unknown to them.

Men with their birthdate today are menaced by quarrels. They must avoid them. Their business will prosper, but it will require all their care. Those in employment will need to be prepared for a sudden demand.

Children are born today under configurations that betoken kindness and generosity. Girls must be guarded against falls in infancy. Boys will probably do well in employment.

Rewarded for Helping Dublin.

The improvement of social conditions is often rewarded by King Edward, who made Sir Arthur Cecil Guinness of the Irish firm of brewers a baronet in recognition of his gift of $1,250,000 for the rebuilding of the slums of Dublin. The baronet occupied six years and when successfully accomplished King Edward raised the baronet to the peerage with the title of Baron Iveagh. After the baron visited Ireland last year, Lord Iveagh presented $500,000 to the Irish hospitals in commemoration of the sovereign's visit and in return he was made a count.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS MORE.

Petroleum Is Thirty-three Per Cent. Higher.

Enormous Growth in Output Less Than Price.

Corporation Confident They Will Keep It up.

The enormous increase in oil production this year announced by The Times a few days since, while it may cause timid souls, does not serve to disturb the well-informed operators in the least. From every side comes positive statement that there is no lack of supply over demand. On the contrary there is a market for all the oil it is pumped. Possibly the Standard has used some of its Kern reserves to fill its big reservoirs when they have been short, but it is not affecting the market. The price of this oil, counting original cost of storage, loss by evaporation, interest on the investment, is now 90 cents a barrel which is being pumped at 60 cents or higher, and the Standard, with many smaller concerns, is said to be a low market, but can

The production of 5,500,000 barrels is the big feature of the year. The increase in value will be far in excess of the increase in quantity. Last year the State Mining Bureau placed the value of 40,311,171 barrels at 66,516,932 cents and a fraction over 60 cents. This year it is safe to put the average price down as not less than 90 cents and a fraction, making the value of 45,500,000 barrels of oil, an increase of $11,-000,000 on the average basis of last year's sales, the total value would be $40,950,000; or, in other words, more than one directly to higher prices, the enhanced production being enhanced production

Not only is the price to be paid the different species of Kern and Midway go up automatically to 62½ cents a barrel, under the contract with the Associated. The Standard's people are frank, and do not ad-

Producers do not fear, they say, overproduction by the time the wells come up for renewal. Past history shows that wells come in gradually and that they do not affect the market, as did the mass brought in comparatively shallow depths at first in the early days.

West Edge Development.

The Kern Oil Company is the latest company organized to exploit the fields of Kern River. Its incorporators are H. R. Peacock, J. W. Kelly, W. C. L. Taylor and others, all of Bakersfield. The capital is $250,000, and one-half actually subscribed. The land is in 26-28-27, the old Hart Crude property now being cut up and sold.

Drilled on Bluffs.

In the days of the boom a number of wells were drilled on the bluffs north of Kern City and on the west side of the river south from the Kern field. Among those that operated here were M. H. Whitton E. Green of this city, and Associated. They failed to get results, and went across the river and struck good oil on the land where they finally located the property now known as the Green & Whittier leases. The company was the Panorama, in 14-29-28, away up on the hill a mile back from where the Kern Associated is fak-ing, or trying to. Two wells were drilled without practical results, were abandoned and forgotten, and a fraudulent map the Kern Co. shows them exactly as if they were producing wells, in-dicated by the same heavy black lines to indicate the big producers on the Wolverine, Apollo and others. The site is so far out that none of the maps show it for years.

Boiling in Utah.

Activity is going on near Thistle, in Central Utah, south-east of Emery county, where the Utah Development Company, largely of Los Angeles and Nevada people, is lo-cated. Results are said to be good, and the company has done noth-ing as yet, and it is under-stood there are serious differences among the owners.

LODGES AND SERVICES.

Masonic Lodges Hold Impressive Ceremonies With Officers of the Grand Lodge Present.

Interesting ceremonies were held at Masonic Temple last night, the occasion being a joint constitution and in-stallation service of Westlake and Uni-versity lodges, F. and A.M. The Grand Lodge was represented by Grand Mas-ter Lawler and Senior Grand Warden R. Weller and it was the official appearance of the former.

The constitution service began with the reading of the officers of the lodge followed by a hymn. Addresses were made by the Grand officers, eloquent response was made by Master Lawler. Pray-er, the presentation of officers and the ceremony completed this part of the service.

The installation service, there were several, by a quartette. With the ceremonial the installa-tion of the wardens was car-ried out by the installation officers.

The services were concluded shortly after 10 and then adjournment to the banquet hall, where a feast for several hundred guests.

Toasts on Arrangements in-cluded A. Hammel, Henry M. Robinson, A. Kelly, John W. Mitchell, W. Webster, Wilson T. Ward, W. M. Humphreys, John Percival, J. Beers, Paul Over-mire, Fordham, John D. Wal-lace, Mitchell, James A. Foshay, M. Shepard, Charles Archibald P. Thomson, Carl Cronemiller, James W. Sommer-ville, L. Andrews. The committee was: Ar-thur B. Mosher, Owen Chester B. Walsworth, Champ S. Vance, John Luckenbach, and Charles N. Bennett. Committee Humphreys, Archi-bald, James W. Webster, Music, John D. Edward F. Dishman. The band was composed of N. P. J. PASADENA.

CARY IS GIVEN DIFFICULT JOB.

HIS THE TASK TO FIND SOMETHING NOVEL.

Directors of Tournament Park Association Want an Out of the Ordinary Attraction for New Year's Day—Dinner Ready When New Rector Arrives from East.

Office of The Times, No. 38 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 31.—President Cary and the other directors of the Tournament of Roses Association are in search of some form of entertainment which will be novel to the visitors in Pasadena on New Year's Day. The chariot races probably will be run as usual, but it is hoped that some additional form of amusement may be provided. Something new and in keeping with the West is wanted by the directors.

NEW RECTOR ARRIVES.

Rev. Leslie Learned, the new rector of the All Saints' Episcopal Church, arrived last night and was heartily greeted by a number of prominent church workers. His home was charmingly decorated by the Women's Guild of the church. Dinner was awaiting the family. Rev. Mr. Learned will preach Sunday morning.

Mrs. Louis du P. Millar, late of England, has been chosen as the new soprano of the church, in place of Miss Kathryn Warner.

CLOSING CAMPAIGN.

The closing Democratic rally of the local campaign will be held here this afternoon at Library Park. Judson H. Rush, candidate for Congress from the Seventh District, will be the principal speaker. The meeting will begin at 4 o'clock.

Over 200 men marched through the streets last night to the accompaniment of a band and carrying many placards of the Prohibition party. Following the parade a rally was held in the tent on North Fair Oaks avenue, at which Rev. Frank M. Dowie, Rev. F. G. H. Stevens and Rev. Charles Weigel were the principal speakers.

CHARTER IDEAS.

C. C. Brown, who presided at the first meeting at which the amendment of the present City Charter was advocated, is preparing a petition asking the City Council to consider certain changes. He advocates peculiarly the election of Councilmen by wards instead of by the entire people. He also favors the election of such officers as Street Superintendent and Chief of Police, his idea being to take the power out of the hands of the Mayor, who now appoints these men. He believes in all officials having to pass a civil service examination.

GREAT GLASS.

It is expected that the immense 100-inch glass for the second and greatest observatory to be constructed on Mt. Wilson will leave Antwerp today, for the long voyage across the Atlantic. It will be ground at the Carnegie Observatory workshops in this city on its arrival and the work of building the new telescope, of which it is to become a part, will commence next summer.

The observatory which contains the five-foot glass, recently taken to the top of Mt. Wilson, will be completed within the next month, and observations will be taken through it early in December.

TEMPORARY ADDITION.

Another temporary addition to the High School is to be made at once to accommodate the pupils where now overcrowding the present building. At a recent meeting the Board of Education opened three bids, but all were so close that it was decided to postpone the selection until the next meeting.

The board is quietly considering the question of a new high school. One of the members said recently that the question would come up soon early date and that the present building would probably be given over to grammar school purposes, after the completion of the new high school.

Many people in the city wish to see a substantial high school built here, whether it is made up of separate buildings, or whether it is under one roof. At an early date the board will consider the consolidation of the Lamanda Park and the local school districts.

WILL PLAY PRES

The Throop Institute academy eleven will play the preparatory seven of U.S.C. at Tournament Park at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The college eleven of Throop will meet the Occidental College boys at the Highland Park campus this afternoon.

ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT.

William H. Vedder, former mayor of this city, was yesterday elected vice-president of the First National Bank of this city. He has for some time been associated with the institution as treasurer of the Pasadena Savings and Trust Company.

SAD MESSAGE.

Word was received, yesterday, of the death of Mrs. Frank P. Boynton, at the home of her mother in Lowell, Mass., on the 25th inst. Mrs. Boynton and her husband, the late Frank P. Boynton, came to this city in the early days.

EXTRA PATROL TONIGHT.

For Halloween, Chief Fassett has secured additional men to patrol the city. It is the idea of the chief to stop destruction by merrymakers, but to be as lenient as possible, so that the night may be properly celebrated.

POLYTECHNIC WINS

The Polytechnic Elementary school on California street defeated the Wilson grammar school in a close game of football last night, the score being 6 to 5. Horrell made a big end run and touchdown for Throop and Menning scored for Wilson. The goal kicked by Horrell won the game.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Colored voters will hold a rally at the North Fair Oaks-avenue tent tonight. Attorney Blair of Los Angeles will be the chief speaker.

Pasadena members of the Republican County Central Committee met last night and outlined plans for Tuesday.

Myron Hunt, of the firm of Hunt & Grey, Los Angeles, spoke to the students of Throop yesterday morning, telling of the plans drawn for the new buildings of the institute.

The funeral of William W. Jones will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Death came to him yesterday. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a member of the local corps of the G.A.R. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

The engagement of Earl M. Weight, a Los Angeles newspaper man and resident of this city, to Miss Sallie E. Dexter, a popular young woman of Troy, N. Y., was announced yesterday.

The English are [illegible] in the form of repartee to fling at the Kaiser for saying they are as made as March hares. The thing will doubtless be a stunner and ought to be ready in

ALL DAY WILL RALLY LAST.

Republican Carnival at Covina to Mark Wind-up of the Campaign.

COVINA, Oct. 30.—American liberty bunting and flags adorn the city today in preparation for the all-day Republican carnival and political wind-up of the campaign, tomorrow. The best Republican speakers in the State will make Covina the last stand of the Presidential campaign, embracing in the gathering the towns of Azusa, Glendora, Charter Oak, San Dimas, Puente, Pomona and El Monte. Five thousand visitors are expected.

The Seventh Regiment band of Pomona will head a parade of 100 automobiles at 9 o'clock. At 11 o'clock Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles will deliver an address on the school campus. At 1:30 p.m. Senator Flint will deliver his last address for the campaign. He will be followed by Hon. HOSE BREAKS UP SOCIAL CLASS.

POMONA JUNIORS SOUSED BY THE SENIORS.

Because of This and Other Pranks Authorities Will not Allow School Building to Be Used for Other Than Educational Purposes—Endeavor Programme Arranged.

POMONA, Oct. 30.—Because of pranks perpetrated at the High School a few nights ago, all of the classes have been denied the privilege of holding any social, literary or general gathering at the building by Supervising Principal Parke W. Kauffman, until further notice. A few evenings ago, the juniors were having a social class gathering at the school, when over 100 seniors and sophomores, on mischief bent, sought to gain entrance. The doors had been locked by the juniors, however, and there was no means of entrance except through the windows. After considerable parleying, a window or two, nobody seems to know how, became broken. One of their number once inside to unbolt a door, the invading hosts swarmed in and "captured the works." Unwilling and protesting juniors were taken out to the shower baths and were given copious showers. A hose was brought into play also, inside the big building. The next day, after these nocturnal gambols, the edict came from Prof. Kauffman denying the lads and lasses of the school the social privileges of the building. Hence an entertainment which the seniors had planned to give today did not take place. Last evening, the girls of the junior class entertained the boys of the class with a supper and "jolly up" on the grounds of Dr. and Mrs. F. DeWitt Crank on North Garey avenue, the festivities commencing at 6 o'clock. About 8 o'clock a crowd of seniors appeared, evidently supposing that supper would be well under way and that there would be opportunity for more mischievous interference. But they were too late and after being invited to partake of the "leavings," they good-naturedly departed. The Crank grounds were attractively decorated with lanterns and many out-of-door games were enjoyed.

EPWORTH CONVENTION.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the members of the Epworth leagues of the First Methodist and Trinity Methodist churches of this city, for the entertainment of the Pasadena District Epworth League convention to be held in Trinity Church on November 13 and 14. It is expected that about 200 delegates will be present and meals will be furnished in the basement parlors for the visitors. An automobile ride to Ganesha Park has also been arranged. William B. Himrod of this city is president of the district cabinet which has had charge of preparing the programme.

MEDAL DRILL.

The members of Co. D, N.G.C., are busy with preparations for the competitive medal drill to be held at the Fraternal Aid Theater on the evening of November 10. The drill will be followed by a dance and the proceeds of the evening will be used to help defray the expenses of the rifle range just completed northwest of Ganesha Park.

NEGRO VOTE.

PINS FAITH TO REPUBLICANS.

COLORED BISHOP DEFINES HIS POLITICAL CREED.

Says His People Have Nothing to Hope from Democrats, but That Reason, Justice and Gratitude Compel Them to Remain With Party of Lincoln and Taft.

MONROVIA, Oct. 30.—"The Democratic party has never done anything for us; has never promised to do anything. We have nothing to hope from it. When I compare the two great parties, reason, justice and gratitude compel me to remain in the ranks of the Republican party through which has come all we have, as a race, of liberty and advancement."

With this declaration of political creed Bishop J. S. Caldwell closed his address of last evening to the delegates of the Pacific Coast conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. The echoing cheers with which it was received, refuted the assertion frequently made during the present campaign that there is dissension in the ranks of colored voters. The attitude of Bishop Caldwell is especially satisfactory to local colored men since they have been somewhat perturbed by appeals, purporting to come from an Ohio African league, to support Bryan.

DEMOCRATS DISCRIMINATE.

After dealing with routine church matters, Bishop Caldwell said: "Since state and church exist under the same laws, the one cannot be indifferent to the other. Good government is as essential to the progress of the church as to the State. It is held by some that churchmen should not concern themselves with politics, or, in effect, should leave the State to elect its rulers, good or bad, and enact laws and then complain if the laws under which they must live are unjust. I hold the contrary opinion. The church should exercise its whole power, bring to bear every atom of influence for good and impartial government. We are in the midst of a spirited campaign. The two great national parties are asking the support of the people for their candidates. How shall we vote? Far be it from me to decide what your course in this particular shall be. I am, however, permitted to define my own position. This, perhaps, would be unnecessary were it not for the fact that there is considerable unrest among the black voters and of late there has been much debating as to where they shall stand in this campaign. Admitting shortcomings of the Republican party in not using its full power and influence to give black citizens the protection of life and liberty that it should, to what other political alliance, I ask, shall we look to better our conditions? Certainly not to the Democratic party which has enacted laws of discriminative nature against our race throughout the South. The Democratic party has never done anything for us; has never promised to do anything. We have nothing to hope from it. When I compare the two great parties, reason, justice and gratitude compel me to remain in the ranks of the Republican party, through which has come all we have, as a race, of liberty and advancement."

FULL-BLOODED NEGRO.

Bishop Caldwell is a full-blooded negro, born in slavery on the Howle plantation at Charlotte, N. C., during the first year of the Civil War. Under many discouragements and difficulties he won an education, graduating from Livingston College, Salisbury, Ala., and Union Theological Seminary, New York. After serving circuits and stations for nearly twenty years he was chosen bishop of the seventh diocese, with residence in Philadelphia, four years ago. His district consists of Northern Pennsylvania, all of Ohio, Kentucky and Alabama as well as the Pacific Coast conference, and has an immense colored population.

BELL IS ACQUITTED.

Man Taken from Santa Monica to Winnipeg Is Set Free by Canadian Court.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 30.—Word was received by telegraph today from Winnipeg, Man., announcing that Calvin Bell had been acquitted before the Circuit Court of that province on a charge of embezzlement. Bell was arrested here some months ago and taken to Winnipeg for trial. He had come to this beach to make his home and declared that he was innocent of any crime. The return to the north was made without the formality of extradition papers, Bell stating that as he was not guilty he was anxious to face his accusers. Bell expects to soon return to his home here, on Central avenue and Lincoln street.

TELLS OF MAIL MATTERS.

Postmaster K. B. Summerfield today made his initial appearance as a public speaker. He talked entertainingly for an hour before the classes at the High School and dessimated a deal of useful information in connection with subjectes bearing upon postal affairs. It is at the request of the Postmaster-General that the postmasters throughout the country have entered upon a campaign of education, and the talks before high school classes fit in nicely as a part of the course in civil government.

VENICE SPECULATION.

Los Angeles-Pacific Franchise Application Sets Tongues Wagging in Kinney's Town.

VENICE, Oct. 30.—Considerable speculation is being indulged in as to the ultimate object of the Los Angeles Pacific Railway Company in making application to the Trustees for a forty-year franchise for a standard gauge track on Lorelei avenue from Trolleyway to the Windward avenue pier. This track was laid three years ago, on a temporary permit, and was used in hauling stone for the building of the Kinney breakwater. The old Board of Trustees ordered the track torn up and stirring developments followed—but the track was not molested.

The application for a franchise at this time, when there is talk of dredging a canal from the seaside to Los Angeles and establishing a deep-water harbor at Venice, has given rise to speculation as to the Harriman purpose in seeking long-term privileges. Rumor has even gone so far as to indicate that the Kinney interests were again being about to be sold to Harriman. As work is about to be started on the subway, it is not unreasonable to believe that the railroad interests have designs on harbor frontage before beginning the expenditure of the millions, which means so much for the future of this bay.

FINAL MEETING AT OCEAN PARK.

REPUBLICANS HOLD LOVEFEST DOWN BY THE SEA.

Santa Monica Bay Club Makes Poll of District and Is Certain Party Candidates Will Have Big Majority. Beach Property Exchanged for Foothill Residence.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 30.—The most enthusiastic Republican meeting of the Santa Monica Bay district's campaign was held at the Pier-avenue Casino tonight. The attendance was large and the interest great.

The meeting was called to order by J. C. Hemingway of the Santa Monica Bay Republican Club. He said a poll of the bay district had just been completed and showed a strong majority for the Republican standard bearers. He introduced Superior Judge Hutton, who was to act as chairman for the evening. In accepting this honor, Judge Hutton commended Taft as a great, broad statesman and the friend of the people.

C. J. Nellis of Sawtelle, Republican nominee for Supervisor from the Fourth District, said if elected he would give the people a square deal in an economical, businesslike administration.

Frank Willis, nominee for Superior judge, was introduced, but said as the central committee had ruled that the candidates for seats on the Superior bench should make no campaign addresses he would have to be content with showing himself—just to prove that the Republican convention had nominated no "dead ones."

Levity was introduced into the gathering by J. Mosier, who sang "Bryan's Soliloquy," which told of the defeats of the "Peerless One" and the final return of the Commoner farmer back to the farm.

TAFT AND PROSPERITY.

Robert A. Ling of Los Angeles made an eloquent appeal for prosperity and good times, which the election of the Republican ticket insured. He reviewed the passage and operation of the Wilson bill, under Democratic leadership, and told of the blighting effect. The voters could not afford to put the reins of government into the hands of amateurs and rainbow-chasers. Taft's splendid ability and experience made him the logical man for the Presidency.

Frank Domingues of Los Angeles made an earnest and effective talk. He dwelt upon the capability, fitness, courage and experience of the Republican nominees as eminently qualifying them for the direction of the affairs of the nation.

For a stated consideration of $10,500, A. M. Squire has transferred to Thomas Dugan two seven-room houses of two stories each, situated on Park avenue. In exchange Mr. Squire received a $9000 residence in Sierra Madre, which he at once sold to Darwin S. Fish of Oakland.

A petition opposing the change of the name of the city from Ocean Park to Venice is being prepared for circulation among the property owners. The first steps in the direction of making the change were expected to be taken by the Trustees Monday evening next. The effect of the counter petition probably will be to delay action.

At a meeting of the Santa Monica Bay Chamber of Commerce this evening, resolutions were adopted asking that the Postal Department install the city delivery system of mail for the district served by the Ocean Park postoffice. The request is for free delivery as far north as Strand street in Santa Monica to the southern limits of the city—alymost to Playa del Rey.

COLEGROVE MUSICALE.

COLEGROVE, Oct. 30.—A charmingly arranged Hallowe'en musicale was given this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dow Kirk at their home, "Acacia Nook." It brought together about forty local, Hollywood and Los Angeles artists of ability. Following a varied programme of vocal and instrumental music and readings there was a musical guessing contest and then tiny pumpkin pies and molasses cakes and coffee were served. The rooms were decked with pumpkins and chrysanthemums.

The programme was given by Mrs. Hennion Robinson, Bruce Gordon Kingsley, Miss Oulett and Mrs. Hugo Kirchhofer, pianists; Mrs. Alex. Schloesser and Mrs. Hodgson, readers; Mrs. Kirk, Mr. Coleman, Miss Florence Johnson, Mrs. Hodgson, Hugo Kirchhofer, Mrs. George Eastman, Mrs. Hodgson, Miss Welker, Mrs. Scott, Miss Nast and Mrs. Welker, vocalists.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. D. Mahaffey, Mrs. Alex Schloeser, Miss Castanien and Miss Florence Johnson.

BUILT TO LOOK AT, NOT TO USE.

TOWER OF REDONDO CITY HALL SEEMS IN DANGER.

Purely Decorative Feature Has Been Saddled With Ton Weight of Fire Alarm and Fear Is Expressed That the Structure May Be Injured. Prosperity Banquet.

REDONDO, Oct. 30.—The installation of the Gamewell fire alarm system in the city at an expense approximating $1000 has created a condition which may turn out to be little short of a calamity to the handsome new city hall, recently completed at a cost of $28,000. When the specifications of the building were drawn, the tower, a purely decorative feature, was provided for in a light construction wholly inadequate to sustain the weight of a ton or a ton and a quarter of fire alarm apparatus, consisting of a huge brazen bell and heavy clapper with the system of weights and balances necessary to bring them within the control of an electric button. It is said that an effort was made to stiffen the tower construction to meet the new use, but is likely to prove ineffective. Not only the tower but the entire building vibrates to the strokes of the bell, and the fear is widely expressed that the continued use of the apparatus may cause irremediable injury to the structure. There was a wide difference of opinion at the time the order was given to install the fire alarm apparatus in the city hall tower instead of the regular fire station which had been provided near-by at considerable expense. One trustee is reported to have warned his colleagues that he would go into the courts to prevent installation in the city hall if they persisted. He soon afterward resigned, however, and nothing came of the warning. Now, it is rumored that one of the trustees is talking on the same line.

It is certain that the building is in danger of permanent injury, and certain property holders are preparing to take action to fix the blame for existing conditions.

Mrs. Bunch, widow of J. Newton Bunch, who committed suicide here last Sunday, was in the city today, engaged in collecting affidavits as to the death of her husband for the insurance bureau of the Woodmen of the World. The affidavits of Dr. Friedman, who attended her husband, professionally, and of Lee Wedington, the man who found him in the sand dunes near Manhattan, were secured.

The prosperity banquet provided for at the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to take place between November 15 and 25. Chairman Burnett is authority for the statement that it has been postponed largely on account of the desire of the committee to give the banquet as the opening event of the splendid new restaurant at the pavilion, the completion of which has been delayed on account of the elaborateness of the decorations. These have been placed in charge of one of the leading electrical houses of Los Angeles, and are to cost several thousand dollars. Indeed, it is the expressed intention of the management of the Redondo Improvement Company that this shall be one of the show places of Southern California, where a delicious meal of sea food may be served amid artistic surroundings and to the accompaniment of high-class music. The decorators have been given carte blanche in the matter of cost. It is said the electrical fixtures alone will cost $2500, and everything else is in complete accord.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY REPORT.

The Federal grand jury submitted a partial report to Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court, yesterday, and sixteen indictments were returned. Most of the cases are against men charged with selling liquor to Indians and there are three or four alleged violations of the postal regulations. Bench warrants will be served this morning upon defendants not in custody at the present time. The jurymen will meet again Monday for further deliberations. It is stated by Federal officials that no cases of a sensational nature are to be considered during the present term.

TROUBLE GROWS FROM SEEDS.

Three suits for an alleged infringement of a patent process for seeding fruit, were brought in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, against the Tulare Packing Company, Alfred T. Ellis, Leslie F. Griffin and C. E. Broadwell, by the United States Consolidated Seeded Raisin Company of New York. The bills in equity are similar to those formerly brought in the same court against other defendants, charged with infringement of the patent owned by the New York concern. There are about fifteen suits pending in the Federal Court.

SHOTS FOLLOW NEGRO'S WINK.

CENT BYSTANDER INJURED OF COURSE.

Armed Santa Barbara Mob Attempts to Lynch Colored Man — Shoots at Another Negro and Kills Boy—Police Manage to Get Prisoner Safely in Jail.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 30.—[Exclusive Publication.] An infuriated mob, engendered by the accidental shooting and probable fatal wounding of a 10-year-old boy this afternoon by J. W. Johnson, a negro barber, when he attempted to kill Charles Dehart, a negro second-hand goods dealer, charged with robbery, only the prompt action and bravery of Policeman Hoque prevented a possible lynching. The little victim, John Abadie, is at the point of death at his home on the City Hall Plaza. Dehart is in the Cottage Hospital, with his body superficially riddled with shot, while Johnson is in jail, charged with attempted murder. He claims the shooting was accidental, says he is sorry he didn't kill Dehart, but is worried over Abadie's condition. Quotes the boy, he wails.

THIRD ATTEMPT.

It was the third attempt made by Johnson on Dehart's life. The bad blood between the men is caused by a woman, who left him some time ago and went to work in Dehart's store forty feet away.

Johnson passed Johnson's place at 4 o'clock and sneered and winked derisively. Johnson said he had been trying for the last month to keep from shooting the second-hand dealer, but Dehart haunted him; he "saw red" and couldn't help shooting. The negro stopped at the first shot, and a second load of buckshot passed over the fleeing judgment on John Abadie, who was far away. Johnson rushed back into the shop, reloaded his gun and ran out. Policeman Hoque grabbed the armed negro, Johnson made no resistance, and as the crowd rushed him with cries of "lynch him," he begged for protection. Officers Jacobs and Jeffers Janssens of the County Jail, who happened to be near, took the prisoner in police custody.

Young Abadie was rushed to the breakers, and in a hurry to a doctor's office, where it was found three bullets had entered completely through the body, abdomen. The little chap realizes he is dying, but didn't want to frighten his mother by his condition. The shooting occurred in the busiest part of the state street.

SOCIALIST BACKS DOWN.

Coachella Citizens Put Stopper on Disrespectful Mouth—Professor's Boast Falls.

COACHELLA, Oct. 30.—This town is in a state of excitement yesterday afternoon. The Socialists were the cause. Prof. Richardson of San Bernardino, was billed to speak here in the evening. Last Fourth of July this same man spoke in Coachella and made what a number of people who heard him, considered to be a very cowardly and disrespectful mention of the Declaration of Independence.

When he arrived in town yesterday afternoon he was interviewed by several prominent citizens and taken to task for what he had said. Upon his showing a disposition to defend his statement and boasting that he would repeat it in his evening address, the matter became very much wrought up. A mass meeting was called for 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A large audience was in attendance from the two surrounding towns of Thermal and Indio. During some of the speeches made it looked for a time as though trouble was certain. However, the cooler heads prevailed and a committee was appointed which drafted the following resolutions, which was at once presented to the Socialist committee:

"That a meeting of citizens of Coachella Valley, at which the towns of Indio, Thermal and Coachella were represented, we, the undersigned committee, were appointed to wait upon the Socialist Committee which invited Prof. Richardson of San Bernardino to speak in Coachella this evening and to inform them the indignation of this people at an utterance so base and treasonable as was made by that individual on a former occasion in this valley and which, by his own word, he proposes to repeat this evening. The matter referred to, being in substance that the Declaration of Independence was a lie and all who signed it liars.

"That the committee we desire to inform, and do hereby do so, that any utterance or any other disrespectful slurring mention of the Declaration of Independence will not be tolerated in Coachella Valley."

This was signed by Charles B. Jones, Thermal; Earl H. Nichols, Thermal; [illegible], Indio.

A very determined body of men attended the evening meeting. There happened of a disorderly nature, the reason that the speaker made no effort of his supporters and no attention whatever of the Declaration of Independence.

HEMET.

Oct. 30.—The Woman's Club held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. T. Hall on Buena Vista street. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Jessie Hoyt Hatch and three new members were added to the club. After the business there was a debate on the question, "Resolved, that Environment is a Greatest Factor in Determining Character." Affirmative was upheld by Miss Grace De Fremery, Mrs. S. F. Daniels.

Miss Hoyt Hatch left yesterday for her new home at Imperial. She has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the reading-room and free library during her two years' residence here.

The Democrats held a rally in the opera house last evening. Lafayette Gill of Redlands, Hayes of Los Angeles and Walter C. Mahoy of Perris, spoke.

OXNARD.

OXNARD, Oct. 30.—A peculiar robbery occurred in the David Cohn saloon is reported by Marshal Kelley. Two Mexicans, A. Lopez and M. Murillo, seized a time when the latter was standing at the end of the bar and the former was busy with a number of customers, calmly robbed him of $25. Bystanders saw them do the coin and gave the alarm. Lopez escaped and Murillo was held on arrival of the Marshal. Murillo later captured in a Japanese poolroom.

A Japanese poolroom man, who is running a "blind pig," Sadakiro Nonaker Braddock [illegible] and fined $100. I

Kawamara and R. O. Tukuhura, in his employ, were released. Juan Campa, a bootlegger, supposed to be a go-between for the Japanese, was also fined $100 in addition to fifty days in the County Jail, the latter part of the sentence being suspended twenty-four hours to allow him to leave town.

William Lannett of Los Angeles has secured a lease on the Phoenix block, the most prominent building in the city, and will conduct a store and hotel. The building was recently made vacant by the closing of one of the saloons.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT.

FERTILE LAND AROUND OTIS.

LARGE ACREAGE BEING SET TO EUCALYPTUS.

Men Familiar With Region Say It Will Prove as Productive as That of Coachella Valley—Salt Lake Railroad Is Encouraging Its Opening up.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 30.—Most rapid progress when the development along agricultural lines in the region of Otis, on the Salt Lake Railroad, in this county. According to Harrison L. Lane of San Diego, who has just returned from there, the outlook is that the desert country about Otis will prove as fertile as the Coachella Valley, and the climatic conditions as favorable for the growing of semi-tropic fruits, the seasons being similar in every respect to the Coachella country.

Los Angeles men have secured control of 3000 acres, which are being rapidly set out to eucalyptus trees. This immense grove will be a source of timber for ties and poles for the Salt Lake Railroad Company, which is giving the venture every encouragement. Water development has been successful, and already a wide area has been taken under homestead by colonists. Lane predicts that within the next two years the region will be accounted as one of this country's chief sources of revenue.

FOUR BENT ON REVENGE.

Four brothers of Juan Norte, the man who was killed by a Traction car on lower Third street some weeks ago, arrived this morning from Warner's ranch, in San Diego county, determined to be revenged for the supposed murder of their brother. They believe he was really killed and wired to the railway track. If the Sheriff's investigation develops that the death was the result of a street car accident they propose to sue the company for damages.

Indian officials, who have investigated the death, are firm in their belief that a murder was committed. For days after the finding of the body they pursued their investigations, assisted by the cleverest of Indian trailers, and the result was to find pieces of wire where the body lay, which had every appearance of having been coiled about the neck of the deceased, binding him to the rail. Other evidence pointing to murder was discovered.

The one suspect, a powerful Indian of giant stature, who claimed to have found the body, has disappeared.

FRIGHTFUL ACCUSATIONS.

Friends of Mrs. Bartlett, wife of Dr. Howard G. Bartlett, are severely taking the latter to task for his attempt to besmirch the character of his wife in order to secure a divorce. The wife has been appointed matron of a New York home for aged women, and is to assume charge Monday. She bears the best of reputation at Rome, N. Y., the doctor's home place. Friends there, startled at the doctor's frightful accusations, have taken the matter up with a local law firm. Dr. Bartlett is the former allotter of Indian lands in Arizona, who was removed from office on account of alleged intrigues with a school teacher. He is now at Elsinore.

The Sheldon divorce case has been transferred to San Diego for trial. Mrs. Edith Sheldon charges that her husband chloroformed her, and took her out into the bay at San Diego, contemplating giving her a watery burial. He is fighting the case.

The charges of cruelty to children and animals, lodged against Dr. F. E. Duncanson by Probation Officer W. H. Baldwin some months ago, were dismissed at Chino this morning, on instructions from the District Attorney's office.

PROMISING.

ORANGE OUTLOOK IS VERY BRIGHT.

PACKING WILL SHORTLY START FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE.

Several Carloads Will Be Sent from Fullerton for Thanksgiving—Arrangements Made not to Crowd the Market With Green Fruit at Holiday Time.

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—The new orange crop in Orange county this year looks very promising and even at this early date estimates are being made of the output. The navel crop now maturing throughout Orange county is larger than for several years. The fruit is in excellent condition and will run to marketable sizes much better than last year. The crop is ripening a little earlier than usual and Thomas Strain expects to begin packing for the Christmas trade within the next two weeks. Navel oranges this year will be shipped in better condition than last year and care will be taken throughout Southern California to not crowd the market, especially with green fruit. The slump in Christmas prices last year was caused by over-shipments of green fruit. It is said the shippers, by working in harmony, can prevent this, and care will be taken by all packing-houses to keep the shipments equal to the demand. This season's Valencia crop is nearly all shipped and what is left is moving as fast as could be expected. Fullerton will ship several cars of fancy navels for the Christmas trade.

Manager Davis of the Citrus Union says he will ship three carloads of oranges for the Thanksgiving trade, and will move out fifteen or twenty cars for the Christmas and New Year trade.

Mr. Gibbs has sold his fifty-acre improved place southwest of town to a newcomer for $17,000.

"COME-BACK."

REFUND TO BE DISTRIBUTED.

IMPERIAL VALLEY TAXPAYERS HAVE CASH RETURNED.

Thousands of Dollars Will Be Placed in Development Work in Valley—Final Details Settled for General Campaign of Publicity. Historical Society to Be Formed.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 30.—The sum of $[illegible] is to be refunded by Imperial county to the taxpayers. When the County Assessor made up his assessment roll this year he at the same time collected the personal property tax and tax on possessory rights, on the basis of last year's assessment. As that was the first year of the new county's government, the tax rate was especially high, and as a result $34,220 was collected by the County Assessor in making his rounds last spring. The refund roll was completed by County Auditor McClellan yesterday and refunding to the taxpayers will begin immediately, thus turning back in to circulation in Imperial Valley thousands of dollars needed for development work.

PUBLICITY FOR VALLEY.

Final details of a general campaign of publicity for Imperial Valley were completed day before yesterday at a meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce, held at Calexico. The five cities of Imperial Valley—El Centro, Imperial, Holtville, Calexico and Brawley—are to join in a common fund for the purpose of quiting a lecturer in the field at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, circulating fresh literature and conducting excursions to the valley towns at least once every two weeks. Miss Gifford has been engaged to give the general valley lectures. Aside from this campaign, El Centro has undertaken a special supplementary work on its own account, and Dr. R. P. Shepherd will give lectures several times a month at Los Angeles, and act as a general "booster" for this city in Los Angeles. It is expected that this campaign of promotion and publicity will bring hundreds of visitors to Imperial Valley this winter.

COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The matter of organizing a county historical society is being discussed, and it is likely that steps will be taken to preserve valuable documents, files of the local papers, etc., at once.

USES NEW STEAM PLANT.

The Holton Power Company, which supplies the electric light and power for all of the Imperial Valley cities, has placed in commission its auxiliary steam-power plant here. The company is making changes on its high voltage wires between here and Holtville, where its original power-house is located, and where power is generated from water carried through a turbin and discharged into the Alamo River. These changes necessitate relaying on the steam power plant for some time. Next month work is to begin on the construction of a duplicate power plant at Holtville, to use the water after it is discharged from the first turbin. It now has a fall of fourteen feet into the Alamo, and this energy is wasted.

COUNTY'S REGISTRATION.

Imperial county has a total registration of 2660 voters. The precincts show a variation in numbers of registrations ranging from six at Old Beach to 371 at Imperial inside precinct.

FOR GAS PLANT.

J. T. Boyd and Dr. G. H. Kriechbaum of Los Angeles are in Imperial Valley to arrange for the establishment of an $80,000 gas plant at Imperial. This will be independent of the system of plants which W. F. Holt and Redlands associates propose to establish in the towns of the valley.

LAST AND BEST RALLY.

Meeting at Upland Partakes of Nature of Old-time Political Parade and Gathering.

UPLAND, Oct. 30.—The largest and most enthusiastic Republican rally held in the model colony during the present campaign, was that of last night. The effective work during the past few weeks of the officers of the Taft and Sherman Club bore fruit in the marked interest which was manifest throughout the evening. President Huntington of the club, called to the chair Col. James L. Paul, of Upland, who was a delegate to the convention which nominated Taft and Sherman, in Chicago. Col. Paul said he had no fear for the ultimate result of the work of that convention.

After a stirring number by the Upland Concert Band, the chairman introduced Clyde Bishop, of Orange county, who gave a clear, and comprehensive outline of what the Republican party and platform stand for this year, and showed up a good many fallacies of the opposition. Mr. Bishop was accorded the closest attention by the 600 people who crowded Magnolia rink.

Theodore Bell, for the Democrats, held forth in San Bernardino, the same evening, and took nearly all the Democrats of this city away from home, but there were enough Republicans to more than fill the big rink building. Following Mr. Bishop, E. C. Seymour of Highland, spoke for a few minutes.

One of the main features of the rally was the parade earlier in the evening, led by the Upland Concert Band, and participated in by a large throng of voters, in the line of march. The affair partook strongly of an old-time rally and everyone, locally, is delighted with the result.

DIES IN CANYON.

John C. Cunningham, a resident of Upland for almost two years, died at his home in San Antonio Cañon, yesterday, of consumption. He was a native of Belfast, Ireland, but came to this country over twenty years ago, locating in Pittsburgh, where the family still has its home. Ill-health necessitated his coming to California, and the dread disease had taken too firm a hold to be overcome. He leaves a wife, five children and an aged mother. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Levi McCash, pastor of the Christian Church, will be held at the Draper chapel, Ontario, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., and interment will be at Bellevue Cemetery.

BANNING.

BANNING, Oct. 30.—Now that Taft's election is assured, the Dale, mines, eighty miles east of here, are being operated again, after several months of inactivity.

Mrs. E. W. Maxwell has been appointed field matron for the various local Indian reservations. Her duties will be in the line of enforcing sanitary regulations.

WERDIN ON LID.

samples he declares, will do just as well for the grand jury as for the civil courts. He promises the grand jury shall know of the stone through him. The sleuthing property owners may attend to matters in the civil courts when the time comes to pay the bills. By which Werdin thinks the Fairchild Company will be caught coming and going.

City Engineer Hamlin said yesterday that he did not care to be drawn into a controversy between rival paving contractors.

"We will enforce the specifications and require the best of workmanship. There have been condemnations of material just as there always are where it is found defective."

"Would the use of unscreened stone make a difference of 4 cents a square foot?"

Mr. Hamlin smiled and reiterated that he did not wish to be intervener in contractors' disputes.

WORK GOING ON.

Yesterday the Fairchild Company's forces were working rapidly under the direction of the aggressive Bristow, seemingly oblivious of Werdin as he stood near by checking up the concrete as it came from the mixer. The gang is near Eighteenth street. Ahead of it were several piles of stone and sand marked with upright stakes. These were the loads marked for removal as unfit.

Inspector Smith said where a whole load was too fine it was ordered spread over the loads of larger stone so that there will be a fair average. He also said he was willing to stake his reputation, after years of inspection, that this is the best stone ever used in the city. It comes from Spadra and is a rhyolite, deemed particularly hard and serviceable. Werdin even admitted that things were going all right yesterday.

But nevertheless, and notwithstanding he intends to sit on the lid and see that it continues that way clear to Jefferson street and then some.

Property owners who are to pay for the improvement are saying, "Lay on, MacDuff!" They believe setting a contractor to watch a contractor may result in general benefit. In the meantime they are gathering their own little bags of samples.

If the Fairchild Company had not sent its superintendent to San Bernardino to act as over-inspector on paving work that Werdin's company, the Western Paving Company, was doing there, Werdin might never have undertaken his job on the lid. When this superintendent appeared at the head of a Citizens' Committee at San Bernardino, and began to pick flaws in Werdin's work, the latter bided his time. He didn't bide, however, until he had thrown the Fairchild superintendent off the work. After biding a while he appeared on Grand avenue at the beginning of the concrete laying and after 800 feet were laid he lugged a meal bag of sample stone, as small as breakfast food, to the office of the Board of Public Works.

There it remains. The Fairchild Company says the stone being used was the most suitable for the purpose ever used by it, even though some of it may have been smaller than specified. Yesterday many loads were hauled away, some gravel and some stone. But the work is going on just as rapidly as before, which Werdin cheerfully admitted yesterday.

"But it will go on right," he said, significantly, "as long as I sit on the lid."

OCEANSIDE.

OCEANSIDE, Oct. 30.—E. S. Langford, one of the Trustees, is spending a month in British Columbia.

A nervous, irritable woman is a source of misery not only to herself, but to all those who come under her influence. That such conditions can be entirely overcome by taking

"I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I feel like a different person. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold, and I cannot say enough for your advice."

Mrs. Wallace Wilson, Thompsonville, Conn., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was all run down, nervous, and could not rest nights. Doctors failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health."

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache. LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Trading on the market yesterday morning was about the average. There was nothing startling in any particular line of trade. Figs were the only product which had any advance of large proportions. Blacks went up $1 a box, flat. Pacific white figs have been arriving in larger quantities and are bringing an average of 30 cents, considerably higher than usual, due mostly to the shortage of the black variety. Artichokes also jumped slightly, owing chiefly to the fact that all the artichokes on the local market are shipped here via San Francisco. They bring $1 per dozen.

The smallest egg receipts of the year were reported yesterday. Only thirty cases of local ranch count were brought in, and these sold at extreme trade. Naturally offerings were very light and one sale, too small to register even by the exchange, was made on the regular call. Prices were unchanged but very firm. There were no offerings of outside eggs.

Five cubes of cooking butter were sold at current quotations. Listlessness prevailed in the offerings of other varieties. Arrivals were but 12,704 pounds.

Cheese offerings were heavy in northern fresh twins, daisy and longhorn varieties. Arrivals were but forty pounds and no sales were made on the exchange.

Potato receipts were 2742 sacks. Highlands as usual were the chief spuds on the call. A few Lompocs and Salinas were put up.

The demand for onions was good, but those who carried any surplus would not meet the offered prices on large lots. Several small trades brought the total of sales to forty sacks. Arrivals were only seventy-two sacks.

Bean receipts were good, 670 sacks. There were no changes in prices, although the outlook is still lower than at present. A car of pinks to arrive, several hundred sacks of Lady Washingtons and a few lentils constituted the offerings.

Sweet potato arrivals were 185 sacks. None moved on the exchange.

Gano apples were the heariest offerings. Most of this variety comes from Utah and is selling within the range of $1.50 to $1.60 per box. Arrivals of apples totaled 1600 boxes, some of these all the way from Oregon.

Fish were in good demand and the market carried just enough stock to go around. Smelt, kingfish and sardines were the small varieties most in abundance. Northern fish were scarce.

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

DULL AND QUIET IN THE NORTH.

MINING MARKET CLOSES WITH NO IMPROVEMENT.

Weak and Inactive All Day. Fluctuations Narrow, and Trading Unimportant—Little Interest in Leading Issues—Stocks Scarce but Easy Able to Supply Demand.

[Special service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, Citizens' National Bank Bldg. Member Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The market closed slightly weaker than the noon-day figures; it was weak and inactive all day, and while there is an apparent scarcity of stocks, the East seems always able to supply any demand created by western orders.

There was nothing of interest today and the trading was exceptionally light and fluctuations narrow.

The New York curb was slightly improved at the close on Goldfield Consolidated and Florence.

In the Tonopah list Belmont dropped five points; Montana one, Bullfrog Homestake showed signs of strength and was bid up to 19, closing 18@20. Combination Fraction was up 2½ points, and Daisy gained a point compared with last night's close. There was no change of any consequence in the balance of the list. Following are the closing bid and asked prices with sales on the formal call:

SAN FRANCISCO LIST.

DULL AND QUIET IN THE NORTH.

MINING MARKET CLOSES WITH NO IMPROVEMENT.

Weak and Inactive All Day. Fluctuations Narrow, and Trading Unimportant—Little Interest in Leading Issues—Stocks Scarce but Easy Able to Supply Demand.

[Special service to The Times by B. F. Taylor, Citizens' National Bank Bldg. Member Los Angeles-Nevada Mining Exchange.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The market closed slightly weaker than the noon-day figures; it was weak and inactive all day, and while there is an apparent scarcity of stocks, the East seems always able to supply any demand created by western orders.

There was nothing of interest today and the trading was exceptionally light and fluctuations narrow.

The New York curb was slightly improved at the close on Goldfield Consolidated and Florence.

In the Tonopah list Belmont dropped five points; Montana one, Bullfrog Homestake showed signs of strength and was bid up to 19, closing 18@20. Combination Fraction was up 2½ points, and Daisy gained a point compared with last night's close. There was no change of any consequence in the balance of the list. Following are the closing bid and asked prices with sales on the formal call:

GENERAL EASTERN.

PRICES DROP IN WHEAT PIT.

SLUMP CAUSED BY WEAKNESS IN LIVERPOOL.

Moderate Demand by Elevator Interest Produces Slight Rally. Alarming Reports from Argentina Cause Active Covering by Shorts and Steady Market Before Close.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The wheat market opened easy, with prices ¼@¾ to ¾@⅞ lower, due to unexpected weakness at Liverpool. Moderate demand by a few leading elevator interest caused a slight rally during the first part of the day, but no decided strength developed until within the last hour, when sentiment became bullish as a result of the alarming reports from Argentina regarding the conditions of the new crop of wheat. These reports brought out active covering by shorts which caused the market to close at almost the top point of the day, with December at 1.06@1.06⅝, and May, 1.02. The most important of these dispatches was one received from a supposedly reliable source which placed the injury to the Argentine crop by recent frosts at 30 per cent. of the entire crop.

The market was also considerably strengthened by the cash situation in the Northwest. Premiums on cash wheat at Minneapolis made further advances today. No. 1 northern selling at 3¼ cents over the December delivery. The Southwest also reported a brisk demand for the cash grain. Export demand was dull.

Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreet's, were equal to 5,464,000 bushels. The corn market closed at almost the best prices of the day.

An advance of ⅛ to 1 cent in the price of new corn at the sample tables had some influence. December closed a shade higher than yesterday, at 63⅝@63⅞.

Oats displayed considerable activity and strength late in the session and closed at gains of ⅛ to ⅜, with December at 49⅜ and May at 50¾.

Provisions were weak early in the session, but strengthened later in the day. At the close, prices were 2½ cents lower to 22½ higher.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was steady; No. 2 spring wheat, 1.06@1.04; No. 3, 92@1.04; No. 2 red, 99¾@1.00¾; No. 2 corn, 69½; No. 2 yellow, 70@75¾; No. 2 oats, 47¾; No. 3 white, 50¾; No. 3 white, 46½@49½; No. 2 rye, 74@75; good feeding barley, 53½@55; fair to choice malting, 56@60; No. 1 northwestern flaxseed, 1.28¾; prime timothy seed, 3.25; short ribs, sides (loose,) 8.20@8.12½; mess pork, per bbl., 14.35@14.37½; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.30; short clear sides (boxed,) 9.25@9.50; whisky, basis of high wines, 1.37.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Bankers and Brokers, Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Cotton opened steady, 1 to 4 in advance. Trading was extremely dull, and mostly local. The strike settlement was not confirmed, but is expected, by next Monday. The into-sight figures for the week are large, being 69,397 bales, against 62,153 bales, same time last year, which is against any great bull movement, and everything points to a traders' market for some time yet.

Only feature in cotton was weakness in October. Other months were quiet and steady.

When cotton passes above 8.80 for May today, I am willing that those who have been with cotton on my advice should take their profits if they feel anxious over election results. I feel confident that cotton is a cent too low, and regardless of election results will finally reach that level. I don't care to guess at politics and the market too. Cotton is near within 5 points of the highest figures of the month, and is cheap at that.

C. B. & Co. say: "Our advices are to the effect that manufacturers have already despaired of the expectation of buying cotton at cheaper prices than have already existed. The most decided bullish influence will be activity of the German spinners, who have been waiting for a reaction to come into this market."

M. S. & Co. say: "The immediate future of the market does not promise strength, but in a sailing market like this, the market is a stronger technical position."

The New York Commercial says: "Liverpool was due to come 1½ down this morning on January and February. The public cannot expect to show much interest in the market until after next Tuesday. There is a feeling that the election will not affect the market no matter which way it goes, but the same time it is hardly to be expected that the two or three days before the election should be very sensational."

Logan & Bryan say: "Cotton was moderately active and quite steady today, the feature of the news was a cable received from Liverpool stating that the Lancashire strike was practically settled."

"I say, my dear Casilda, that you related your little tragedy very nicely," said Doña Luisa.

"Yes, Casilda mio," added Paul. "I believe you would have a career in a —menegerie."

"Oh, you laugh, of course! Well, it was true. Tell me, what man would do as much for a friend?"

"There you are right," said Paul. "I know no man for whom I would hang myself; but I will not deny that, under desperate provocation, I might do so for one of your enchanting sex."

"I do not wish to cast any doubt upon your admirable story, Señorita," said el Condé de Valdollana; "but it is my opinion that the devoted monkey —unemployed—was fooling with the rope, and had an accident!"

Castilda gave a little stamp, and made a gesture of mock fury.

"Come, come!" exclaimed la Condesa, "do not let us quarrel. What do you say to some music, my friends?"

"And you will sing, Condesa?" urged Doña Luisa. "Oh, what a pleasure, dear friend; do let me again hear 'La Cubanita!'"

La Condesa, once a famous singer, and even now a delightful artist, took up a guitar without further hesitation, struck a few chords, and sang in her rich, soft contralto the well-known song.

When the murmur of applause had died away she said:

"Now, Castilda, child, let us hear you."

Castilda received her beribboned guitar, and after a few preliminary bars, her sweet young soprano broke into a melodious seguidilla of exquisite plaintiveness, the chorus of which was taken up by la Condesa and all the men. The effect of their voices in the soft, still night in that enchanted garden, seemed to Hester like the earthly echo of some heavenly strains.

"Now, Paul, your turn," said Castilda. "There is your own guitar," and she handed it to him with empressement.

Paul, with a careless shrug of his shoulders, seated himself on the balustrade—where his figure was thrown into picturesque distinctiveness by the moon—and in a delicious tenor gave a melting Brazilian love song.

Hester, listening eagerly, her pulse beating time to the romantic air, felt the extraordinary magnetism of the singer's voice, and the spell of his dark face. When the last note had faded away, dissolved, as it were, among the flowers and moonbeams, she said, almost under her breath:

"Oh, I'm sorry I could not follow all the words."

"Then, Mademoiselle, it is only fair that you should hear one little English ballad," said Paul; "one that can be understood by you. I will attempt a serenade by Stacey," and, tuning his guitar to another key, and with a glance of flashing significance, he nodded to her, and began:

"The wind is falling on the lonely sea,
And daylight dies in magic clouds of gold;
The birds no longer sing upon the tree,
And sumner flowers their many petals fold.

"But in a garden 'mid the sleeping roses
Still I must wander in the evening light,
And 'neath the window where my love reposes
Sing to her gently with the winds of night.

"Sleep, love sleep, no danger shall betide thee,
Long though the night, and thronged with doubt and fear;
Sleep on, sleep, for I will stay beside thee,
Singing 'I Love Thee' till morn is near.

"The wind is falling o'er the lonely sea,
The waves are hushed that beat upon the shore;
A thousand stars look down all silently,
Like heavenly guards that watch till night is o'er.

"Sleep, love, sleep, no danger shall betide thee,
Long though the night, and thronged with doubt and fear;
Sleep on, sleep, for I will stay beside thee,
Singing 'I Love Thee' till morn is near."

In the air was a lilt which stirred the blood, and it would be difficult to describe the exquisite expression of the music and the voice, with its rich, haunting sweetness. Here, indeed, was the typical lover of romance, endowed with a golden tongue!

When the song ceased, and the singer had thrown aside his guitar, there was a silence, a murmur, and a faint clapping. Swift thoughts came to the audience. Had el Marques sung this serenade especially for the English Señorita, or was it just his ordinary nonsense? At any rate, it was the swan-song of the entertainment. Doña Luisa and Mrs. Tudor seemed suddenly to awake from their respective reveries, and began to chatter briskly of chills, rheumatics, old age, and to declare that, although they had never spent so delightful or romantic an evening, they must bring their pleasure to a close, and depart forthwith.

Every one now stood up, and began to talk at once. A gradual move was made towards the villa; chairs and guitars were abandoned, and the company trooped up the steps.

For some reason, which she could not explain to herself, Hester did not wish to talk to Paul; she hung back, and walked beside Castilda.

"What a voice you have!" she said. "What pleasure you can give! How I envy—and thank you."

"Ah," rejoined the Spanish girl, "it is so good of you to praise me, and you are three times nice, as we say here; but you should hear Dolores!"

"I don't think I want to hear her—or see her," rejoined Hester; "from your description, I am not impressed, and to me your voice is so young and fresh and, if I may say it to you, so good."

"Yes, I know what you mean. I am no siren. I hope"—pausing on the plateau on which the villa stood—"that you will not forget me, Miss Forde, and that we may meet again," and she held out a rose with a smile.

"I shall never forget you, Castilda," she answered, accepting it and placing it in her bodice; "and I shall always remember this evening."

Ices, sherberts, and refreshments were awaiting the guests in the dining-room; but el Marques was nowhere to be seen. However, as the visitors had made their adieu and were getting into their carriage, he reappeared, mounted on his black horse.

"I am to be your escort, ladies," he announced, "if you will accept me, and will ride with you to the entrance of the town."

"But it is not at all necessary," declared Doña Luisa. "We have two men servants. How like you!—you enjoy a gallop at night, I know."

"Dear Señora, you are not gracious. Do you realize that you will not see me again for months? I am leaving tomorrow for the Villa Andalusia;" and he rode beside the carriage, talking and laughing, till they reached the Women Church Workers to Be Brought Together.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will hold a meeting at the Federation Club rooms on next Thursday, to discuss arrangements for the week of prayer, commencing Monday, November 30. A call has been sent to the brotherhoods of every church in the city to send representatives to the meeting. The movement was started in Chicago last January, and has since become world-wide among the brotherhood. A short noonday service will be held each day during the week in the Los Angeles Theater, which has been placed at the disposal of the committee by Francis Haggerty, the manager. The address will be delivered by Rev. Harvey Officer, a minister of the Episcopal church from Watertown, N. Y., who is widely known for his effective work among men.

A mission will also begin in the diocese of Los Angeles tomorrow by permission of the bishop, conducted by Mr. Officer, who is a member of the Order of the Holy Cross. This community had its origin in New York City in the year 1849, the first member being the Rev. James O. S. Huntington, who was professed by the late Bishop Potter, who took a deep interest in the successful work of the order. From that time the Order of the Holy Cross has continued to grow in numbers, and has been of great service to the Episcopal church, particularly in preaching missions and conducting retreats. It now has a large monastery on seventy acres of land at West Park on the Hudson River. The mission in Los Angeles will be held in the Church of the Ascension, Broadway avenue and St. Louis street, and will continue through the week. Later on Rev. Mr. Officer will be at St. Matthias' Church, and will also conduct missions in Ontario and San Francisco.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Y.M.C.A. INVITES PUBLIC.

Vice-President A. B. Cass of the Young Men's Christian Association, and president of the Home Telephone Company, is making arrangements for a special wire, by which returns of the Presidential election will be received at the association building on Hope street, on Tuesday night. The large lobby will accommodate 1000 people, and complete returns will be thrown on a screen by a stereoptikon. Many members will be gathered there, and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public, where they may enjoy the late returns in the comforts of the building. This feature has been adopted in many large cities, and the Los Angeles association is to be in line with any other.

Tonight the regular "stag social" will be held, to which all men are invited. Gymnastic and athletic events, a piano solo by Prof. Ridderhoff, a concertina solo by Carl Unger, and an old-fashioned "sing" will make up the informal programme. On Monday night there will be a joint meeting of the newly-organized orchestra and the glee club. Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 W. S. Jacoby, associate with Dr. Torrey, will tell the story of his life, which is said to be one full of interest. The great saxophonist, Lefebre, will play the "Pilgrim Chorus," and F. E. Nay and the Y.M.C.A. Quartette will sing.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

GREAT GROWTH IN MEMBERSHIP.

At the annual business meeting of the First Congregational Church, on Wednesday evening, the present membership of the church was shown to be 1327. The institutional work of the church is being rapidly extended and the year closed without a deficit. The following officers were elected: Deacons, W. S. Averill, E. K. Glendenon, H. Rowell, W. H. Griffin, J. C. Hamm, F. N. Pauly, C. E. Richards, E. Shrader, H. E. Storrs, Curtis D. Wilbur. Trustees, E. P. Clark, R. H. Cook, George H. Clark, T. H. McConnell, J. D. Nash, J. C. F. Alsatt, B. F. "AT HOME" AT Y.W.C.A.

WOMEN CHURCH WORKERS.

The Young Women's Christian Association has issued about 600 invitations for an "at home" to ministers' wives and daughters and members of women's church societies, to be given on Friday, November 6, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Miss Tatham, the general secretary, says that if any have been overlooked it is because the names could not be had, and all such are asked to attend. The object sought is to bring together the church women of all denominations for a closer acquaintance, as the men have done in the Church Federation. The religious work committee of the association is representative of many denominations and is a most appropriate body of women to take the initiative in such a movement. The committee will be assisted in receiving by the members of the board of managers. There will be music and some short talks, but the large part of the afternoon will be devoted to social intercourse, in an effort to bring all women workers closer together.

"TAKING CHANCES."

AT TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.

A popular musical programme will be given at the Sunday evening service of Temple Baptist Church, in the Auditorium. J. J. Falls will give an imitation of cathedral chimes and show some of the possible combinations on a great organ of 6000 pipes, and the choir has been specially trained for the occasion. Dr. Burdette will talk on "Taking Chances."

On Monday evening the young people will give a box social in Berean Hall, a novelty of which will be an auction of lunch boxes, prepared by the young ladies to be sold to the young men. The contents will be for the benefit of the fellow who eats them, and the cash proceeds for the benefit of the work in the Imperial Valley.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

HENRY STIRS UP FRESNO.

Dr. J. Q. A. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has returned from a two weeks' temperance and evangelistic campaign in Fresno, and will occupy his pulpit today. He reports great meetings and striking results in Fresno, where he spoke three and four times a day.

Rev. Dr. E. Neelander delivered a lecture in the First English Lutheran Church last night, on the Holy Land, telling of his personal experiences in Palestine.

Dr. D. F. Howe will speak at the vesper service at the Young Women's Christian Association this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Edmund Shank, Mrs. L. J. Selby and Miss Alice Crawford will sing.

The ladies of the First Congregational Church will enjoy an afternoon of Spanish music at the home of Mrs. Seeley W. Mudd, No. 972 Arapahoe street, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Don A. Judd will give a talk on Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Sessions will sing.

A coffee social will be held at Union Rescue Mission, No. 145 North Main street, at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, when all who wish will be served with hot coffee and sandwiches. At 7:30 o'clock, Evangelist W. Markland will speak.

Rev. Dr. George Soltau of London will speak in the First United Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. His address will bear upon the coming Torrey meetings.

An elaborate programme of music has been prepared for the praise service at the Westlake Methodist Church this evening. It will be rendered by Miss Willy Symyser, Miss Kie Julia Christin, LeRoy Jepson and Fred B. McComas, who compose the choir of the church. Mrs. Ada Marsh Chick will preside at the organ.

W. S. Jacoby, forerunner of Dr. Torrey, will address the ministers' meeting in Berean Hall, Temple Auditorium, on Monday morning at 10:15 o'clock. The public is invited to hear him. He will also address meetings of personal workers every night next week at the Y.M.C.A.

PITIFUL.

PURSUE QUAIL, FIND SKELETON.

MYSTERY OF FRITZ AMMANN IS UNEXPECTEDLY SOLVED.

Bleached Body of Young Musician Who Disappeared Last July Discovered by Hunters in Hollywood Hills—Brooded Because He Did not Find Employment Promptly.

The pursuit of a wounded quail in the hills between Weid and Clausen cañons, north of Hollywood, yesterday cleared the mystery of Fritz Ammann's disappearance. The hunters in pursuit of the fowl, Emil La Baig and Charles Howe, found the bleached skull of a man in the undergrowth hidden by a clump of laurel. Further investigation disclosed the skeleton and clothing, and papers in the pockets of the latter identified the remains as those of Ammann. Near by a revolver with one cartridge exploded told the rest of the tragic story.

Fritz Ammann disappeared July 2, last. He left his room at No. 338 South Olive street, saying he was going to Long Beach to seek an engagement in an orchestra.

"Don't worry if I don't get back early," he said.

Until his bones were found yesterday all trace of him had been lost.

When his disappearance created alarm, Julius Bierlich, a violinist, organized a search for him. As Ammann formerly lived at Hollywood, many searches were made of the hills and cañons, but without result. Every effort was made by Bierlich to find a trace of him. Finally the failure to disclose his dead body created the hope that he had simply wandered away during mental distress and would be found some time.

Ammann was 24 years of age, and returned to merica from Leipsic, where he had studied violin for two years, last June. He came direct to Los Angeles, where he expected to find immediate employment. Not finding it, he became morose, and his friends feared a tragic end.

The Ammann family lived in Hollywood for several years in a picturesque house on a hill at the head of Vine street. The father, David Ammann, was a follower of the sect of sun-worshipers of, which Dr. Hanish of Chicago was the high priest, and in the rites of that sect, which were practiced at the Ammann house, a woman was burned to death. Soon after the family moved to Leipsic.

Differences with his father over religious matters led Fritz Ammann to return to this country. The only member of his family in this country is Walter Ammann, a musician, living in Detroit. He and his father in Leipsic were notified of the finding of the body. It was taken to Gates & Crane's undertaking establishment, where Coroner Mastwell will hold an ditional colonists can be expected by Wednesday next.

NEW PIONEERS.

This brings the total number who are expected to arrive over the Santa Fé in the next six days up to 5420.

Estimates received at the general offices of the Salt Lake route in the Huntington building indicate that the number of colonists expected over their line in the same time will be 4850. To this must be added 2350 who will leave for California via the Salt Lake road from points on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lines tonight.

SALT LAKE IS BUSY.

"We are getting our share of the traffic," said T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the road yesterday. "Fourteen carloads of colonists will arrive tomorrow and fourteen more will leave Salt Lake City tonight. My agent there advises me that twenty cars will leave Sunday and from twelve to sixteen on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"In addition to this we carry as many in our chair cars as we do by sleeper. Also we average sixty colonists per day on the Los Angeles Limited."

Late yesterday afternoon the local office of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lines received advice from their Chicago offices that seventy-five tourist cars would be sent west by them tonight to carry the colonists that had purchased tickets on the last day of the sale.

These cars, as well as those from the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande are routed to Los Angeles over the Salt Lake route. If the last day's sale on the other lines is as great as that already arranged for by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the road that carries the traffic at this end will be taxed to its utmost to get all of the colonists into California by Thursday.

Last year the C. B. & Q. sent 120 tourist cars of colonists west on the last day of the sale, but they say that their sales for the last two weeks of this year were greater than those of last year.

The Southern Pacific expects that 7250 colonists will arrive in California over its three lines within the next six days. Of these 500 are expected via El Paso, 4500 via Ogden and 750 via Portland. There are other colonists who are bound west via Portland whose destinations are in Oregon and Washington and these are not counted in the California list.

According to the figures given out by its traffic department, the Southern Pacific has already brought 20,000 people into California on colonist tickets between September 1 and the 29th inst. Of this number 5500 came by El Paso, 12,500 by Ogden and 1500 by Portland. It is estimated that nearly half of these came into Southern California.

Of the colonists due in California during the next six days, nearly all of those routed by the Salt Lake and Santa Fé will land in Los Angeles first and then spread out to their final destinations. The Santa Fé has one carload of colonists for Central Cal-

TAFT OR BRYAN?

You will have to decide it for yourself next Tuesday. The popular verdict on the question of the best breakfast cereal made in this country was long ago decided in favor of

SHREDDED WHEAT

The next President will be in favor of Shredded Wheat because both Taft and Bryan are pledged to the enforcement of the National Pure Food Law. Shredded Wheat is the purest, cleanest, most nutritious cereal made. It contains more actual body-building material than meat or eggs or starchy vegetables, is much more easily digested and costs much less.

Heat in Oven Before Serving.

Here's "a hot dish for a cold day" that is nourishing and satisfying. Heat two Biscuit in oven to restore crispness; pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream and a dash of salt. Try this dish for ten mornings and you will never eat any other cereal food. Your grocer sells it.

Special Wire for Election Returns at Y.M.C.A.

Women Church Workers to Be Brought Together.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will hold a meeting at the Federation Club rooms on next Thursday, to discuss arrangements for the week of prayer, commencing Monday, November 30. A call has been sent to the brotherhoods of every church in the city to send representatives to the meeting. The movement was started in Chicago last January, and has since become world-wide among the brotherhood. A short noonday service will be held each day during the week in the Los Angeles Theater, which has been placed at the disposal of the committee by Francis Haggerty, the manager. The address will be delivered by Rev. Harvey Officer, a minister of the Episcopal church from Watertown, N. Y., who is widely known for his effective work among men.

Rev. Harvey Officer, who will conduct an Episcopal mission in this city.

A mission will also begin in the diocese of Los Angeles tomorrow by permission of the bishop, conducted by Mr. Officer, who is a member of the Order of the Holy Cross. This community had its origin in New York City in the year 1850, the first member being the Rev. James O. S. Huntington, who was professed by the late Bishop Potter, who took a deep interest in the successful work of the order. From that time the Order of the Holy Cross has continued to grow in numbers, and has been of great service to the Episcopal church, particularly in preaching missions and conducting retreats. It now has a large monastery on seventy acres of land at West Park on the Hudson river. The mission in Los Angeles will be held in the Church of the Ascension, Broadway avenue and St. Louis street, and will continue through the week. Later on Rev. Mr. Officer will be at St. Matthias' Church, and will also conduct missions in Ontario and San Francisco.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Y.M.C.A. INVITES PUBLIC.

Vice-President A. B. Cass of the Young Men's Christian Association, and president of the Home Telephone Company, is making arrangements for a special wire, by which returns of the Presidential election will be received at the association building on Hope street, on Tuesday night. The large lobby will accommodate 1000 people, and complete returns will be thrown on a screen by a stereopticon. Many members will be gathered there, and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public, where they may enjoy the late returns in the comforts of the building. This feature has been adopted in many large cities, and the Los Angeles association is to be in line with any other.

Tonight the regular "stag social" will be held, to which all men are invited. Gymnastic and athletic events, a piano solo by Prof. Ridderhoff, a concertina solo by Carl Unger, and an old-fashioned "sing" will make up the informal programme. On Monday night there will be a joint meeting of the newly-organized orchestra and the glee club. Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 W. S. Jacoby, associate with Dr. Torrey, will tell the story of his life, which is said to be one full of interest. The great symphonies, Lefevre, will play the "Pilgrim Chorus," and T. E. Nay and the Y.M.C.A. Quartette will sing.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

GREAT GROWTH IN MEMBERSHIP.

At the annual business meeting of the First Congregational Church, on Wednesday evening, the present membership of the church was shown to be 1327. The institutional work of the church is being rapidly extended and the year closed without a deficit. The following officers were elected: Deacons, W. S. Averill, E. K. Clendenon, H. Braswell, W. H. Griffin, J. C. Hamilton, F. N. Pauly, C. E. Richards, E. J. Strader, H. E. Storrs, Curtis D. Wilson. Trustees, E. P. Clark, B. H. Clark, George H. Clark, T. H. McConnell, J. D. Nash, J. C. F. "AT HOME" AT Y.W.C.A.

WOMEN CHURCH WORKERS.

The Young Women's Christian Association has issued about 600 invitations for an "at home" to ministers' wives and daughters and members of women's church societies, to be given on Friday, November 6, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Miss Tatham, the general secretary, says that if any have been overlooked it is because the names could not be had, and all such are asked to attend. The object sought is to bring together the church women of all denominations for a closer acquaintance, as the men have done in the Church Federation. The religious work committee of the association is representative of many denominations and is a most appropriate body of women to take the initiative in such a movement. The committee will be assisted in receiving by the members of the board of managers. There will be music and some short talks, but the large part of the afternoon will be devoted to social intercourse, in an effort to bring all women workers closer together.

"TAKING CHANCES."

AT TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.

A popular musical programme will be given at the Sunday evening service of Temple Baptist Church, in the Auditorium. J. J. Falls will give an imitation of cathedral chimes and show some of the possible combinations on a great organ of 6000 pipes, and the choir has been specially trained for the occasion. Dr. Burdette will talk on "Taking Chances."

On Monday evening the young people will give a tox social in Berean Hall, a novelty of which will be an auction of lunch boxes, prepared by the young ladies to be sold to the young men. The contents will be for the benefit of the fellow who eats them, and the cash proceeds for the benefit of the work in the Imperial Valley.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

HENRY STIRS UP FRESNO.

Dr. J. Q. A. Henry, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has returned from a two weeks' temperance and evangelistic campaign in Fresno, and will occupy his pulpit today. He reports great meetings and striking results in Fresno, where he spoke three and four times a day.

Rev. Dr. E. Neelander delivered a lecture in the First English Lutheran Church last night, on the Holy Land, telling of his personal experiences in Palestine.

Dr. D. F. Howe will speak at the vesper service at the Young Women's Christian Association this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Edmund Shank, Mrs. L. J. Selby and Miss Alice Crawford will sing.

The ladies of the First Congregational Church will enjoy an afternoon of Spanish music at the home of Mrs. Seeley W. Mudd, No. 972 Arapahoe street, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Don A. Judd will give a talk on Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Sessions will sing.

A coffee social will be held at Union Rescue Mission, No. 145 North Main street, at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, when all who wish will be served with hot coffee and sandwiches. At 7:30 o'clock, Evangelist W. Markland will speak.

Rev. Dr. George Soltau of London will speak in the First United Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. His address will bear upon the coming Torrey meetings.

An elaborate programme of music has been prepared for the praise service at the Westlake Methodist Church this evening. It will be rendered by Miss Willy Smyser, Miss Kie Julie Christin, LeRoy Jepson and Fred B. McComas, who compose the choir of the church. Mrs. Ada Marsh Chick will preside at the organ.

W. S. Jacoby, forerunner of Dr. Torrey, will address the ministers' meeting in Berean Hall, Temple Auditorium, on Monday morning at 10:15 o'clock. The public is invited to hear him. He will also address meetings of personal workers every night next week at the Y.M.C.A.

PITIFUL.

PURSUE QUAIL, FIND SKELETON.

MYSTERY OF FRITZ AMMANN IS UNEXPECTEDLY SOLVED.

Bleached Body of Young Musician Who Disappeared Last July Discovered by Hunters in Hollywood Hills—Brooded Because He Did not Find Employment Promptly.

The pursuit of a wounded quail in the hills between Weid and Clauson cañons, north of Hollywood, yesterday cleared the mystery of Fritz Ammann's disappearance. The hunters in pursuit of the fowl, Emil La Baig and Charles Howe, found the bleached skull of a man in the undergrowth hidden by a clump of laurel. Further investigation disclosed the skeleton and clothing, and papers in the pockets of the latter identified the remains as those of Ammann. Near by a revolver with one cartridge exploded told the rest of the tragic story.

Fritz Ammann disappeared July 2, last. He left his room at No. 238 South Olive street, saying he was going to Long Beach to seek an engagement in an orchestra.

"Don't worry if I don't get back early," he said.

Until his bones were found yesterday all trace of him had been lost.

When his disappearance created alarm, Julius Bierlich, a violinist, organized a search for him. As Ammann formerly lived at Hollywood, many searches were made of the hills and cañons, but without result. Every effort was made by Bierlich to find a trace of him. Finally the failure to disclose his dead body created the hope that he had simply wandered away during mental distress and would be found some time.

Ammann was 34 years of age, and returned to merica from Leipsic, where he had studied violin for two years, last June. He came direct to Los Angeles, where he expected to find immediate employment. Not finding it, he became morose, and his friends feared a tragic end.

The Ammann family lived in Hollywood for several years in a picturesque house on a hill at the head of Vine street. The father, David Ammann, was a follower of the sect of sun-worshipers of which Dr. Hanish of Chicago was the high priest, and in the rites of that sect, which were practiced at the Ammann house, a woman was burned to death. Soon after the family moved to Leipsic.

Differences with his father over religious matters led Fritz Ammann to return to this country. The only member of his family in this country is Walter Ammann, a musician, living in Detroit. He and his father in Leipsic were notified of the finding of the body. It was taken to Gates & Crane's undertaking establishment, [illegible] Coroner Mastwell will hold an [illegible]

If the last day's sale on the other lines is as great as that already arranged for by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the road that carries the traffic at this end will be taxed to its utmost to get all of the colonists into California by Thursday.

Last year the C. B. & Q. sent 120 tourist cars of colonists west on the last day of the sale, but they say that their sales for the last two weeks of this year were greater than those of last year.

The Southern Pacific expects that 7250 colonists will arrive in California over its three lines within the next six days. Of these 200 are expected via El Paso, 4500 via Ogden and 750 via Portland. There are other colonists who are bound west via Portland whose destinations are in Oregon and Washington and these are not counted in the California list.

According to the figures given out by its traffic department, the Southern Pacific has already brought 20,000 people into California on colonist tickets between September 1 and the 28th inst. Of this number 5500 came by El Paso, 12,500 by Ogden and 1500 by Portland. It is estimated that nearly half of these came into Southern California.

Of the colonists due in California during the next six days, nearly all of those routed by the Salt Lake and Santa Fé will land in Los Angeles first and then spread out to their final destinations. The Santa Fé has one carload of colonists for Central California.

TAFT OR BRYAN?

You will have to decide it for yourself next Tuesday. The popular verdict on the question of the best breakfast cereal made in this country was long ago decided in favor of

SHREDDED WHEAT

The next President will be in favor of Shredded Wheat because both Taft and Bryan are pledged to the enforcement of the National Pure Food Law. Shredded Wheat is the purest, cleanest, most nutritious cereal made. It contains more actual body-building material than meat or eggs or starchy vegetables, is much more easily digested and costs much less.

Heat in Oven Before Serving.

Here's "a hot dish for a cold day" that is nourishing and satisfying. Heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness; pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream and a dash of salt. Try this dish for fall mornings and you will never eat any other cereal food. Your grocer sells it.
